PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund ‡ and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East for the general purposes of the said Society such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to (one-fourth or one-half, according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay"]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same &c.§

* If so intended.
† In case there be other charitable Legacies, insert here, "other than and except charitable Legacies."
‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."
§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of this Meeting be given to Bishop Carr for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee, for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies—[See List, p. iv.]

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE LORD BISHOP OF SIERRA LEONE, V.P., seconded by the HON. AND REV. SAMUEL WALDEGRAVE, M.A., Rector of Barford St. Martin, Salisbury; supported by the REV. C. G. BARTH, D.D., of Würtemberg, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting thankfully acknowledges its obligations to Her Majesty's Government, and the zealous efforts of the West-African squadron, for the almost complete suppression of the slave-trade; and avows the increased responsibilities of the Church of Christ to labour for the further extension of the blessings of civilization, through the knowledge of the gospel of the grace of God, on that hitherto desolate coast.

On the Motion of the REV. NICHOLAS JAMES MOODY, B.A., Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, Madras; seconded by the REV. JOSEPH FINCH FENN, M.A., Vicar of Stotfold, Bedfordshire, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the extraordinary encouragement in India, and especially in the Punjab, and the free course given to God's word throughout the Turkish empire, and by the leaders of the movement in China, present a powerful call upon the clergy and members of our Universities, to devote at this critical moment their acquirements and Christian zeal to the evangelization of such promising fields of labour.

On the Motion of the REV. GEORGE FISK, LL.B., Prebendary of Lichfield, and Incumbent of Christ's Chapel, St. John's Wood; seconded by the REV. HUGH STOWELL, M.A., Hon. Canon of Chester, and Minister of Christ Church, Salford, Manchester, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That when it is remembered that this Society was first established in the troublous times of war and of political revolutions, and that of late years the good providence of God has made the scourge of war, in China, in Sinde, and in the Punjab, subservient to the extension of Missionary efforts, this Meeting desires to mingle with the solemn feelings of humiliation and awe which the present circumstances of Europe suggest, an humble hope and fervent prayer that the present troubles may be over-ruled for the quickening of the zeal of the church of Christ, and for the extension of the gospel of peace in its power and its purity throughout the whole world.

At a Meeting of the Society, held at Exeter Hall, in the Evening of the same Day—

The Most Noble the MARQUESS CHOLMONDELEY, one of the Vice-Presidents, in the Chair,

On the Motion of the REV. JOSEPH RIDGEWAY, M.A., seconded by MAJOR R. MARSH HUGHES, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That on comparing the recognised status and importance which the Society's Missions in South India, West Africa, New Zealand, and Rupert's Land, have been permitted to attain at the present time, with the infantile condition of the Society's Missionary work at the commencement of that prolonged peace which has now unhappily terminated, this Meeting desires to recognise the goodness of the Lord, and the honour put by Him on the teaching and preaching of "Jesus Christ, and Him crucified."

On the Motion of the REV. F. FOSTER GOUGH, B.A., Missionary from China, seconded by the REV. C. FREDERICK CHILDE, M.A., Principal of the Institution, supported by the REV. A. OSTERTAG, from Bâle, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That, in the enlarged opportunities for usefulness which, within a comparatively recent period, have been thrown open to Missionary effort, more especially in China, the Punjab, Sinde, and the Christian subjects of the Porte, this Meeting discerns a providential call to increased devotedness and more unwearied diligence in the Lord's work, that such opportunities may be faithfully improved to the glory of God and the salvation of immortal souls.

On the Motion of the REV. CHARLES W. ISENBERG, Missionary from Bombay, and the REV. JAMES G. FAITHFULL, M.A., Vicar of North Mimms, Hertfordshire, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting, remembering the vast portions of the earth which yet remain closed to Missionary operations, desires to express a prayerful hope that God, in His infinite mercy, may continue to remove all hindrances until His gospel be preached fully and freely to all who are in destitution of its "saving health."

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each Candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report, illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries—these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidates: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly. . . . . This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a licence or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras, to extend, as far as circumstances would admit, these benefits to the Mission in Travancore; which, as an independent state, not forming a part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

* The Three Bishops of India, and the Bishop of Australia, are the Presidents of the Corresponding Committees in their respective dioceses.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church.* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that, in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour. This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbados—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minute.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

A

PREACHED AT ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH,

FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1854,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

BY

LATE LORD BISHOP OF BOMBAY.

A

SERMON,

JOHN IV. 34—36.

JESUS SAITH UNTO THEM, MY MEAT IS TO DO THE WILL OF HIM THAT SENT ME, AND TO FINISH HIS WORK. SAY NOT YE, THERE ARE YET FOUR MONTHS, AND THEN COMETH HARVEST? BEHOLD, I SAY UNTO YOU, LIFT UP YOUR EYES, AND LOOK ON THE FIELDS; FOR THEY ARE WHITE ALREADY TO HARVEST. AND HE THAT REAPETH RECEIVETH WAGES, AND GATHERETH FRUIT UNTO LIFE ETERNAL: THAT BOTH HE THAT SOWETH AND HE THAT REAPETH MAY REJOICE TOGETHER.

THE method in which God's mercy should be shown to our fallen world, was discovered in the most gradual manner. The purpose of mercy to the world was made known at the Fall, in that short but pregnant promise, "The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head." It was more distinctly revealed to Abraham by the promise, "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." It was foretold by the Psalmist, that "from the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same the Lord's name is to be praised" (Psalm cxiii. 3); and by Isaiah (chap. xlix. 6), "I will give Thee for a light to the Gentiles, that Thou mayest be my salvation unto the end of the earth." Our blessed Lord limited His own ministry to the Jews, but said, "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice." (John x. 16.) In support of the commission to His disciples, "to preach the Gospel to every creature," He said, "that many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. viii. 11.) The Lord's purposes of love to the whole world were thus fully declared.

In sending Missionaries to preach the Gospel to different nations, we are encouraged by a knowledge of these purposes. Men of the world, regarding Missionary labours as a speculation, leave God's promises out of mind; and true Christians sometimes—from seeing worldly anxiety, unbelief, superstition, and idolatry, so extensively prevalent; seeing, as at the present time, wars breaking out, which seem likely to absorb the minds of the civilized and uncivilized world, to overthrow kingdoms, and to spread confusion throughout the world—sometimes almost despair of the spread of the Gospel of holiness and peace. Still, the promises remain on record, and in times of anxiety it is profitable to look into the word of God for instruction. The passage read as my text sets forth—

I. The earnest interest of our blessed Lord in accomplishing the salvation of the world. He was sent "to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke xix. 10); to be "a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of God's people Israel." (Luke ii. 32.) Of this mission He said, "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, and to finish His work."

II. The appearances favourable to the accomplishment of His purpose. . . . He said to His disciples, "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest."

III. The promise of a harvest. "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together."

May it please God the Holy Spirit to bestow upon us a spirit of dependence upon Him, more lively concern for the heathen, and more lively faith in the promises contained in the Scriptures!

I. The text sets forth—The earnest interest of our blessed Lord in accomplishing the salvation of the world. Job, expressing his desire to conform to the word of God, says, "I have esteemed the words of His mouth more than my necessary food." (Job xxiii. 12.) The Psalmist says, "How sweet are Thy words unto my taste! yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth." (Psalm cxix. 103.) Our blessed Lord, speaking not of conformity of life, nor of enjoying comfort, but of labour, humiliation, and death, to which He had been "sent," says, "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, and to finish His work." The Father sent the Son to be the Redeemer of the world, to give His life a ransom for sinners; and He was urged on to fulfil the commission by His own love to the Father, and by His love to the world, to "bear our sins in His own body on the tree" (1 Peter ii. 24), to lay down His life for us, by a necessity as urgent as that of taking meat for His body.

"Herein is love!" Salvation is wholly of the Lord. He saw the world of men fallen under sin and condemnation, depraved and prone to evil, laden with the guilt of sin, exposed to condemnation, the objects of His just wrath, and withal utterly helpless—"no man could redeem his brother:" He saw there was no man, therefore, of His own free love and pity, "He laid help upon One that is mighty." God gave up His only-begotten Son to take our nature, and in it to satisfy His law: upon Him, perfectly righteous and holy, God laid the iniquity of us all, that He should take the burden of iniquity upon Himself, bear the guilt of all, and, appearing with all this guilt, be forsaken, as the guilty One, and die under this load of sin and guilt; that through His infinite merit He might make atonement, and offer satisfaction to the offended law and justice of God, for our sins. So deeply was our blessed Lord interested in this, that He said, it is "my meat to do the will of God, and to finish His work." For this, God "sent the Son:" "God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Not only for His disciples and for Israel, the chosen race; but for the Samaritans, for the Gentiles of that day, and for Jews and for Gentiles of every nation and age to the end of time. It was promised, that His Spirit should be poured out upon all flesh, to convert men of different generations, convincing them of their sin and danger, and rousing them to seek pardon and reconciliation with God, from whom by nature they were alienated.

In the history before us, the disciples, seeing Jesus weary with the journey, thought only of providing bodily refreshment. His sense of weariness, however, was lost in concern for the work of mercy upon which He was sent. Hence He improved the opportunity to instruct the Samaritans; from this concern He humbled Himself to be obedient to the law, to go about doing good, giving instruction, explaining and fulfilling the word; and hence He suffered the agony in the garden, and hence He died upon the cross a sacrifice for us.

When the Lord Jesus said, "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me," and spoke of the "fields white for harvest," doubtless to His mind were present, not only the Samaritans of that generation, but those who three years afterwards believed on the preaching of Philip, also future generations of heathen of different kingdoms to the end of time; and that work would not be finished until He should have accomplished all that the Father sent Him to do.

The price of redemption was about to be paid, and was paid when He expired upon the cross. His rising from the dead gave assurance to His whole church, Jews and Gentiles, that the atonement and the ransom were accepted, that He had completed the work of Redemption. We believe that in His glory He is equally earnest in carrying on the work. Hence His Spirit has been poured out; at some seasons, as on the day of Pentecost and at the time of the Reformation, upon multitudes; in each heart of those who are saved the work of conversion, enlightenment, and sanctification, is effected; for His Spiritual Church is not a multitude, having a sort of common interest in His grace, but each member of the Spiritual Church is made "a new creature in Christ Jesus" by the work of the Spirit upon his heart—the Spirit being in each one as "a well of water springing up unto Eternal Life;" stirring up the members of His Church to extend the knowledge of Him: stirring up and moving men to go forth as heralds of His Gospel, qualifying them, supporting them in their labours, and making the word, spoken by their mouth, precious seed in the hearts of many who hear, preparing a harvest of souls. Thus, by the instrumentality of various churches and communities, He has been doing the work to which He was sent; and now, by our nation and other Protestant nations, He is gathering a harvest of souls out of the heathen wilderness into His Church. The Gospel is preached extensively, because the mission of His Church is not completed. It should ever be present to our minds that all the fresh springs of true Missionary work are in Him; He has awakened the interest, and we look up to Him for direction in devising plans and in undertaking them; we ask Him for labourers, trusting He will send them forth; we ask for pecuniary assistance, remembering the silver and the gold are His, and that it is the Lord who must dispose the members of His Church to give liberally. As the Father sent Him, so He sends out labourers, and their sufficiency is of Him. The work has been going on, a harvest has been gathered from different nations and by different reapers, because He is never weary and His love never fails; and to carry out the purposes of Divine love is, through His condescension and mercy, essential to Him. In Him is the source of the devotedness of labourers in the ministry; men are stirred up and qualified by Him, not seeking to extend a worldly influence or party, or their own influence, but to carry on the work which the Father in His love sent the Son to do; and our encouragement is, that, as He paid the price of Redemption, He will gather out His redeemed people—a harvest from all the nations of the world.

II. The text calls attention to some appearances in the world favourable to the accomplishment of our Lord's purpose. Jesus said to His disciples, "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest." The period of our blessed Lord's ministry was the sowing time; but, unlike what is the case in the natural world, when some time was required for the seed to die, vegetate, and ripen to maturity—according to a common saying, founded on experience, "there are yet four months, and then cometh harvest"—the heavenly seed, as in the case of the Samaritans, often produced fruit immediately. Our Lord therefore contrasts the natural and spiritual harvest: as if He had said, "Lift up your eyes" to the city opposite: I have to-day been teaching one woman, who has borne testimony of me to her neighbours, and see how many are coming out to me—for "many of the Samaritans of that city believed on Him for the saying of the woman, which testified, He told me all that ever I did. So when the Samaritans were come unto Him, they besought Him that He would tarry with them: and He abode there two days. And many more believed because of His own word; and said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying; for we have heard Him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world."

"The harvest" here is a "harvest" of souls gathered into the Church of Christ, eventually to be gathered into the everlasting kingdom of our blessed Lord. This harvest is gathered out of the multitude of unconverted souls, who have not lively faith in Jesus as their Saviour. The whole world presents a field to the Christian labourer; for all men, whether professed Christian, Jew, or Heathen, are by nature "dead in sins," under sin and guilt, alienated in heart and mind, under the curse. Christian nations know this, and know Him that can deliver from the curse; the Jews reject Him; the heathen world, though groaning under the bondage of sin, do not know their state, neither the way of salvation from it. They know not Him whom God hath sent, and the sacred Scriptures represent them as under the wrath of God. In behalf of these idolaters, whom God regards with indignant jealousy, our compassion should be awakened, for they are ignorant of the awful state into which they are sunk: "darkness covereth the earth, and gross darkness the people." (Isaiah lx. 2.)

After the death and resurrection of our blessed Lord, the heathen were no longer suffered to go on in their own ways, and Christians are not at liberty to leave them in sin and ignorance; for "God hath commanded all men everywhere to repent," and has commissioned His apostles and ministers, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature."

The command entrusted to the Church, that all men everywhere shall repent, and the promise of the Saviour, "a light to lighten the Gentiles," are on record, and are binding upon the Church. At particular seasons, as in the time of harvest in the natural world, there is a preparedness, by the providence and grace of God, in the nations of the earth for receiving the Gospel. The time of our Lord's visit to Sychar was the day of grace to the Samaritans: He would stay a short time and instruct them, and manifest Himself as their Saviour. Our Lord compared their state at that time to the state of "fields white for the harvest." The disciples might see the truth of this comparison by the Samaritans being accessible and ready to hear their Master; in the case of the woman, respecting the difference between the Jews and Samaritans, and hearing her sin pointed out; and by the people believing in Jesus upon the testimony of the woman, by their seeking further information, and by many believing in Him on hearing more of His word during the two days that Jesus remained with them. These were the first-fruits of the Samaritan harvest, and when Philip went down and preached, three years later, "many believed and were baptized." (Acts viii.) If our view be extended further, after the day of Pentecost we see all the known world accessible; Jews in Palestine, and abroad in different countries, Samaritans, Gentiles of different nations whom the extension of the Roman government had opened to the apostles. At the time, there was an universal expectation in civilized nations of an extraordinary person who should arise in Judea, and be the instrument of great spiritual benefits to mankind.

And what is now the state of the world? Are not the fields now thus "white for the harvest" to the eye which is enlightened by the word of God? When our blessed Lord was upon earth, to His divine mind were present the different continents and nations of the world, and their islands, to the remotest ends of the earth, with all who should live upon them to the end of time; although to the mind of the disciples the world was limited to the bounds of the Roman Empire, and a few nations bordering upon it: of the expanse beyond, now familiar to us, they knew nothing, either as to its extent or people. Now the case is far different: the globe has been measured, and we know nearly every island and people, so that the field is all before us, spread out and measured.

As we look at the present circumstances of Heathen nations, we may almost hear the Saviour's words, "Lift up your eyes—the fields are white already for the harvest." Tidings from different countries represent the people prepared to receive the Gospel: like the woman and people of Samaria, the different nations are willing to hear and to converse upon Scripture truth. Such is the case with natives of Africa, who have been carried into slavery in the West Indies, and in America. Such is the case with thousands who have been rescued upon the west coast of Africa, and upon the passage from thence, out of whom a harvest of thousands of souls has already been gathered: many converted Africans are spreading the Gospel, and others are ready to carry the Gospel to their own countrymen in distant provinces. As our Missionaries and Native Christians advance beyond the boundaries of the Colony, they find the people desiring instruction in those truths and principles which they see producing the fruits of benevolence and civilization. Here let us acknowledge the love and mysterious ways of the Lord, in carrying on the work for which He was sent. The cupidity and evil passions of men are overruled for gathering in the harvest of souls; and, shall we not add, in answer to prayers for labourers, in collecting them from different tribes in the interior of Africa, that they may return as labourers to gather from their own people a harvest of fruit unto life eternal! A similar desire for Christian instruction has been expressed to our Missionaries by chiefs on the east coast of Africa. In the south, although lately disturbed by insurrection and war, yet, when the Natives had heard the Gospel, unconnected with political considerations, they listened to its truths, and many have been gathered into the Church of Christ.

In the north-west of America, numbers of Indians have been gathered into the kingdom of Christ, and their Heathen brethren, hearing the truths of the Gospel from their converted countrymen, have in some instances come great distances to learn more of the Saviour, and, having been further instructed, have believed in Him.

Some of the islands of the Pacific, by God's blessing on the self-denying and unwearied labours of the Missionaries of the London Missionary Society, have become wholly Christian, and others, when visited by Missionaries, have shown readiness to be instructed in the truths of the Gospel.

In New Zealand, the Natives have (chiefly by means of the Missionaries of the Church Missionary Society) been gathered into the Church; Native Teachers, supported by funds raised amongst themselves, are preaching the Gospel; and one chief voluntarily, and at his own expense, has visited England, in order to obtain Missionaries to preach to his people.

How shall I convey an idea of the fields in India? At the beginning of this century India was a field uncultivated; the Christian seed had been cast into the soil only in the south, by the labours of Swartz and a few followers, and those fields were languishing. Since that time the word of God has been translated into nineteen of the languages principally spoken; between two and three millions of copies (few, I admit, amongst 300 millions of people) have been dispersed in the different provinces, from the Himalayas to the south of Ceylon; for nearly forty years Missionaries have been traversing different provinces of India, distributing the Scriptures and Christian tracts; and the living preachers have been pointing out the vanity and sin of idolatry, setting forth the Lord Jesus Christ as the one Saviour of all men, in the cities, towns, and villages. Schools for native children have been gradually increasing, until in 1852 there were returned 78,778 scholars in the different Protestant Mission Schools; in all of which the Scriptures are taught, the sin of idolatry is pointed out, and the Lord Jesus prominently set forth as the one Saviour of sinners. Such has been the seed time; and what is the state of the Indian field now? In each of the Presidencies the educated young men are infidels as to their own religion; for even the secular knowledge acquired undermines it, and they discuss amongst themselves the various principles and customs connected with it. There is a shaking of their time-honoured institutions. About a year ago a solemn assembly of Hindus was held in Calcutta with a view to make the return into caste more easy, by lessening the penalty of loss of caste, with distinct reference to the spread of Christianity amongst themselves. A learned Brahmin of Western India, writing in defence of Hinduism and against the acknowledged influence of Christianity amongst Hindus, compares his effort to administering a little support to a sick and dying man who must expire. The people amongst whom education has been spreading, read tracts and Christian Scriptures: in some places, new sects have arisen, introducing portions of Christian truth imperfectly understood. In many minds the native apathy has given way to inquiry and discussion, and to a comparison of their own principles with those set forth in Christian books. In casual conversation with the younger portion of the people, it is found, that they have a considerable knowledge of the facts, at least, of the Scripture history. Such is a representation of the state of multitudes of the people who remain in their old religions. An influence (shall I be wrong in calling it a preparatory work of the Holy Spirit?) brooding over the mass of the people, is awakening them from a sleep of superstition and sin, that they may welcome the Sun of Righteousness now arising upon them, and causing the incorruptible seed of the word to bring forth fruit to life eternal.

There is, however, no doubtful evidence of the first-fruits of the harvest being now gathered; for in our Mission Stations natives have given up wife, family, property, and have turned to the Lord. In South India, there are congregations of 50,000 attending Christian worship regularly upon the Sabbath, and the numbers received into the Church by baptism are gradually increasing. In the North of India, fresh life appears to have been infused into the Native community. And both in the South and in the North-India Missions we find efforts made by the Native Christians themselves to extend the knowledge of the Saviour: Native Christians, anxious to preserve amongst themselves the means of grace, contribute of their substance for the erection of churches, for the maintenance of a Christian ministry, for the support of their poor, and for the education of their children. For these purposes, 1000*l.* have been contributed in one district by Native Christians, a great part of whom have an income of only about one shilling per week. A Christian community is being formed under Native Pastors. Western India has also its first-fruits—small, for the labourers have been few, and the seed has been later sown.

In the Punjab, a spirit of inquiry has been awakened, which urgently calls for Missionaries to satisfy it. One, writing from the scene, says—"The whole of this province is effectually opened for the ministry of the Gospel: the encouragement is unusually great. Many from different places hear what we teach, and take away with them portions of the word of God and useful tracts. Fifty Hindus and Sikhs, having procured one of the Punjab tracts, are impressed with the conviction that their old creed is false." Again, there are scattered up and down through the country individuals who are less settled than the masses in the acceptance of false systems, and who are really desirous of knowing what is the true religion. Were the Missionaries increased so as to be generally accessible, we believe the number of inquirers would be greatly multiplied. Native ministers, men of the highest castes, as well as of others, are ordained, who are zealous for the conversion of their countrymen.

At the beginning of this century, it was maintained by officers and others coming from India, that, so strongly were the Natives attached to their religion, their conversion was not to be expected, that the hope of it was a delusion, and the attempt would be dangerous. Hinduism is now shaken before the Gospel: men from all castes have been, and are, converts to the Gospel; thousands of their children have passed through Mission Schools, and the numbers keep increasing. Every town and village is open to the Missionary; and now, officers are writing from different parts of India for Missionaries to be sent out, and very liberal contributions in India are raised and promised for their support.

In our Parliament, instead of warnings, as formerly, against Missionary efforts, we have heard one senator maintaining the duty of sending the Gospel to India; another, bearing witness to the blessed effects of the Gospel on the hearts of the Natives; and the Minister of the Crown for Indian affairs, while stating the duty of promoting true religion amongst the people, saying, If the result should be our expulsion from the country, it would be an honour to our nation to have introduced that enlightenment which enabled the people to govern the country in equity.

As in the natural world there is a state of the heavens and atmosphere favourable for gathering in the harvest, may we not, in the changed state of the political, moral, and intellectual atmosphere of both the Christian and heathen world, see indications of a season favourable for gathering in the spiritual harvest?

The movement in China, with some features showing very imperfect knowledge of the Gospel, yet exhibits effects of devotion, of cleansing from their old sins of idolatry and sensuality, with fruits of self-denial, which we believe to have sprung from the sanctifying word which they read and value. This movement has exhibited such an extensive preparedness for the reception of the Gospel as the world has never before witnessed: and, so far as the Christian world can see, it would appear almost to show how a nation can be "born" of "the incorruptible seed" "at once."

In the immense population acknowledging the false prophet Mahommed a struggle is now commencing, the moral and spiritual result of which every Christian must watch with anxiety, yet with hope. The assistance rendered to Turkey against glaring and unprovoked aggression and injustice, is calculated to conciliate the Mahommedan mind towards Christianity. Mahommedans have hitherto been familiar with a Christian community fearfully corrupt: they will now be brought into proximity and intercourse with Western Christians as defenders of their country, and prominently with Protestants, who are free from the errors and corruptions which have offended their prejudices; and at the same time, they see their neighbours, the Oriental Christians, on reading the Scriptures, of which they have been very ignorant, separating themselves from the corruptions and superstitions in which they have lived, and forming a purer Church. Some Mahommedans have already begun to examine the Scriptures.

When we lift up our eyes and look upon the Heathen and Mahommedan world, containing about 600 millions of people—described in sacred Scripture as "Gentiles which know not God;" "alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart" (Eph. iv. 18)—we see them in different nations willing to hear that they are in ignorance, and to hear of Him who alone can remove that ignorance; sitting in darkness, yet ready to receive the light; to hear of the Saviour who alone can "deliver them from the wrath to come;" that hundreds in different places hear weekly of the Redeemer, and have an interest in His redemption offered to them; that they send many thousands of their children to Christian schools, in which they read and learn that word which is able to save their souls; that they discuss, and hear pointed out, errors in their religion; that some, who have heard of the Saviour, come from a distance to the Christian teacher to inquire for themselves; that they see in Christians, and in some of their own people converted to the faith in Christ, the holy, civilizing fruits of the Gospel; that these things are to be seen, not in one people, but in the Heathen people of Asia, Africa, America, and the Islands of the Sea; and that in all these parts some harvest of the seed sown is gathered—when these things are considered, are we not justified in applying the text to the present state of the world, that "the fields are white for the harvest?"

Again, when it is considered that all the Heathen nations are accessible, and are visited for purposes of commerce, research, or policy, yearly, and many of them monthly, by Christians; that Ministers of the Gospel can go to them, and in many cases under secure protection; that Governments are conciliated towards Missionaries; that restrictions on intercourse are removed; that facilities for acquiring the languages of the different nations have been greatly increased during the last half century, and are being further increased; that the sacred Scriptures and other Christian books are already translated into many of their languages; that converts are protected by civil governments; that during the last fifty years an interest for the conversion of the Heathen has been gradually spreading among Protestant Christians; that men in different Churches of Protestant Christendom have been and are offering themselves to go forth to the Heathen; that from amongst themselves, natives are set apart to preach the Gospel to the Heathen; that there is in several Heathen nations an expectation of a change in their religion and social state—when all these things are duly considered, and we recollect the promise that all nations shall be blessed in the Messiah, and that the "knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth, even as the waters cover the seas," we cannot but feel that the harvest is near, if it be not already the season of harvest. Let us bear in mind the command of the Saviour, when He said, "The harvest is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth labourers into His harvest."

III. The promise of a harvest. "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together." By reapers we understand those, whether Apostles or others, who, after the word has been sown, do, by their inquiries, exhortations, and ministrations, obtain converts to the Lord. The Lord puts it into their hearts to devote themselves to this work. They are sent out by the Lord. "I sent you to reap." These words show that the reaper is on a holy mission, and suggests, my reverend brethren, a serious question to each of our hearts and consciences—Am I sent forth by Christ? As I look at what I am entering upon in the ministry, at what I have been doing and am doing, at the interest I feel in the souls of my people, at the spirit in which I compose and preach my discourses, is there evidence of my having a mission not only from the Church, but from Christ Himself? and is it my aim and my prayer, not so much to collect many attendants on my own ministry, as to gather souls to life eternal?

"He that reapeth receiveth wages." My reverend brethren will permit me to ask, Do we not receive wages even now—in further illumination and deeper conviction of its truth in the study of the word of God? and sometimes can we not say, "How precious are Thy thoughts unto me!" "The law of Thy mouth is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver." (Ps. cxix. 72.) Do we not in our trials receive wages, in an improved knowledge of our own hearts, in distrust of them, and in reliance upon the Lord, in an increase of patience, experience, hope? And do we not find the love of God more shed abroad in our hearts, and a greater desire to honour Him? The Master who knows the labours and the real wants of His servants, will, even now, give wages suited to their cases, and hereafter will give an eternal reward—"They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars for ever and ever." (Dan. xii. 3.) They shall "both save themselves, and them that hear them."

"He gathereth fruit unto life eternal." The wages and the fruit are distinct. The fruit is the Lord's—a soul, really converted to God, is fruit gathered to eternal life; a rebellious soul, gathered out of the field of this wicked world, from amongst the slaves of Satan, from being "a brand" for the fire, to become an heir of heaven, a beloved child of God, to be clothed in the white robes of Christ's righteousness, and to dwell with Him for ever; to be like Him, to see Him as He is in His beauty and glory. What honour is put upon the ministry to minister the word and the grace of God to a poor degraded Negro slave, or to one of the most depraved in the streets of this city, so that he shall become an heir of eternal and heavenly glory! Such fruit does the Missionary, or other Minister, gather to life eternal: he gathers the fruit into the lower court of the Church on earth; the angels receive the matured fruit at his hand to store it in the Heavenly Garner, when there shall be no more anxiety or fear about it. The soul gathered unto life reaps much benefit in this life, as seen in his improved morality, civilization, and social position; in his intellectual advancement, and the comfort of Christian society: to these alone secular education has regard, but Christian instruction and the ministry of the Gospel bring the soul "to life eternal." What an inestimable privilege to be employed in such a work, to have any part, whether in the actual ministry, or in contributing to send forth such ministers!

Fruit has been gathered. After our blessed Lord's ascension, when the Apostles preached the Gospel, they began to gather fruit—on the day of Pentecost, 3000 souls; and "the Lord added to the Church daily:" the number in Jerusalem increased to 5000, and "multitudes both of men and women were added to the Lord." On the persecution which arose at the death of Stephen, the disciples, scattered abroad through the regions of Judea and Samaria, preached the word. In Samaria, we read, "the people with one accord gave heed to the things which Philip spake." When the labours of the Apostles were extended to the Gentiles, the history of the progress of the Apostles Paul and Barnabas is a history of their gathering souls into the Church: thus they were gathered in the Churches to which the Apostle's Epistles were addressed. After the Apostles' times, the work went on through the Roman Empire; so that a Roman historian states, the towns and villages were filled with them—Christians were in the Roman army, and in all the different walks of life. Persecution harassed the Christians, and multitudes perished, as to their bodies, in persecution; but the fruit of the harvest was not lost: their souls were gathered unto "life eternal;" and souls have been gathered from different nations, and in successive generations; all who have died for the testimony of Jesus have been gathered as "fruit to life eternal," the work for which the Father sent His beloved Son.

In different periods of the world's history, there have been seasons when many souls have been gathered from fields before uncultivated; as after the day of Pentecost, to the Gentiles was given repentance unto life. In our times, the whole world has been opened to the Christian reaper. In fulfilment of the promise of a harvest, we may report, that, in connection with the Church Missionary Society alone, at present are 107,000 Natives attending Christian worship; 40,000 children are attending Schools in which the sacred Scriptures are read and Christian instruction given, and some truth of the Gospel, as a grain of the incorruptible seed, is rooted in the mind of nearly every child. But admitting that the majority of these do not receive the truth in the love of it, and do not show evidence of real conversion to God; there are more than 17,000 converts regularly commemorating the Saviour's dying love at His table; of whom, from the great care taken in admitting Native converts, we may justly hope that they are a part of the harvest gathered unto "life eternal."

It may be said, what are even 100,000 persons as a harvest out of 600 millions of Heathen, as a fulfilment of the Lord's promise? They are few, but has it not always been thus? that Christ's people are a "little flock." We have seen that in Jerusalem, after the day of Pentecost, the number of disciples was 5000; or if we double the number, how small a proportion was this of the population of the city! and how small even in Judea the Christian body compared with the thousands of unbelieving Jews! So if we weigh what is said of the Gentile Churches planted by Paul, how small the number of believers in comparison with the whole population of those countries! The terms used in Scripture show that believers are gathered out of the multitude: "as many as were ordained to eternal life believed;" "certain men clave to the Apostles;" "God did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for His name." (Acts xv. 14.) Such is the case now: our duty is to preach the Gospel "for a testimony to all nations," and to be careful that those gathered in as harvest, show in their principles their spirit, and conduct, the fruits of the Gospel. The Lord has honoured this Society in employing its labourers to gather in many during the last fifty years, many who have glorified Christ in their lives and died in peace, placing all their hopes upon a crucified Saviour. Nearly all the different Missions of the Society will supply cases of this description: scarcely a month passes but our Missionaries' letters report that some soul converted from the Heathen has fallen asleep in Jesus, leaving behind good evidence of his conversion, and of his faith in the Saviour.

The harvest does not consist only of the believers at the present, or at any particular period, but of all who, from the first convert, have been or shall be gathered to life eternal. The remarkable feature of the present day is, that it is not only in one nation that the fields are white for harvest, but in nearly every nation in Europe, Asia, Africa, America, and the remote islands of the sea, so far as we have communicated with them, there is found what was observed in the Samaritans, an accessibility of intercourse, a willingness to hear of the Saviour, a disposition to learn more of Him; and, where the means can be continuously used, an expression of faith, and a desire to be received into the Christian Church. It is also found, in opposition to the theory of mere worldly wisdom, that civilization does not prepare the way, but that it follows in the track of Christianity.

Some of our Missionaries appear to have spent their labour and their time in sowing the precious seed, and have been removed by death, or laid aside by sickness or infirmity, before they have seen fruit of their labours. Was not this the case with James, with Stephen, and with many Evangelists of the early Church, who were hurried from off the scene almost at the commencement of their labours? Yet their words, their stedfast conduct, or their trials, continued to abide with the Church, fruitful unto life eternal. When the harvest shall be gathered in by the Heavenly Reapers, then shall the sower see the fruit of the seed he had sown, often in weakness and discouragement, and watered with prayers and tears: his successors reaped, receiving the matured fruit of the seed into the heavenly store, the Church: in that day "he that soweth and he that reapeth shall rejoice together"—in many cases, over the same redeemed soul, taught by one and built up in the faith by the other.

Conclusion. The fields are white for the harvest in every part of the Heathen world, and in every part into which the reapers have gone they have gathered fruit. How few, however, are the reapers! Those of the Church Missionary Society, including catechists and teachers of all classes, do not amount to 2000, or one to about 300,000 Heathen souls; or, if we include all the Labourers of all the Protestant Churches, they will not be more than one to about 100,000 Heathen souls! Let us not, however, think we can do little. We see the Lord has not despised "the day of small things," and of small efforts by His Church. He has owned the labourers—has worked with them, by adding to the Church such as shall be saved. But a great, yet definite, work is before the Church, a work which we know will prosper, for the Redeemer will "see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied." "Many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. viii. 11.) How easily have 30,000 men been found to go to the war! What eager flocking to the discovery of gold in the Southern hemisphere! But how few come forth to the help of the Lord, to point out the only refuge for ignorant, dying sinners! Is not this an humbling reflection for the Ministry? showing how little and how cold the zeal in our Redeemer's cause? how little zeal to save souls? Where shall we look amongst our younger brethren for men willing to spend and to be spent for the salvation of sinners, and for the honour of our blessed Redeemer? We must look to the Fountain of Eternal Love, that that love may be manifested to the perishing Heathen. Let us be more earnest in prayer that the Lord will pour out of His Spirit to raise up labourers, and send them forth into His harvest. Only those whom He sends will be truly useful: all others, however qualified in other respects, will be a dead weight upon our Missions, will not be seeking to gather "fruit unto life eternal." Experience has shown that God will incline men to contribute of their substance if there be labourers. How few self-devoting men come forward, seeking only those "wages" which Christ will give! Let us, then, be more earnest in prayer, that the Lord of the harvest will send forth labourers into His harvest.

INCOME.

The Committee have again the pleasure of announcing a large increase in the Income of the Church Missionary Society. The gross Income exhibits an increase of 3150*l.* upon that of last year. The increase arises from a larger amount than usual of Legacies. The statement is as follows—

I. General Fund — Associations, Benefactions, Legacies, &c.		110,478	13	2
II. Special Funds—
Disabled Missionaries', &c.	£2016 11 0
China-Mission	803 2 1
		2819	13	1
Total received in the United Kingdom		113,298	6	3
III. Local Funds—Raised and expended in India, &c.		10,617	12	8
Gross Income		£123,915	18	11

It is most satisfactory to state that the sums received through the Associations are gradually increasing.

EXPENDITURE.

The statement of the year's Expenditure stands thus—

	£	s.	d.
On account of the General Expenses of the Society at home and abroad, exclusive of Special and Local Funds, but including China	108,835	14	10
On account of Disabled Missionaries, &c.	6941	4	5
„ Children's Home Building-Fund	5389	2	0
	121,166	1	3
Local Funds, as above	10,617	12	8
Gross Expenditure	£131,783	13	11

On the 31st of March 1853 a considerable balance was in hand, exclusive of the working Capital Fund: this balance has been reduced by the expense of completing the Missionaries' Children's Home, and by extra grants, so that the balance in hand on the 31st of March this year was 8292*l.* The working Capital of the Society having been found barely sufficient for the exigencies of the year, it has been determined to increase it by the addition of 5000*l.*, which will bring it up to the amount originally contemplated when it was first commenced, namely, one-third of the annual income. The balance will thus be reduced to 3292*l.*

SECRETARYSHIP.

Major Straith, having removed from London, has become Honorary Lay Secretary. Charles Graham, Esq., has been appointed Lay Secretary. The Rev. William Knight, our Clerical Secretary, having gone, at the request of the Committee, on a visit of inspection to India, the Committee have engaged, as Secretary pro tempore, the Rev. John Chapman, B.D., late Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, and for twelve years a Missionary of this Society at Cottayam, in Travancore, where he was Principal of the Mission College.

ISLINGTON INSTITUTION.

The number of students who have resided for a longer or shorter period during the past year in the Institution amounts to forty. The average number in weekly residence has been twenty-six. Six have left for foreign Stations. The new and important measure which was announced in the last Report, of employing the students as Scripture Readers and Missionaries among the Irish Roman Catholics in the parish of Islington, under the superintendence of the Principal and Tutors, has worked well. The Principal, in his Annual Report of the Institution, writes—

The systematic visitation of the Irish courts has proved, after fourteen months' experiment, to be attended with benefits, the value of which it is not easy to exaggerate. No work that could have been devised for the students at home seems so nearly akin to the work that awaits them abroad. Requiring them to labour amongst the professors of a false and hostile creed, its difficulties, disappointments, and possible dangers, call into exercise the selfsame graces of faith and courage, of meekness and wisdom, of patience and prayer, which are so needful for the Missionary in heathen lands.

The Principal thus concludes his Report—

Constrained, therefore, with reference to a post so important and so arduous, continually to ask, "Who is sufficient for these things?" the Principal would renew, in behalf of his beloved pupils, his esteemed colleagues, and himself, the earnest entreaty that Islington may never cease to be remembered in "the effectual fervent prayers" of all who love the cause of Christ, and are interested in its success.

MISSIONARIES' CHILDREN'S HOME.

The Home for the reception and education of the children of Missionaries who are engaged in the work of the Society abroad, or who have died in the midst of their labours, has been gradually filling. Children received into the Home leave upon their attaining fifteen years, at which age the Society ceases to be responsible for their support and education. The number now in the Home is 79. The able and zealous Director of this Institution, the Rev. Samuel Hope Unwin, having been compelled to relinquish the office through the failure of his health, the Committee have appointed in his place the Rev. W. Gibbs Barker, M.A., Perpetual Curate of Trinity Church, Matlock-Bath, Derbyshire. The Committee must record their gratitude to God that the conduct and progress of the children in their studies have been very satisfactory, and that their health has been mercifully preserved, notwithstanding the visitation of the scarlet fever, in a mild form, in the course of the year.

HIGHBURY TRAINING COLLEGE.

This Institution has continued to allow the Society the great advantage of placing their Missionary schoolmasters in its establishment; by which means they receive a complete training in all the modern improvements of education. The average number of such students has been nine. Three have gone out to foreign Stations.

PATRONAGE.

During the past year two of the Vice-Presidents of the Society have been removed by death—namely, the Bishops of Lincoln and Salisbury.

The Committee have appointed, during the year, the Right Hon. Lord Calthorpe and Sir Edward North Buxton, Bart., as Vice-Presidents of the Society. The newly-appointed Bishops of Lincoln and Salisbury, being members of the Society, have accepted the office of Vice-President.

DECEASE OF MISSIONARIES.

The "Lord of the harvest" has been pleased to remove from their labours the following individuals during the past year—

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. Thomas Peyton, Superintendant of the Grammar-school, died at Freetown on the 13th of June, after sixteen years' labour in Africa.

Yoruba Mission—The Rev. Richard Charnley Paley, B.A., died at Abbeokuta on the 1st of April 1853, of dysentery, after a few days' illness. Mrs. Paley, the widow—who, in a very reduced state of health, left Lagos, on board the "Forerunner," for England—died at sea on the 6th of May. Mr.

W. C. Hensman, the Medical Adviser of the Mission, died at Abbeokuta on the 10th of April, after a short illness.

Calcutta and North-India Mission—Mrs. Sandys, wife of the Rev. T. Sandys, died at Calcutta on the 20th of March, of cholera.

Madras and South-India Mission—Mrs. Sargent, wife of the Rev. E. Sargent, died at Palamcottah on the 1st of November, having for some time suffered from ill health. Mrs. Foulkes, wife of the Rev. T. Foulkes, died on the same day, at the same place, after a premature confinement.

RETURN HOME OF MISSIONARIES.

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. J. Beale and Mrs. Beale, and the Rev. N. Denton and Mrs. Denton, left Sierra Leone on the 21st of April 1853, and arrived at Plymouth on the 10th of May. Mr. Denton embarked at the same port on the 1st of December for Sierra Leone, and arrived there on the 18th of the same month. Mrs. Peyton, widow of the Rev. T. Peyton, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen, left Sierra Leone on the 16th of July 1853, and arrived in London on the 15th of August. The Rev. D. H. Schmid and Mrs. Schmid left Sierra Leone in December 1853, for Madeira, and arrived there on the 1st of January, and in London on the 16th of March.

East-Africa Mission—The Rev. Dr. Krapf left Mombas on the 11th of October 1853, arrived in Germany on the 15th of December, and in London at the end of April last.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Fifteen candidates for ordination in connexion with the Society have, during the past year, been admitted to Deacons' Orders—six Students from the Institution, Islington, four by the Bishop of London, one by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and one by the Bishop of Chester on letters dimissory from the Bishop of London; one catechist in West Africa, and three Students from Islington, by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; one catechist in Tinnevelly, by the Bishop of Madras; one catechist and one native student in New Zealand, by the Bishop of New Zealand; and one native catechist in North-West America, by the Bishop of Rupert's Land.

NUMBER OF MISSIONARY LABOURERS.

From the foregoing statements it will be seen, that during the past year two clergymen, the widow of one of them, one layman, and the wives of two clergymen, have been removed by death; twelve clergymen (one of whom has since resumed his labours), two laymen, and the widows of two clergymen, have returned home, all of them, with one exception, on account of ill-health; fifteen additional labourers—nine clergymen and six laymen—have been sent out; and three clergymen, exclusive of the one before mentioned, and three laymen, have returned to their labours.

The number of clergymen and European lay teachers in connexion with the Society as Missionary labourers is 221—viz.

Abroad—
Ordained European Missionaries	138
Ordained East-Indian and Native Missionaries	24
European Catechists, Teachers, and others	31
European Female Teacher	13
At Home—
European Female Teacher	1
Total	221

It will be seen from this return that the total number of Missionary labourers is exactly the same as last year. But there has been an increase of four clergymen—two European and two native—and a diminution of four in the number of female European teachers. The number of native teachers employed by the Society is about the same as last year.

Proceedings on the Bishop's arrival—Episcopal Services.

The last Report announced the appointment of a Bishop of Sierra Leone, and his arrival in his diocese.

The Bishop was accompanied on his voyage by the Rev. J. U. Graf, returning to the Sierra-Leone Mission, and the Rev. Messrs. Hinderer and Paley, together with Messrs. Gerst, Kefer, and Maser, three German students, candidates for Holy Orders, and Mr. Hensman, surgeon, appointed to the Yoruba Mission. The arrival of this large Missionary party was an event of deep interest and importance in the history of the West-African church. Long had the Missionaries desired and prayed for the presence of a chief pastor amongst them. A Missionary Bishop was now arrived, together with six Missionaries destined for a distant part of the diocese. Two days after their arrival in Sierra Leone the Missionaries assembled to welcome the Bishop, and he found himself surrounded by no fewer than seventeen in number. An address was made to him, to which he replied with much feeling; after which Mr. Denton addressed Messrs. Hinderer and Paley, who were about to sail for Abbeokuta, and the Bishop commended them in prayer to the blessing and protection of Almighty God.

The Bishop has resided in the Fourah-Bay Institution. He has visited all parts of the colony, and has encouraged the Missionaries by sharing in their labours and in all the interests of their cause. One of his first acts, a fortnight after his arrival, was the public baptism of thirteen adults in Pademba Road Church. "I never witnessed," he writes, "such a congregation as I met on that occasion: there could not have been fewer than 1800 persons inside the church, and numbers without."

The Bishop held his first ordination at St. George's church, Freetown, when the Rev. E. Dicker was admitted to Priests' Orders, and Messrs. Gerst, Kefer, and Maser to Deacons' Orders.*

At a second ordination, on Trinity Sunday, the long-tried and valuable catechist of the Society, Mr. W. Young, was admitted to Deacons' Orders. It has been thought better to defer the ordination of the native candidates till a later period. The Bishop has held confirmations throughout the colony. As the number of communicants amounted to nearly 3000, and they were desirous of presenting themselves for this rite, it was determined that they should be first confirmed, and that the younger candidates should be confirmed on a subsequent occasion. The first confirmation was held in St. George's church, for the several congregations in and near Freetown: 800 adults, who had been all communicants of some standing, renewed, on this occasion, their baptismal vows: all were dressed in white, men and women. "Their whole manner," writes one who was present, "was solemn and serious. The sound of the words 'I do,' spoken by 800 adults, was most thrilling. The charge of the Bishop was a very striking one." In the villages, the native teachers, many of whom had been acting for years as pastors, presented themselves at the head of their people to be confirmed and strengthened in their common faith.†

I. PASTORAL-WORK WITHIN THE COLONY.

The number of European Missionaries within the colony has been less than for some years past, owing to the return home of several on account of ill health. Mr. Graf has resided at Freetown, and discharged the duties of Secretary of the Mission, retaining the pastoral superintendence of Hastings.

The Rev. W. Young, who is in charge of the Pademba-Road congregation, states that "the good work of the Lord is advancing surely and steadily, notwithstanding the weakness and stumbling of one and another of our professing Christians." The Rev. T. Maxwell officiates in the Kissey-Road church, for the enlargement of which he has collected subscriptions amongst his people and the colonists to a considerable amount. At a meeting for this object, one of the native members of the congregation "called the attention of the meeting to the great difference there is between their condition and that of the surrounding tribes—the Timnís, Bulloms, &c. He had been on a visit to the country with his family, where they spent one month, and never until that time did he so much feel and perceive the difference. No church, no religious teacher, no observance of the Lord's-day, is to be seen among them: gross darkness covers the people. In that barren moral wilderness he often panted for the services of the sanctuary; and on the return of each Sabbath, when he assembled his family for prayer, praise, and reading the Scriptures, his heart went with the congregation, and he longed to return home. He encouraged the meeting to the duty of gratitude to God and to the Church Missionary Society, and urged them to show that gratitude, in the present instance, by giving cheerfully and liberally their help to the work."

The progress of the work in the villages may be illustrated by the success of the labours of the Rev. H. Rhodes, who undertook, four years ago, the pastoral charge of Wilberforce, at which there had previously been no resident minister, and but little attention paid, even by the nominal Christians, to the duties of religion.

The village now contains its Mission house and a school, in which a large congregation assembles. In several surrounding hamlets there are schools and cottage lectures, and the whole neighbourhood now wears a new and encouraging aspect. Of one of these hamlets Mr. Rhodes writes—

Nov. 10—This evening I went down to Murray Town to take the lecture; after which sixteen persons, among whom were several heathen, came forward, begging to be placed under religious instruction, which I promised to do for them. On inquiry, I found that the majority of these, with some others who are about to follow their example, never attended any place of worship before I commenced the lecture. It is gratifying to observe that one of these is the head-man of the Yorubas, who has hitherto been a regular worshipper of Ifa, the god of palm-nuts. He is an aged man, but nevertheless comes to the Sunday-school, and has resolutely set himself to learn the alphabet, being taught by a little day-scholar.

At another of these hamlets, Aberdeen, Mr. Rhodes has erected a school, and holds a weekly lecture. Among the fruits of his labours he mentions the baptism of a man and his wife who were living in heathenism; and as the man was a celebrated palm-wine maker, and pursued his work without regard to the Sabbath, numerous drinking parties were accustomed to assemble on the Sunday, as on other days; but, chiefly through the remonstrances of the native catechist, he was first persuaded to respect the Lord's-day, and then to attend divine worship. Happily, his example was followed by all the other palm-wine makers in the village, and all Sunday drinking parties were repressed. The following conversation between the native catechist and the palm-wine maker may read a useful lesson to many a Sabbath-breaker at home—

The native teacher observed—" I have heard frequently, from conversation with many palm-wine makers, whom I have been trying to teach, that if they were to give up making palm-wine on Sunday, the very spots on the tree from whence the wine runs out would immediately spoil, and they would get scarcely any wine from the tree during the week, consequently they would suffer a great loss. Now, how do you manage to overcome this difficulty, and get your living, as you know no other trade besides?" He replied, "In the whole they have told you a downright falsehood, because they do not like to give it up. I never experience any loss, or such thing as you have heard of, since I have given it up; but that the wine, being a whole day on the tree, gets stronger more than other time; yet it is still good enough to drink, and many persons like it better. But even if all what they have told you were to be really so, yet I think I ought to give up all that is contrary to God's laws, and tends to ruin my soul."

The school-house at this hamlet was built by the united labour of all the members of the church.

"Before we began to build," writes Mr. Rhodes, "each of the members agreed to give three days' labour gratis. Accordingly, they brought over by canoe all the stones from the other side of the Cockle Bay, carried up all the materials from the wharf as soon as they were landed, until each of them had fulfilled his promised time of labour. The women and the school-children also carried up sand from the beach to mix the mortar."*

In the MOUNTAIN DISTRICT several villages are under the care of native catechists. Of Bathurst it is reported that the inhabitants are 380, the communicants 120, and the candidates for the ordinance an equal number. There is not a single idolater or Mahommedan, and not more than six individuals who do not attend the Bible classes. In Charlotte the attendance at church amounts to 400; and only ten persons estrange themselves from Sabbath ordinances.

Of the SEA DISTRICT the Rev. F. Bultmann reports—"The church has increased, and been strengthened and refreshed, I trust, everywhere, from Waterloo to Bananas, by the sacred rite of confirmation and a five months' preparation for it."

The interest which the people feel in the prospect of a native ministry is testified by the following remark, which occurs in the journal of a native catechist—

The prospect of a native ministry has made an uncommonly deep impression on the minds of many. Once and again the expression would escape them in our Saturday prayer-meetings, whilst on their knees, that they return most hearty thanks to God for raising up their own countrymen, yea, their own children, to be their teachers. I cannot express what feelings possess my mind on hearing this.

The Rev. E. Dicker, in an account of his visit to York, gives an interesting picture of the progress of the Mission in the contrast between the first grass prayer-houses and the present substantial churches.

Nov. 9, 1853—We found the new church just completed, and waiting for the Bishop to open it. On the Sunday morning we had the pleasure of seeing an addition made to the church by the baptism of a number of adults in the old tumbling-down grass-house, which hitherto had formed the little sanctuary of the place. It looked as if the first puff of wind would blow it down. I never look at our many strong stone-built churches without a feeling of gratitude to those by whom they were raised, and whose first ministrations were performed in such exposed places as the old grass-house at York. In the afternoon I had the pleasure of preaching to a devout and attentive congregation in the same place.

The journals of the Missionaries afford many interesting allusions to the labours of the early Evangelists of Sierra Leone. The Rev. N. Denton, noticing the building of a new school at Regent Town, writes—room at Regent, upon the site of the house which was built for and occupied by the good and memorable Mr. Johnson. Some of the very stones that were witnesses of his prayers, that sheltered his honoured head from Africa's heat and rain, will henceforth perform the same good offices towards teachers and children, while carrying on and continuing that holy work which he so successfully begun. The church bell having called together some of the people, and the school-children being assembled on the spot, we sang suitable hymns and offered up prayer.

Mr. M. T. Harding, the native catechist, writes—

Blessed be the name of the Lord for His favours towards the inhabitants of this our colony! I remember, in the year of our Lord 1810, the colony was not only a "mountain of lions," but also the habitation of Satan. But now our present state will prove that God smiles upon us, and I do believe that Sierra Leone was chosen by God for the African race, that many of her tribes may come there and learn to know the true God, after which they are to carry the same back to their native countries. May the Lord raise up many of Africa's sons to become faithful labourers of Christ, who will go in His name to contend with the armies of unbelievers, so that the heathen world may become the kingdoms of Christ.

Mr. J. C. Taylor, native catechist, of Gloucester, reports a conversation with an aged communicant, who said to him—"This sickness is too strong for me; but whatever comes, all is well. I am keeping close to my Saviour." Again he said—"As for any other things, I may lose sight of them, but not my Saviour. Before this village bush was cut I was here with the late Mr. Düring, and I saw how things went on from that time up to this present day. Where have I to look again, but to give my heart to Christ?"

II. EDUCATION.

The Rev. E. Jones continues to act as Principal of the Fourah-Bay Institution, assisted by the Rev. G. Nicol. The Rev. C. Reichardt, who reached the colony at the close of 1852, has given instruction in Hebrew and Arabic. The number of students at the close of October was 15. Six have completed their course of instruction, and have entered upon the duties of catechists, with a view to their further preparation as candidates for holy orders.

It has pleased God to remove by death the able and zealous Principal of the Grammar-school, the Rev. T. Peyton, after sixteen years' residence in the colony. It is worthy of remark, as a proof of the improvement of the climate, that of five Missionaries who went to Sierra Leone in 1837, this is the first who has been taken. Mr. Peyton's last report was given March 31, 1853, in which he records his gratitude for the prosperity of the school, which then numbered 78 pupils, 46 being boarders. He concludes with these encouraging remarks—

The original design of this school, of giving to the native youth an intellectual, moral, and religious education, has been kept steadily in view, and every opportunity has been watched to impress on the minds of the pupils their duty of engaging in the Missionary work. The Lord has heard our prayers in this respect. Last December, the father of one of the pupils, who had paid for the education of his son for two years, wrote me a letter, desiring to give up his son for the Lord's work.

The whole colony testified to Mr. Peyton's worth in that department of his Master's work to which he had been called. He first organized an ordinary day-school, and elevated it to the standard of a classical and commercial school, self-supporting by the payments of the pupils. Many who have left the school are engaged in lucrative employments. Two who here studied navigation were received on board one of Her Majesty's ships to complete their knowledge of practical navigation, and are now commanders of trading brigs. Many have been transferred to the Fourah-Bay Institution, and are prepared for native teachers and clergymen. The school is already exercising an influence in other parts of Africa. Pupils have been received from the north of the colony, from the Gallinas, one from Liberia, and four from Fernando Po.

Upon Mr. Peyton's death, Mr. Jones undertook the general superintendence of the Grammar-school, Mr. Quaker, the native tutor, residing in the house, and devoting himself with much zeal and ability to the work of tuition and to the moral training of the pupils. Mr. Jones writes, Oct. 3—"I would mention, as a matter of justice, that I think great credit is due to Mr. Quaker and his assistants for the degree of discipline that has been kept up. The confidence of the people in the Grammar-school is strong and undiminished." Mr. Quaker closes his half-yearly report, Sept. 29, 1853, with this statement—

The conduct of all the pupils, with the exception of two, has been uncommonly satisfactory. During Mr. Peyton's protracted illness, they were, for the most part, considerate enough not to give any unnecessary trouble as regards both their school and domestic duties; for which I "thanked God, and took courage." They have shown more zeal and interest for the Missionary work during the past six months than ever they did before; for several of them have not only continued weekly collectors, but have become monthly and quarterly subscribers. May they never be "weary in well-doing!"

Miss Sass having been compelled to return to Europe for the restoration of her health, Mrs. Dicker, the wife of the Rev. E. Dicker, a Missionary in Sierra Leone, undertook the charge of the Female Institution. The Committee have been enabled also to engage the valuable services of Miss Wilkinson as an assistant in the school. No suitable buildings have been yet procured. Notwithstanding this disadvantage, the experience of five years has shown the value of such an Institution for raising the standard of female education in Sierra Leone to a due proportion with that of the other sex.

The Liberated-African girls'-school was under the charge of Mrs. Clemens, widow of our late Missionary, till she was obliged to leave the Colony for the recovery of her health. She concludes her report of the first quarter in these words—"The number of girls at present in the school is 81; a healthy, hopeful, and happy-looking set of children, whose innocent merriness often gladdens my lonely, bereaved heart, and makes our solitary place here in the mountains a scene of rejoicing."

An important addition has been this year made to the educational Institutions of Sierra Leone, by the establishment of a Model and training-school at Kissey by a master, Mr. C. M. Hammond, who was trained at the Highbury Training College, and who had previously the advantage of long experience in the West Indies. Industrial employments will be introduced into this school, and it is hoped that an improved system of village schools will be gradually established in the Colony, and that other parts of the coast may be supplied with well-trained schoolmasters. Kissey is sufficiently near to Fourah Bay to allow of the students' occasional attendance and exercise in the model school.

III. EFFORTS TO EXTEND CHRISTIANITY BEYOND THE COLONY.

Important changes have been made in respect of the Timneh Mission. The first Station in the Timneh country was commenced in 1840, at Port Lokkoh,* which is situated on the shores of a broad river, and is a place of trade. But the inhabitants are almost all Mahommedans, and the Sierra-Leone traders settled there have proved rather a hindrance than a help to the work. The roads into the interior beyond Port Lokkoh, also, lead only to Mahommedan countries, which appear at present little disposed to receive Christian instruction. Magbeli is situated twenty-four miles higher up, on the river Rokelle, in a country which is chiefly heathen, and under a heathen king. The road into the interior from this point takes an easterly direction to Koranko, Limba, and other countries, containing towns more populous and more numerous than those which are accessible from Port Lokkoh. The Sierra-Leone traders, also, in this locality, have shown themselves much more disposed to favour the Mission. The country on the south side of the Rokelle is under the rule of king Bey Kobolo, who resides at Marampa, about forty miles higher up the river Rokelle. The following extract from the journal of the Rev. D. H. Schmid gives the following encouraging account of the Magbeli station—

* Previous to this, in 1833 and 1834, the Rev. C. L. F. Haensel resided in the country, with the view of establishing a Mission there. But his health failed, and the scheme remained in abeyance. His journals ("Church Missionary Record," July and Aug. 1834) contain much interesting information..

Seven years ago I visited Magbeli from Port Lokkoh, for the first time, preached to the Sierra-Leone traders, and admonished them to let their light shine. They read prayers amongst themselves, and when there was a man able he explained the Scriptures to them. On Sunday they gave up trade. They all appear to be glad that a Mission is to be established at Magbeli.

In July 1853 a school-house and residence for a native teacher were erected, with a room for the Missionary in his occasional visits. The Sierra-Leone traders contributed liberally according to their means.

Attempt to visit the Ibo tribe, in the Bight of Benin.

The Rev. E. Jones, accompanied by three natives of the Ibo tribe, left Sierra Leone by the steamer on the 12th of April, to ascertain whether the way was open for the return of the converted Ibos to their own country, as in the case of the Yorubas. They spent a month at Fernando Po, and in visiting the stations of the Scotch Presbyterian Missionary Society in the Old Calabar river. It appeared that it would be impossible to ascend the Niger, except by steamer, and that there would be no access to the Ibo country through the river Bonny on account of the savage and treacherous character of the tribes in that neighbourhood. But king Eyo, on the Old Calabar, has a large number of the Ibo tribe under his rule, and very readily offered to receive and protect any of that tribe who might settle in his country, expressing his desire that they should teach his people if they came. This chief bears a high character for energy and fidelity, though he has not embraced Christianity. Indeed, as yet no native in the Calabar Mission has done so; but schools have been established, the language fixed—the Efik—a press erected, and a gospel printed in the language; and there is fair promise of fruit, at no distant period, to the labours of the Missionaries of the Baptist Missionary Society, who are cultivating that field.*

Removal of Labourers by death.

THE Yoruba Mission has, during the last year, been subjected to many trials, though its consolations have also abounded. The commencement of the year witnessed the arrival of the large addition of seven labourers to the Missionary force; but the hand of death snatched away one of that party, the devoted and promising young Missionary, Paley, upon the threshold of his Missionary career. His widow died on her passage home; a schoolmistress who accompanied them returned, through the failure of her health; and a medical man, the fourth of that party, sank under the first attack of fever.

The Committee desire to bow with humble submission to the will of God in the disappointment, no less than in the fulfilment, of their most cherished hopes.

Short as was the Missionary career of Mr. Paley, he must not be regarded as having in vain devoted himself to the work. His example will surely have its effect at home upon the students of our Universities; and in the West-Africa Mission its influence has been both solemn and quickening.

* Full particulars of Mr. Jones's visit to Fernando Po are given in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for November 1853, pp. 253—259. Further accounts of the West Africa Mission generally are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for Feb. 1854, pp. 25—40; March, pp. 49—62; April, pp. 73—81; and May, pp. 97—101. See also the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for August 1854, pp. 92—95.

The Bishop of Sierra Leone appointed a day of humiliation to be observed, both at Sierra Leone and at Yoruba, in consequence of the three successive deaths to which we have alluded. We give, as a single specimen, a notice of the observance of the day in one of the villages of Sierra Leone. The Rev. F. Bultmann writes from Kent—

May 27—In the morning and afternoon we had solemn worship, as appointed by the bishop, in memory of the recent deaths at Abbeokuta; in which—as in every thing betiding that infant Mission among their brethren—our people naturally feel the liveliest interest. Our churches were therefore, on this occasion, filled with attentive worshippers; many of whom, I humbly hope, have attained to that degree of Christian knowledge and experience which will enable them, in some measure, to apprehend, as marks of their membership of Christ, such passages as the following—"Whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with it; or one member be honoured, all the members rejoice with it."

At Abbeokuta these mournful circumstances form a prominent feature in the journals of the Missionaries and of the native teachers. The Rev. H. Townsend thus writes, in a letter dated May 17—

Sagbua visited me after Mr. Paley's death, to express his grief at the event. I asked him, and other chiefs who came with him, to tell me what he must do to be saved. They endeavoured to turn off the question; but as often I repeated it again, until they acknowledged their ignorance, and the importance of the question. I sent to him, just after Mr. Paley's death, to ask him what further proof he wanted of the truth of Christianity, when he saw men coming to his country, and dying as strangers in a strange land, out of no other motive than to give them the saving knowledge of Christ. I subsequently put the question to him myself. He then said he needed no further proof: he knew we had the truth; and that the rising generation would certainly receive it.

One of the native teachers makes the following beautiful allusion to the event—

The hearing of this news put us all to silence, not knowing how to express our feeling for the repeated loss of valuable labourers. Though Mr. and Mrs. Paley had not yet commenced their business before their departure, yet their endeavours, their love, their sympathizing feeling for us poor Africans, and their piety, which were in them, began to be seen, as a coloured flower which begins to make its appearance from its bud. May the Lord be pleased to send us another labourer like Mr. Paley in all his devotedness for the good of us, to labour among us.

Mr. Thomas King also bears this striking testimony to Mr. Paley's Christian character—

He was indeed a man of undiluted piety and condescending manners, and very affable in his disposition, as I found during the short time we were permitted to meet together. He was very close to his Bible, as the kernel to the shell, or the needle to the touchstone: especially a Bible that he told me was presented to him by his school-children was his close companion.

The Rev. D. Hinderer adds these striking reflections to his notice of the bereavements of the Mission—

How truly verified do we see it in our case, that with the Lord "there is no restraint," whether "by many or by few." In Abbeokuta the work is prospering in the midst of afflictions; in the further interior, Ijaye is taken up in spite of bereavements; and Ibadan is now, with the help of God, also about to be entered with the message of salvation. But now, O Lord! in the presence of all this, make further bare Thine arm, for "it is nothing with Thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: help us, O Lord our God; for we rest on Thee, and in Thy name we go against this multitude. O Lord, Thou art our God; let not man prevail against Thee!"

LAGOS.

Troublous times—their effect on the Mission.

The past year in this Mission has been marked by constant apprehension of wars and invasions, through the struggles of the slave-trading party to regain the stronghold of Lagos, and to crush the germ of Christian civilization. Kosoko, who was expelled from his usurped government by the British squadron in the former year, made an attempt, by treachery and an armed force of 1500 men, to regain Lagos. But, through the mercy of God, his attempt was defeated by the interposition of the armed boats from the men-of-war: and so that important field has been still kept open for lawful commerce and Christian efforts.

In the midst of the attack upon Lagos, the Missionaries suffered the most harassing anxiety and labour. Many hundreds took refuge in their premises. Musket-balls struck the walls of their house, and their lives were threatened. The Committee have reason to thank God for the patience, presence of mind, and courage, exhibited by the Missionaries under these most trying circumstances; and they have great satisfaction in adding the following honourable testimony to their behaviour by the Commodore, Rear-admiral Bruce, in a letter to the Rev. C. A. Gollmer, dated H.M.S. "Penelope," August 15, 1853—

I lament much that you should have had such an alarming state of affairs as I found at this unhappy Lagos, on my return three days ago, and as, I fear, may have not yet entirely subsided. I am grieved that Mrs. Gollmer has suffered. Excuse my saying that you have exhibited perfect devotion to your righteous cause, and no small degree of moral courage in maintaining your post unhesitatingly, as you have done.

On the night of the 2d of September, king Akitoye died suddenly: he had been ill for some time, and he sank under the labours and anxieties to which he had been exposed. His son, Dosumu was elected in his stead, and acknowledged by all the chiefs. He promises fairly to use his influence in favour of the Christian instruction of his people. But the combination of Kosoko and of other powerful chiefs still keeps Lagos in alarm, and impedes the social progress of the inhabitants.*

Mr. Gollmer takes the following review of the effect of these events upon the Missionary operations—

Though I must bewail the sad interruption which the war occasioned to our work when it seemed owned and blessed by the Lord, many attending God's word, and one after the other coming out to declare for the Lord; yet as it is true that "all things," even war," work together for good to them that love God," so these sad disturbances have exercised a beneficial influence on many. Some of our new converts, belonging by various ties to the rebel party, were saved by "their book," as the natives term it. Some took refuge with us, and were protected; others were captured, and, on our interceding or claiming them as our people, were set free; and others, who fled with the enemy, were helped to come back. Some half decided, seeing the country gods (idols) forsaking their worshippers, the big idols tumbling about in the streets, were fully convinced that "there is no salvation in any other," and joined us; and I believe the deliverance of the town and people by British force has made a strong favourable impression upon the population in general. Akitoye, the late king, after the war, had even the gongon sounded, to say the people must neither worship idols nor "make Mahommed," but come to us and hear the true "God's word." The new king promises to come to church, and send his people, as soon as peace is restored; also to send children to school, and will give his daughter to Mrs. Gollmer, to live with her to be educated. We thank God for the encouragement the Lagos converts give us, in spite of the many and great obstacles we have had to contend with, and we go on relying upon a prayer-hearing God and Lord.

Encouragements—Visit to Otta.

Amidst these trials, Mr. Gollmer has been encouraged in his labours by the messages which have been sent to him from distant tribes in the interior, expressing their wish to receive the visits of Christian instructors. Among other neighbouring towns, he has visited Otta, on the road from Lagos to Abbeokuta. He took with him two native converts; and, assembling all the people together, asked them what they chiefly desired. They replied, "Peace." On which Mr. Gollmer reports—

* Fuller particulars of these events are given in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for December 1853, pp. 267—269, and May 1854, p. 109.

This gave me an opportunity to lead them to the fountain from which peace flows—God and His word; and earnestly to entreat them to hear God's word, that they may learn to know and serve God, and enjoy that peace. I then appealed to an Abbeokuta convert, whom I brought with me on purpose to show to the Ottas the power of God's word. He was formerly a renowned warrior, and fought with these very people, the Ottas, so that they quite dreaded him. But now he is a new man. He told them, "By nature we all are blind, and know not what we do. God's word changed me." He invited them to hear and believe. I then called upon another convert, one of our people, a Sierra-Leone Yoruba man. He showed them how he was carried away from the country, but heard God's word in the new land, which changed his heart; and urged them to listen to the good word which comes now to their town also. Mr. Gerst added a few words on the love of Jesus to sinners.

The elders of the town afterwards agreed to the establishment of schools and a Mission, and a native teacher resides amongst them.*

ABBEOKUTA.

Mission of Capt. Foote and Dr. Irving to the chiefs.

In the early part of January 1853 Capt. Foote, R.N., one of the officers of the squadron, with Dr. Irving, R.N., visited Abbeokuta, on a mission from the admiral to the chiefs. They were received with every expression of respect, and with assurances that the Egbas looked up to the English as their best benefactors, and were willing to follow in all respects their guidance. Dr. Irving has furnished the Committee with a very interesting and useful account of Abbeokuta, its natural products, customs, and capabilities of improvement.† He gives the following account of the Sunday spent in the town—

We entered the church, which is well lighted, and ventilated, if necessary, by eight glass windows on either side and two at the end, where is the communion-table, enclosed by a railing: at one side is the pulpit. On entering, we found a full congregation, the male portion occupying the rows of cross benches on the one hand, and the women on the other. There might be, in all, about 300 present, generally cleanly dressed, and many in European costume. At one end of the church, where we took our seats, were placed about fifty children of the school, under the eye of the schoolmistress. The service was performed by the Rev. S. Crowther. Being in the Yoruba tongue, we of course could not understand what he preached. But from the text (Luke iv. 15—17), which, I could not help thinking, was an exceedingly felicitous one, and appropriate to the circumstances and situation, it was not difficult to conceive its general tenour. The Yoruba language is full, soft, and sweet; and, delivered in the affectionate and impressive manner of the preacher, seemed to us peculiarly so. The general expression of his hearers was that of grave, serious, solemn, wrapt attention; their bearing not abject, but quietly composed. Each, as he took his place, without noise or haste, arranged the folds of his country cloth, and prepared to listen. It had a strange and most pleasing effect to hear the voices of so many men, women, and children, uniting in the service of the true God, rising in the midst of a population degraded, ignorant, superstitious—the slaves of the rites of fetish—with so much earnest humility: and it would be a good thing for the would-be knowing men of the world, who sneer at Missionary labour, to take a lesson from the church of Aké.

In the afternoon we went again to the church, when a catechist—Mr. Macaulay—examined a congregation similar to the above on points of religious faith and its duties, and on what they remembered of the morning's discourse; and to each question, as translated to us by Mr. Crowther's son—who for some time studied medicine at King's College, London—the readiness, and generally the correctness, of the answers would have put to the blush many white Christians, with all their boasted advancement and superiority of intellect. Their answers were not from one but from all parts of the church—from men or women, as each could best remember, without any show of vanity, but lowly and humbly, as became their Christian calling. A number could also read, and that very fairly. Service was again performed, but this has been already described.

Since the foundation of the Mission there have been admitted into the church, I believe, 600 converts, and these not merely nominally so, but only after a lengthened period of probation of conduct, and its being well ascertained that their desire was sincere, and that the leading principles of our faith were fairly understood. One great and trying test to the African, and other inhabitants of hot climates, where woman so soon gets old in looks and constitution, and where they do the chief labour, is the giving up of polygamy, and their being confined to one wife. Yet to this, I am assured, the converts most steadily adhere. It would be sad, indeed, if, for lack of energy and means, so fair an occasion of advancing God's word—such an one, I do think, as this poor Africa has never had—should die for want of nourishment: but such, I hope, will not be the case. The good work is progressing steadily. The Rev. H. Townsend, the pioneer of the Mission, has been for some time at Ijayé, a large town two days to the north-eastward of Abbeokuta, where he has been well received by the chief, who is personally anxious to abolish slavery and human sacrifices, and most willing to have Missionaries and churches in his town, and to enter into commercial dealings. And so it is with numerous cities around: so far from there being any difficulty about receiving white men and Christian teachers amongst them, there seems a rivalry to possess them. May God prosper the work! Besides the church of Aké there are two others, built in similar style, at Igbein and Ikija.

Engagement of Dr. Irving's services by the Committee.

The Committee have the satisfaction of stating that Dr. Irving has returned to Africa, upon the invitation of the Committee, to act as an adviser of the Missionaries in respect of temporal matters, and to relieve them from the various political relations in which the Mission is necessarily involved. He will also give them the benefit of his medical skill, and of his experience of nine years upon the coast. Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and the First Lord of the Admiralty, have furnished Dr. Irving with letters of introduction to the consuls and officers of the squadron, commending his Mission to their good offices.

General Progress of the Mission.

The Rev. H. Townsend thus reports the increase of converts in his district, in a letter dated May 17, 1853—

You will be glad to hear that I baptized forty-three adults last Sunday; and on Sunday next I purpose baptizing twelve adults at Oshielle, the first-fruits of our out-station there. Of these persons there are but five or six from Sierra Leone: the rest are natives, between the ages of 16 and 60. These persons have a clear view of the plan of salvation through Christ, and of the need of regeneration through the Holy Spirit. I take much time, assisted by A. Wilhelm, in making them understand that there are in the sacrament two parts—the outward form and the inward grace, and the danger of trusting in the outward part without realising the grace of God. They are questioned individually and collectively; but I seldom or never ask them about their frames and feelings, for it gives so much room for deceit and delusion. I tell them, if truly they love God, and are His children, and have His Spirit in their hearts, they will show it in their lives. They have sometimes wished to wear some badge of Christianity in their mode of dress; but I dissuade them from any such practices, telling them that there is no need of it, as God Himself puts a mark upon His people, and that mark few can imitate, viz. holiness of heart and life. I believe our converts sincerely give up all worship of false gods. It is seldom we detect any one in idolatry, except under great fear of man; but Christian morals are more frequently violated. But, sad to say, in several instances of immorality that have called for dismissal from the church, Sierra-Leone people have had a hand in teaching them to think lightly of their sin, before or after the fact. The examples they have before them after they embrace Christianity, for the most part are very imperfect, which goes much against their reaching a high standard of Christian conduct. It is a matter of great thankfulness, I think, that our converts increase among the relatives of those already Christians. A husband often follows a wife, or a wife her husband; parents follow their children, or children their parents. It is a testimony, I think, to the good conduct of those who first embrace the truth.

At the conclusion of his half-yearly review, June 25, Mr. Townsend writes—

I must testify that the chiefs, as far as I have had any intercourse with them, have shown any thing but a disposition to persecute: they have assisted me in every case of domestic persecution most willingly, and, as far as I can judge from their conduct in other respects, show a growing attachment to Europeans, and confidence in them, and a greater willingness to see the gospel carried by us to other parts.

The Rev. S. Crowther thus describes the progress of the work in his district—

Jan. 2, 1853—I was this day once more privileged to admit into the church by baptism a goodly number of our candidates, who have been tried and proved sincere, and consistent in their walk in the new faith they have professed. Twenty-nine adults and nine children were baptized. Nearly all the adults were aged persons who have seen the folly of idolatrous worship, they being in the practice of it for years before the introduction of Christianity into this country. They have seen and felt that there was no pardon of sin to be found anywhere else, and through no other sacrifice but that of Jesus Christ, whom we preach to them.

And at a later period he writes—

Aug. 23, 1853—This is a time of struggling, it being the last time for the enemy of body and soul in this country. The two strongholds of Satan, by which thousands are held, namely, the slave-trade and idolatry, are being shaken at their very foundations. The abolition of the slave-trade at Lagos is considered by all as a decided victory over that inhuman traffic; whilst idolatry is becoming more and more disregarded by those who used to place their undivided confidence in it before the introduction of Christianity into the country.

The following specimens may be added, as descriptive of the work in Abbeokuta, from the journals of native catechists. Mr. T. King writes—

Sept. 17: Lord's-day—Mr. Maser being unwell, as Mr. Townsend was not at home I was requested by Mr. Crowther to take the morning service at Ake, while Mr. Barber would come to take mine at Owu. As I was passing through the Itoku market my feelings were quite indescribable at the sight of the multitude, who are totally regardless of this holy day, and busily engaged in their worldly affairs and amusement. Truly, I said in my heart, this is indeed a wilderness of ignorance and superstition! But as soon as I went inside Aké church, and the service had commenced, I found myself completely in a different element; while the sound of the people's voices, in their responses to the excellent liturgy of our church, was like that of a distant murmuring thunder, that I could hardly believe myself to be in Abbeokuta, but as if I was among one of the large congregations in Sierra Leone. I spoke to the people from Acts xiii. 48. They listened with breathless attention, and I might have gone beyond the time in speaking, had not the clock in the church reminded me of the same. Oh, when shall all our churches, at Abbeokuta and elsewhere, be blest with numerous attendants! But He who has wrought so wonderfully here is able to do the same anywhere else.

Mr. T. Macaulay writes—

Sunday, April 17—I walked out this morning to Mr. Müller's shed, and there read to the people Acts xiv. and 1 Peter i., explaining to them as I went on. In the course of my address, one of the company, a man, stepped forward and said, "Allow me to interrupt you. There is one point in which your religion seems to fail, and that is, that you who are persuading us to come over die as well as we. Now, if you could manage to prevent death, then we shall all come over to you." One of the women also stepped forward and said, "I also have a problem which I wish to have solved, and that is, I have seen some of those who embrace your religion in this country become mad, because they have renounced their orishas, which make them mad in consequence." I replied to the woman in this way —"Madness is not the consequence of embracing any religion at all, nor yet is it the effect of the exertion of any orishas whatever, but it is an infirmity which comes upon a person in the way of natural consequence, just as any other ordinary infirmity may. And as for the orishas making anybody mad, it is not true, and seems rather nonsensical, because orishas are nothing, and how can nothing act?" "Well, then," said she, "if that is the case—if persons cannot be made mad by orishas—I will come over to you." In reference to the former objection, which is rather childish, I replied thus—"Our religion does not say that a man will not die the death of the body"—which the objector meant—"but, knowing that we shall die that death, our religion teaches how to prepare for it, by directing us to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. The Son of God is 'the only name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved.'" The man did not reply, but slipped away quietly, I trust with some good impression.

On another occasion the following ingenious argument was alleged by an idolater—

"You wish us to embrace your faith. Now at the first encampment at Abbeokuta, in the time of Shodeke, the late king, Ifa, the god of palm-nuts, was consulted, and he told us that a time was coming when white men should establish themselves in Abbeokuta, and now the prediction is receiving its accomplishment: how, then, should we forsake this Ifa, who has always told us the truth?" This man stated many other things of the sort.

Peace-making intervention of the Missionaries between hostile parties.

The advent of the gospel of Christ in any heathen country is still accompanied by the song, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men." In fields where the Missionaries are the only Europeans, their peace-making influence is often manifested in a very remarkable way. It has been so in New Zealand, and now in Yoruba similar blessings are beginning to appear. One striking instance has occurred in the period now under review.

A war had been carried on for some time between the Egbas of Abbeokuta and the tribes inhabiting Ado and Okeodan, these towns being in league with Dahomey and the slave-traders at Porto Novo. A large force from Abbeokuta had been encamped against Ado for a whole year, and much suffering had been inflicted both on the besiegers and the besieged. In January 1853 one of the officers of the squadron and the vice-consul visited the contending parties, and tried in vain, both by threats and negotiation, to effect a peace. At length the Missionaries were invited to interpose as peace-makers; and Messrs. Townsend and Crowther proceeded to visit the camp. On their way they met with many disabled persons, who were being removed home: some were borne on litters, and others had to halt on their wounded legs the whole distance of sixty miles, having no one to carry them.

The Missionaries were gladly welcomed by the Egbas, and the next step was to gain the confidence of the people of Ado, who knew very little of Europeans. In order to this, they pitched their tent midway between the camp and the town, that it might be understood they did not side with one party or the other, but desired to come between them to make peace. On the chiefs of Ado being informed of their arrival, four unarmed men were sent to salute them. These poor fellows came with trembling, as many Egbas were collected around the tent, gazing significantly on these men, who for ten months had not dared to show themselves beyond their own walls, but now walked into the midst of them without danger of being molested.

After having heard the grievances of the Egbas, the Missionaries next entered the town, in order to have an interview with the chiefs. It witnessed to the miseries of war, that fearful scourge which the pride and ambition of man inflicts upon his fellows: it was in a pitiable state—only a few persons left, and those few the pictures of wretchedness: many houses were without inhabitants, and others had tumbled down. After some negotiation, the conditions of peace proposed by the Egbas were agreed to by the people of Ado. These were, that the Ados should keep open the Badagry road, and secure a safe passage for all persons passing between Badagry and Abbeokuta—both Europeans, and the Egbas and their friends; and that they should not molest any of the towns in friendship with the Egbas.

The Missionaries then returned to the camp, and announced the result to the commander of the Egbas. Peace was proclaimed, when the Egbas immediately fired their camp, and set out on their return home. Mr. Townsend writes—

The Ados seemed to be very grateful for the help we had afforded them, and listened attentively to the word of God spoken to them. They desired, also, that their town might be occupied by us as a Missionary station. Before leaving, on the Monday morning, we planted three trees on the spot occupied by our tent and people: the Ados brought them to us, and we planted them as a memorial of our visit, and of what had been done. We were escorted part of the way by an Ado balogun and his soldiers, a contrast to the times we passed in dread of being kidnapped by the Ados.

On Wednesday the Egbas publicly entered into Abbeokuta, making as great a display as possible. Mr. Crowther and myself were made to walk before Basorun, in the character of mediators, as having brought them home. They wished it to be everywhere known that they came home, not because driven or defeated, but because the white people brought them home, whom they desired not to resist.

I wrote to the admiral an account of our proceedings, and the result, to which he sent a very kind answer of commendation, promising to forward my letter to the government.

We rejoice in being instruments in God's good providence of thus arresting this war, and doubtless of saving many lives, as well as of obtaining some little influence over the Ados, and others interested. We hope the Society will take courage, and give us needful help to take up more stations in this part; a very useful step, I think, towards extending the gospel, and of keeping under the remaining slave-trade influence and habit. You will know, perhaps, that Ado is as celebrated here for the great god Odudua, as Ephesus was in Asia for the goddess Diana, and therefore important as a Missionary station. You will remember Mr. Gollmer's visit to Ado and Okeodan,* and, subsequently, Mr. Van Cooten's visit to Ado.† I should also observe, that persons proceed by canoe from Badagry to Ado, Okeodan, and some distance beyond, to within a convenient distance of Ketu. It will be well to bear this in mind before giving up Badagry as a station.

I should also observe, that the Egba soldiers returned with much less violence and robbery than is usual on such occasions: the people on the road, at several places, expressed their surprise at this, and thanked us for it.

Since then, the Oro‡ has been out for a public meeting, at which kidnapping was prohibited, and peace with Ijebu and Ado proclaimed.

Mr. Crowther, in his account of these transactions, mentions a very remarkable instance of an inhabitant of Ado who had formerly been a hearer of the gospel at Badagry. He writes—

Akibode of Badagry, the priest of Ifa so often mentioned by Mr. Gollmer in his journals, took refuge here, with some of his children who were boarders at Badagry school. This man made himself very useful to the chiefs of Ado, by telling them what he knew of the disinterested character of the English, and advised them to listen to all we should tell them. On Saturday morning, before we had the meeting, he made his little boy, Philip Ige, read a chapter to the chiefs from his English Bible, and a large portion of prayers from the Yoruba Prayer-book, to which Akibode said they all listened with attention. He himself is truly convinced of the truth of Christianity, but, alas! he remains still "almost" a Christian. He called the chief Ikoko to witness, that since he had been to Ado he had not consulted his Ifa twice, and the only time he did so was to satisfy the people, who urged him much to do so for them. Returning from the king's house, to which he had accompanied us, he was very desirous we should visit his abode; and he called the few remaining inmates together, and desired us to speak the word of God to them, for he had done so many times himself. We took the opportunity, and declared to them the gospel of Christ. Akibode informed us that thirteen persons had died in that small compound during the siege of ten months: who can tell the amount of miseries brought on the people through the ambition of one man?

Mr. Crowther concludes his account by a comparison of the position of the Missionaries upon their first arrival in Yoruba—

The people of Ado and Okeodan, whom we feared as enemies when journeying from Badagry to Abbeokuta in 1846, so that we were obliged to employ an escort to lead us through their forest, have now applied for Christian teachers for their respective people. Both Egbas and Ados, as well as the people of Okeodan, now seek for shelter under us when they are within the influence of those with whom they have been at enmity. A mere claim of belonging to the Oibo (white men), or being in our company, is a sufficient protection to clear any out of trouble or imposition. We who are personally concerned in the matter, and on the spot, cannot but feel the change to be great, considering under what circumstances we entered Abbeokuta, and were led through the same streets this day seven years, and cannot but be led to exclaim, "What hath God wrought" by the preaching of His word! To Him be all the praise!*

Missionary Tour of the Rev. H. Townsend to Ijaye, Ife, and Ibadan.

On the 2d of September Mr. and Mrs. Townsend made a Missionary tour to the north and east of Abbeokuta, passing through a country presenting a picturesque appearance from the numerous ranges of granite hills, presenting precipitous cliffs to the south. His tour led him to the town of Berikodo, and the next day to Biolorunpellu, where he received a hearty welcome from an aged chief, Bioku, who hospitably entertained his party for five days.

Sept. 8—We left Biolorunpellu this morning, accompanied to the gate by the old chief, Bioku. His parting salutation gave us much pleasure—"I commit you to the care of God." His hospitality and attention to us during our short stay was of the same cast with this his parting benediction, and gave us a strong desire to bestow upon him and his people that knowledge of God that man's feeble instrumentality is able to communicate.

Mr. Townsend's next stage was to Isehin, an ancient town of 15,000 inhabitants, in which the Mahommedans have numerous mosques and great influence. The next day brought him to Ijaye. From thence, by permission of the king, he visited the king of all the Yoruba tribes at Aggo, or Oyo. At each of these places he had opportunities of explaining to the chiefs the object of the residence of white men amongst them, and everywhere he received respectful attention, and found the people in a measure acquainted with the state of things at Abbeokuta. From Ijaye to Ibadan is seven hours' journey, and from thence Abbeokuta is reached in two days.

A high hill rises above the town of Biolorunpellu, commanding a very extensive prospect, the cool breezes of which proved a great refreshment to the Europeans, though painfully chilly to their native attendants. Mr. Townsend thus describes the suitableness of this town as an out-station—

I sincerely desire that our Society will take up this place as an out-station, which may well be occupied by a sober and right-minded Christian native teacher from Sierra Leone. The population does not, I think, exceed 2000 persons; but there are other places within a convenient distance for visiting. One of these we visited last evening—a village of 300 or 400 people, called Tabo, also situated on the top of a hill, very difficult to ascend, where the people received us with great kindness. The chief would not let us depart without giving us ten strings of cowries—400—as a token of friendship.*

IBADAN.

Occupation of this Station.

In April, the Rev. D. and Mrs. Hinderer, and Mr. Kefer, removed to Ibadan. They met with a very friendly welcome, though the elderly chief, who was Mr. Hinderer's principal friend and adviser at his former visit, had died. Mr. Hinderer states—

I am sorry to find, that, during my visit to England, they engaged extensively in war, especially with the Ijesha people, who are living to the eastward of Ibadan, and from which they had but just returned. Many small towns and villages of that, and I believe, also, other tribes, were destroyed, and the inhabitants of many more deserted their home before the marching army. Their expedition is, however, considered a failure, for they only brought about 5000 captives, and lost no fewer than 2000 of their warriors. Ibadan has indeed been, and still is, a warlike town: for war it was first established, but peace will be their latter end. There are multitudes in this place who hate the very sound of a war-drum; and as on my former visit, so I found them this time, only expressing joy at the message of peace. These facts have always been very encouraging to me in this immense town, which has been "full of the habitations of cruelty" only; yet our hope of success is, and must be, far above what may be called encouraging circumstances, and infinitely beyond the instruments the Lord graciously chooses to use: it is in our covenant God and Saviour, and in His faithful gospel promises to all nations.

Mr. Hinderer speaks of the immense size of the town, as well as of its importance in reference to the interior of Africa, in the following passage—

* A full report of this tour is given in the "Church Missionary Record" for July 1854, pp. 150—155; and further accounts of the Abbeokuta Mission generally in the same Number, pp. 145—162; as also in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for July and November 1853, and July 1854.

From a yard which is in the extremity of the southern suburbs I could overlook a vast extent of the town. There was with me the only native helper we have. As we were looking at the field of houses before us—it was scarcely one half which was in view—I was never so struck with the vastness of the work in our hands, if we look merely on this one place, which seems to grow in one's eyes as one moves about in it. And then there are the towns beyond, and immediately depending upon this, which might be visited if we had the means. Indeed, the need of native help especially seems to be more urgent than ever. Meanwhile, we have comfort, and take courage, in the word of Jehovah, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit."

I was never aware of the influence this town exercises over the interior eastward. Not only towns under its immediate protection, but also those not tributary to this, are afraid to settle any political matter of theirs without the chiefs here. The king of Aggo, too, lately sent his messengers to beg for peace "to get a road to white man." When I heard it, I begged the chief by all means to try his best for it; and a fortnight after he sent to say there was nothing in the way: we may send for a white man, if Atiba* wanted one: he would give them a road through Ibadan.

At the commencement of this, as of every Mission, the time and labour of the Missionaries are necessarily much occupied by the erection of buildings and other preparatory works. But still the word has been preached, and there has been much encouragement. Mr. Hinderer notices the following remarkable reply of a heathen priest—

June 15, 1853—We have hitherto had too much to attend to at home, especially with visitors, and also suffered occasionally from illness: especially Mr. Kefer had some sharp returns of fever, so that only during the last few weeks we were able occasionally to attend to street-preaching. Mr. Kefer goes about it with much heart. We are generally listened to with great attention, and, in order not to be overcrowded, are obliged to choose the most private corners, because everybody wants to hear about the new fashion. As to their own remarks which they make to us, one cannot but be struck at their acknowledging God's hand in all things; and under every dispensation they exclaim, "It is God that does it, and we must bow to it." On going out yesterday morning, I had among my hearers a high-priest of Shango, the god of thunder and lightning. He had heard us before, on a Sunday, at our house; and after repeating what he had then heard, and commenting on what he had just listened to, he said, "The work is great, but you cannot do it;" and then added the following remarkable words, "To speak it is yours; to think about it is ours; but to do it—i.e. to make it have effect—is God's." He invited me afterwards to his house, which was not far, and where we had a long conversation, in the presence of many people.

Mr. Kefer also bears testimony to the eagerness with which the people listen to the tidings of a Saviour's love, and of the blessings which He has purchased for His people—

July 8, 1853—I wanted to go to a remote quarter to deliver my message, but was stopped on the road by a great multitude of poor ignorant heathen. I could not pass on, but dismounted, and spoke to them of the love of God, "who will have all men to be saved" through Christ. (1 Tim. ii. 4, 5.) The word was quite new to them, but it suited their hearts' desire. When I had finished, I wished them the peace of God; upon which they all cried "Atafia!" (peace) stretching out their hands and arms as if to take possession of it, and carry it home to the heart. This is generally the case, but I noticed it here more especially.*

IJAYE.

Commencement of a Station.

In February 1853 Mr. Mann arrived at Ijaye to enter upon the Mission, which had been commenced by the previous visit of Mr. Townsend, and the location there of Mr. Charles Phillips, the native catechist.

At this Station the inquirers have been exposed to severe persecution. They have been assailed by the opposition of persons in authority, and the ridicule of the people. A few, however, have stood firm, and have been formed into a Bible class. Here, also, as in other Missions, the courage and decision of the female converts have been most remarkable. One married woman said to the Missionary, "I pray three times a day to God. In the morning, when it is yet dark, I awake: all is silent round me: then I cast myself upon God. In the noon and in the evening, when my husband is in the farm, I find time to pray that God may keep me in His good way." This poor woman endured with patience severe scourging rather than worship the country gods, and was at length sent back to her parents, which is equivalent to a divorce. She has hitherto remained firm to her God.

In his journal, May 30, Mr. Mann writes—

To-day a Sierra-Leone man, a Mahommedan, called upon me, on his journey from Illorin to Lagos. He gave me some account of that town. The number of the Mahommedans is a little more than the half of about 70,000. Both parties are well disposed towards English people, because they have heard of their kind dealing with captured slaves, who were saved out of the hands of the Portuguese. The name of the present chief is Zitta. Perhaps, by a visit, friendship might be previously established, and the high estimation which we enjoy now might be kept up.

May 31—Being depressed by the slow progress of the work, Are comforted me by his question, "How could people already understand the word? Have your fathers done so in one day?" I said, "No." I asked him if I should give him instruction. He said, "I am a great man: I don't want this."

The concluding remarks of Mr. Mann's last journal show the peculiar difficulties which will attend a Mission, when a despotic sovereign is a patron of idolatry.

Many tokens for better times are given by the hearers. One afternoon I spoke under a tree of small compass to about twenty or thirty adults. Rain came. I feared a stop, but a near and empty blacksmith's shop afforded shelter. But it is small: who shall go in, and who not? A set of children had already taken possession of the best part, but they quickly yielded to the threatening fists of the men. There I was placed on the bellows, the inner space filled with black faces, and behind me a strong hand kept my umbrella over three or four standing in the rain. Plainly they confessed, after an hour of speaking and discussion, "It is true and good what you say; but we cannot take it up, for Are is the head of the Shango worshippers, of the Ifa, &c., and what the head does we must do." O that the Church of Christ would so say and do, and not fear! The practical impossibility of adhering to us is clearly impressed upon them by the head. In my presence he said to a man, who refused to worship the Shango of his mother, "If Shango does not kill you, I will kill you." In this position all men of influence, or any one who has a bigoted idol-worshipper to accuse him, are placed; and it is from an independent part of the population that we may gather a congregation. Of such my class for more familiar instruction is composed. About twelve or fourteen persons gather twice a week for an hour or two round me: five are Sierra-Leone people, who cause me altogether much grief, six are heathen, and two Mahommedan women of Haussa or Gambari extraction. Of these, some three or four might be baptized, but various reasons induce me to delay it.

KETU.

The last Report recorded the very friendly reception of Mr. Crowther by the king of Ketu, upon his visit to that town. Six months after that visit, news arrived of the death of the king. Mr. Barber was immediately sent to express the condolence of the Missionaries with the elders of the town upon the loss of so wise and good a ruler. He was introduced to an assembly of the elders, who expressed their willingness to countenance a Mission to their town; but they were then engaged in the various ceremonies connected with the election of a new king, which are often prolonged for two years.

Translations, &c.

The Rev. S. Crowther writes, March 25, 1853—

I hope the Primers are on the way now to us, and the Prayer-book, also, will soon follow. There is an impatient demand for them. Cowries are offered beforehand, in order to ensure a copy on their arrival.

The Rev. H. Townsend reports, June 25, 1853—

I should also state that we receive much aid from Mr. Crowther's translations and Vocabulary: they are eagerly read by our converts. The price of the Vocabulary is rather above our means, and of course can be of use only to those who learn English. The time will come, I believe, when a great number of persons will be able to read English: our converts, of an age to learn, manifest great desire for it.

The book of Exodus has been translated and printed. Mr. Crowther then commenced with the Psalms, of which he thus speaks—

Nearly half of the Psalms is in manuscript. One is amply rewarded in going so leisurely through this rich portion of God's holy word. I hope our converts shall soon be put in possession of it, that they may feed upon its most abundant riches for their comfort and support through the various changes in the course of a Christian pilgrimage here below.

This work also has been completed, and other portions are in a course of translation.

Prospects.

The Committee still look forward with some apprehension to the issue of the desperate struggle which the agents of the slave-trade are making to revive it, through Dahomey on the west, and by aid of Kosoko on the east, and to drive away the Missionaries. But they have heard, with great satisfaction, that the king of Dahomey has lately invited a kindred Society—the Wesleyan Missionary Society—to open a Mission in his capital, and that steps are being taken for that end: so that henceforth it is hoped that these two hostile tribes will be united together in the bonds of a "common salvation." Rear-admiral Bruce also visited the Committee, upon his returning from the command of the West-African station, in order to testify in person his sense of the vast importance of the work in which the Society is engaged, and to encourage them in the hope that a treaty which he effected with Kosoko and his chiefs would secure the peace of Lagos. The Committee trust that the Lord, for His Name's sake, will hold this infant Mission in "the hollow of His hand."

EAST-AFRICA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived in 1844.)

Mission Establishment:

3 Ordained European Missionaries.

During the first part of the year 1853 the three Missionaries remained upon the coast. Dr. Krapf, at Rabbai Mpia, collected a small class of Wanika, who were accustomed to meet him regularly every morning, to hear the word of God explained to them; but he could discover little fruit in the lives of these people. His linguistic researches have been extended through the means of an Mkuafi slave from the upper banks of the Pangani river, with whom he became acquainted at Mombas, and from whom he compiled a vocabulary of the Kikuafi language, which has been printed.

Failure of Dr. Krapf's health.

About the middle of the year Dr. Krapf received intelligence from Ukambani that the tribe of Kivoi had avenged on the people of Mbé the death of their chief, and that he might now return with safety into that country. This he immediately prepared to do, but illness prevented the execution of his purpose. The following extracts from a letter dated Caïro, Nov. 14, explain the circumstances of his return—

The thoughts, desires, and prayers of my heart were then fixedly directed towards the Mission on Mount Kadiāro; but the thoughts of the Lord are generally far different from our plans and wishes. I tried to start from Rabbai in the middle of September; but when I, with my little caravan, entered on the Turuma territory, I met with a band of Wanika, armed with clubs and poisoned arrows. They forced us to return to Rabbai without delay. It was in vain to appeal to the Imam of Muscat's authority, who claims the Turuma territory as belonging to his dominions. The enraged people said that I must pay sixteen dollars in every village, in order to obtain permission to proceed through their country; and that I must take half of my baggage-bearers from the Turuma tribe. I of course could not and would not submit to these conditions, but laid my complaint before the governor of Mombas, and meditated upon some other route which I could choose in proceeding to Kadiāro.

But whilst my thoughts were engaged in these matters, my complaints alarmingly increased, and compelled me to leave East Africa by the boats which sail in October to Arabia.

I left Mombas on the 11th of October, and reached Aden on the 2d instant. I cannot express what I suffered on this voyage; and even now, after I have found, as it were, a quiet home at Aden, I am far from being well, some lingering fever, &c., with other complaints, beating on my poor earthly vessel. But in all these tossings of body and mind I seize upon my never-failing anchor, Jesus Christ, "the Captain of our salvation." I throw myself entirely on Him for life or death—for returning to Africa, or for removal from it for ever. He does not want such a miserable and sinful being as I am. He can carry out His designs without me.

Dr. Krapf has arrived in Europe in improved health, and hopes to return in the course of the year to East Africa.

General Labours on the coast.

The Rev. J. Rebmann, in a letter dated Kisulutini, Sept. 15, 1853, writes—

The tidings we have to give you, after the lapse of another half-year, will bear the usual character of outward, at least apparent security, with an exceeding slow and almost imperceptible development of the Mission.

Our dear Abbegonja is now living with his family on our ground. I have lent him a room in one of the cottages, which were originally constructed for our servants, until he shall have built one himself. Thus an opportunity is given me of imparting to him a more thorough, because regular, instruction. Another middle-aged man, one of his neighbours, was induced to join him in his prayers, and spending the Lord's-days with us, but without having truly left the service of sin and Satan.

Suspension of the Usambára Mission.

On the 9th of August 1853 the Rev. James Erhardt visited the king of Usambára, by name Kimeri, or Kmeri. He resided for three months at a country residence of the king, having frequent intercourse with him, waiting for permission to commence a Mission in his dominions. Political jealousies, and the threat of war by the Imam of Muscat, at length caused the king to send him out of his dominions, and he returned to the Missionary Station at Kisulutini at the end of December.

Mr. Erhardt represents the condition of the people as very miserable, exposed to continual alarms from the incursion of the hostile tribes, and to all the debasing influences of an internal slave-trade. The abject superstition of the king, who was always accompanied by a sorcerer, closed his ears to the message of the Missionary, so that Mr. Erhardt met with no encouragement in the dominions of Usambára; and, upon his return to Zanzibar, the Imam opposed the formation of a Mission in that direction beyond the Imam's own territory, which is confined to the sea-coast. Mr. Erhardt returned, therefore, to his companions at Kisulutini. Both Missionaries concur in the opinion that all the roads into the interior are for the present closed against them. They propose, therefore, to devote themselves to the study of the various languages of the east coast, so that some preparation may be made for an advance of the Mission whenever the providence of God shall open the way.

But the Committee, though "perplexed, are not in despair." Their hopes of a chain of Missions across the continent of Africa are for a time "cast down, but not destroyed." They wait for a personal interview with Dr. Krapf, before they decide upon the measures which may be adopted for the revival of the East-Africa Mission.*

General View.

THE experience of another year in Syria has confirmed the Committee in the views and principles maintained by this Society, that the best hope of reviving the ancient churches of the East is to preach and to teach the word of God to the people generally, and to provide the means of grace for those who cannot, with a safe conscience, continue in their own communions. If this be called proselytism, the Society will not refuse the name.

The able and devoted Anglican Bishop at Jerusalem is largely promoting the knowledge of the truth, and gaining upon the respect and confidence of all parties, even of those who "follow not with" him. It has been the privilege of your Missionaries to strengthen his hands, to receive the benefit of his wise counsel, and to share in the success with which God has owned his labours. The murmurs of a faction in our church against his proceedings have happily been rebuked by the voice of the four archbishops of the united Church of England and Ireland.*

During the last year, the Society's operations have been extended to Bethlehem, and to Jaffa, the ancient Joppa. In these, with Nazareth and Sychar, little companies of the inhabitants of the Holy Land assemble, as 1800 years ago, to hear from the lips of evangelists "all things that are commanded of God." The bishop writes, in his annual letter—

The small Protestant communities in Jerusalem, Bethlehem, and Jaffa, are under the special care of the zealous Mr. Sandreczki, of the Church Missionary Society, with the help of my scripture-reader, Michael. There are schools at Bethlehem and Jaffa, containing each about twenty children, almost all boys. The Rev. A. Klein, of the Church Missionary Society, having been absent from his post the last summer, I fear the Protestant community at Nazareth, consisting of about 200, with the children, have not made much progress. There have been misunderstandings of late; but there seems to be a good nucleus of persons of both sexes, who have continued, in the absence of their pastor, to meet almost daily to read the word of God, and to pray together.

In another part of the same letter, after speaking of trials and disappointments, the bishop adds—"On the other hand, the work takes a more decided form and deeper root."

The past year has been signalized by fresh privileges granted to Protestant converts, and by the extension to every Christian sect of the most important civil rights. The whole of the Turkish dominions are open to the free circulation of God's word, and to the labours of Christian Missionaries. But a new and momentous crisis has arisen, on which hangs the fate of all Protestant Missions within the Turkish dominions. The iron arm of Russia was first lifted up. The protectorate which she claims over the Greek Christians in Turkey would doubtless, if obtained, partake of the stern intolerance which exists within her own dominions; where she denies the rights of conscience, and forbids any change of religion, even the conversion of the heathen, except into the bosom of the Greek church; where, for thirty-one years, not a copy of the Scriptures in modern Russ has been allowed to be printed or imported, nor even the Hebrew Bible to be circulated for the benefit of two millions of Jews who reside in Russian-Poland. These facts, lately stated in the British Parliament, show what interests are at issue in the present struggle. But the event is with God. Apart from all political speculation, the Christian is privileged to repose upon the assurance that the Lord will protect an advancing gospel. The war in China, in Sinde, in the Punjab, have been overruled to the furtherance of the gospel. "This also cometh forth from the Lord of Hosts, which is wonderful in counsel, and excellent in working."

JERUSALEM.

Mr. Sandreczki has resided here, occasionally visiting the out-stations, encouraging and assisting the native converts to exert themselves for their own support, and affording to numerous inquirers, who visit Jerusalem, Christian instruction in the various languages of which he is master. He thus describes the destitute condition to which the poor Protestants are reduced upon their separation, for conscience' sake, from their former communions—

Dec. 31, 1853—As soon as a native secedes from his church he becomes an outcast. He is dislodged, and loses all his former advantages of employment or support, and very often many, if not all, the customers upon whom he depends for the exercise of his trade or profession for his very subsistence. The same was most certainly the case in the days of the apostles, of whom Paul was most sedulous in collecting money for the destitute brethren in Jerusalem. Nobody would think of calling this act of charity bribery; nor would even our adversaries here accuse us of bribery for the mere act of assisting poor members of our congregation. If we held out to them some uncommon reward before they enter our communion, we should make ourselves liable to such an accusation. As soon as they belong to our congregation, it is considered our duty—not by them only, no, even by the Greeks, and Latins, and Mahommedans—to assist them; to give them employment; to establish schools and hospitals among them; to supply the most destitute among them with food and clothing, &c.

The Committee abstain, upon principle, from devoting any portion of the funds of the Society to temporal relief, except so far as they connect industrial employments with our schools. A subsidiary fund has been raised by a few benevolent individuals for relieving, through the Missionaries, special cases of distress in Palestine. It is to be hoped that this fund may meet with sufficient encouragement to preserve the Missionaries from the painful alternative described in the foregoing extract. The Committee have been happy to learn, from a subsequent communication, that the native converts are exerting themselves for the relief of their poorer brethren.

Abu Daoud has been ill some time, and is in want. The brethren fear that the Greeks, by supporting him, will gain him over to their church. We have not the means at present to assist him; but in order to meet such an emergency in future, we held a meeting last week, and resolved that a box be made, into which every one, on each Sunday after divine service, is to put his mite, according to his ability, founding this on the words of Paul, 1 Cor. xvi. 2, "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him." Last Sunday we began, each putting in his mite; but the brethren remarked that Mr. Sandreczki ought to put in the leaven (al khameera).

Great care has been taken to test the sincerity of all who seek to join the Protestant community, and to exclude such as would bring disgrace upon their Christian profession. Mr. Sandreczki reports, at the close of the year—

Under the clearing process which has taken place last year in our congregations here, and at Jaffa particularly, the number of new inquirers has been small; but I dare say our work has attained greater solidity: and, however little I am inclined to indulge myself in hopes or flattering views, yet I think a progress is visible in the development of the inner life of our converts. As a result of this development, we must consider the increasing interest in religious inquiry which manifests itself in the meetings of their wives, because it is evident that the husbands have greatly contributed to raise this interest by their conversations in the domestic circle.

Another gratifying sign of the same nature is the Society which our converts here are forming on behalf of their most destitute brethren. It is but a weak attempt, without adequate means, but the intention is the principal thing; and I pray from all my heart that the Lord will grant His blessing and His supreme patronage.*

Nazareth.

In the early part of the year Mr. Klein left Nazareth, with the Committee's sanction, for a visit to England, a young pious German schoolmaster being put in charge of the Station during his absence. In a letter dated Feb. 7, 1853, just before he left, he writes—"The work at Nazareth and the neighbourhood is going on quietly. The Lord is bestowing His blessing on weak and unworthy labours."

Mr. Klein returned to Nazareth in the following November. He found that, during his absence, many difficulties and some disorders had arisen among the converts. He expresses his hope, however, that these events would be overruled for good, and he gives, Nov. 22, 1853, the following account of the progress of the work—

The discontented parties wish to be reconciled, and desire to receive the Lord's supper as a sign and seal of their reconciliation and mutual brotherly love. I had a deputation since from Er Reneh, a village about an hour's distance from here. About forty-five men have declared themselves Protestants, and wish now to have a school opened. I shall (D. V.) go there, as they wish to have some children baptized. I do not doubt the sincerity of some, and hope that the Lord will bless my feeble endeavours to bring them to the knowledge of the truth.

I have now begun to repair the house. The meetings on Sundays I have transferred to the schoolroom, which is, however, by far too small; and as it is a vault, without any window, I must make some other arrangements. Last Sunday I had divine service there; but the mass of people assembled, and the want of windows, caused such a closeness that I was scarcely able to perform the service.

Nablous.

The Rev. W. Krusé, lately attached to the Caïro Mission, was appointed by the Committee, under the advice of the Anglican Bishop at Jerusalem, to take the charge of the Christian flock at Nablous. He arrived there, with Mrs. Krusé, in June 1853; but after a few months' residence he removed to Jaffa, in consequence of the inconvenience of the residence, and the prejudicial influence of the locality upon the health of his family. The Committee trust that they shall soon be enabled to secure a resident Missionary at this station. In the mean time the school is kept up by a master appointed by the bishop.

Visit of the Secretary of the Society, the Rev. W. Knight.

The Rev. W. Knight, Secretary of the Society, was commissioned to make a personal examination of the Syra, Smyrna, and Caïro Missions in his way to Ceylon.

The Committee have received from him interesting and important information respecting each of those localities. Mr. Knight thus describes his visit to the schools at Syra—

The morning after my arrival I visited our schools. The school-house is a commodious and substantial building, one story high; the ground floor let to the master of a boys'-school, unconnected with our Mission here, but where the Bible is made a text-book: the upper story is occupied by our own pupils, and comprises a large school-room, with three class rooms and a tract depository adjoining. You will readily believe that I looked with no little interest on the work here in progress—the first scene of our foreign operations which it had been my privilege to witness. It is quite on a par with the average of national schools in England, and superior to many; and, compared with the Government schools in Syra, the order and discipline of it contrast very favourably. Had I found it in an English parish I should have been well satisfied with it. It is conducted on the Lancastrian plan, with the aid of monitors: the upper classes appear well trained and intelligent. There are 199 children on the books: about 150 were present. They are divided into three classes, the lowest comprising three-fourths of the whole. The Bible is the only text-book of religious instruction, and is taken home by the children, the catechism of the Greek church not being used here.

The infant-school has 64 children on the books, 47 in attendance, in excellent order, and the most satisfactory part of the whole.

Mr. Hildner gives the school religious instruction from the New Testament, and he speaks with evident sincerity of the pleasure which he finds in it. Our brother's other opportunities of usefulness are very limited, though I think he makes the most of them—Sunday services in English or German for the crews of vessels lying in the harbour, and the two or three Protestant residents there; a weekly prayer-meeting at his own house for the members of the Mission and any others; religious instruction privately to two or three German children.

Although I cannot regard the Syra schools as so directly falling within the sphere of our Society's operations as to justify the expenditure upon them of funds contributed for strictly Missionary purposes, yet I should much regret seeing them altogether fall to the ground: and should Mr. Hildner find it impossible to maintain them on a self-supporting basis, I hope that the private benevolence of Christian friends, who are specially interested in the Levant, may supply the 200*l.* or 300*l.* per annum which may then be needed to keep them in operation. In the exclusion of pictures, and of the Greek catechism, and the prominence given to the Scriptures in the instruction, they have been a standing witness in the island on behalf of pure Protestantism; and it would be hard to believe that the salt of scriptural principles has not secretly been diffusing its savour, through their means, in many of the islanders' hearts and homes.

After much careful consideration of the subject, the Committee have determined to place the Syra schools upon a self-supporting system, by requiring a sufficient payment to cover the expenses of instruction. The Society will still continue to pay the salary of Mr. Hildner as long as he is able to continue in charge of the school; but should he be removed, the school will be altogether cast upon its own resources, and cease to be a branch of the Society's operations.

In his journal for 1853 Mr. Hildner states—

Book distribution can be pursued at present with all possible liberty; yea, the holy Scriptures are about to be introduced anew into all the schools of Greece, for the present director of the elementary schools in Greece is much in favour of it, and a very zealous man.

I have been united by the Minister of Instruction in a commission with two Greek gentlemen of Syra, for the purpose of revising a manual on infant-schools for the kingdom of Greece, and affording additional advice and information respecting infant education.

SMYRNA.

Mission Establishment:

1 Ordained European Missionary.
1 Native Assistant.

Visit of the Rev. W. Knight.

Mr. Knight gives the following encouraging account of the prospects connected with this Mission—

Mission work at Smyrna, amongst the Greeks, may be divided fourfold—Preaching the gospel; Christian knowledge imparted conversationally; Missionary tours; Circulation of books and tracts.

1. Preaching the gospel.—This is confined on Sunday to an evening service in Greek, held alternately at the houses of Messrs. Wolters and Dalessio, and conducted by the latter at his own house on those days when Mr. Wolters has his German service. The congregation is but limited. The number of Greeks sometimes reaches eight or ten, including four adult baptized Protestants and two of their children; and in addition the congregation embraces several members of English families born in Smyrna, with whom Greek is the vernacular tongue. Last Sunday Mr. Wolters had the communion in Greek at his own house, two English ladies being present. He proposes to make another attempt to hold the service in the Consulate chapel, Mr. Lewis making no objection. Curiosity may attract passers-by. A prayer-meeting, with exposition of a chapter of the New Testament, is also held on Wednesday evenings, alternately at Mr. Wolters' and Mr. Dalessio's. I attended last Wednesday at Mr. Dalessio's, and his extempore exposition was fluent and earnest, and appeared to fix the attention of his auditors.

2. Christian knowledge imparted conversationally.—Mr. Wolters loses no opportunity of mingling with the people, and endeavouring to give their intercourse a religious turn; but this part of the work is sustained principally by Mr. Dalessio, whose character and qualifications Mr. Wolters rates very highly.

3. Missionary tours.—Mr. Wolters' experience leads him to think that frequent journeys and short distances are likely to be productive of more results than more lengthened expeditions into the interior; and he fixes upon villages which contain one or more Protestant Christians as the centres of future congregations. One such is Kassaba, about twelve hours to the north-east. Here resides an Ionian Greek, an English subject, named Monte Santo. He now keeps an apothecary's shop, and is ready to open a dépôt for Bibles and other books. It was from American Missionaries that he first heard the gospel; Mr. Jetter's teaching was afterwards a help and blessing to him; but his clear and decided Protestantism is to be attributed to his becoming acquainted with the Prayer-book of the Church of England, in which he witnessed the retention of episcopacy, with an absence of the unscriptural dogmas of the Greek church. He is a man of tender heart, and yet does not mince matters. He has spoken boldly to the Bishop of Magnesia on their points of difference, and is not ashamed of the reproach of Christ.

Giaour Koi, about eight hours south-east of Smyrna.—This is the residence of the interesting Greek priest with whom Mr. Wolters' letters have already made you acquainted. He spent a night with us, and how earnestly did I pray that such instances might be multiplied a hundredfold. You know that he was originally a servant, first to the American Missionaries, and afterwards to Mr. Jetter. With him the enlightenment of the soul appears to have been a very gradual work. Had his views been once as clear as they now are, he would not have sought admission to the priesthood; but he did so in the early glimmerings of his religious conviction, from a notion that he would thus be able to consecrate himself the more entirely to God. Now it is different with him. When employed as assistant in the Greek church at Boujah he was constrained to relinquish the post, as his fellow-priests would not allow him to read the service sufficiently slow for the people to understand it. Latterly, his conscience has compelled him to discontinue all his sacerdotal functions, and he speaks, alas! at Giaour Koi, to but unwilling ears, for the people do not like his faithful pastoral reproofs of their wicked ways: rather do they love those who will tell them, as a priest did lately, when asked by one of his flock if he might steal his neighbour's honey, that it is no sin, provided no man sees them. "The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so: and what will ye do in the end thereof?" Our Levant brethren stand in special need of our lively sympathy and earnest prayers, to lift up those hands that they are all day long stretching out "to a disobedient and gainsaying people."

A third village, to the westward, Vourlah, has also been visited by Mr. Wolters. It is the stronghold of superstition and Mariolatry; but there is one Greek there who is a well-disposed man, and a Protestant at heart, and the deacon there is acquainted with Mr. Wolters' volume of Greek sermons, and has, indeed, made some use of them in the church. At Pergamos he found much opposition to the gospel, but purposes revisiting it, and extending his journeys to the islands of Mitylene, Scio, and Samos, touching, also, at those points on the mainland which appear to present an opening.

4. In the circulation of books and tracts, and the preparation of translations, there is the principal need of extension. Colporteurs might be advantageously employed, but the difficulty is to find them. It is also desirable to have a book-shop in a prominent situation.

Mr. Wolters has found the four Homilies, published at the expense of the Prayer-book and Homily Society, very valuable, and is preparing others. Their figurative style, and references to the Fathers, make them very acceptable to the oriental Christians. Mr. Wolters also anticipates much good from the publication, by the same Society, of a Greek translation of our Ordination Services and Articles in a separate form.

In a letter from Mr. Wolters, January 20, 1854, he announces the adoption of the measure recommended by Mr. Knight.

After seeking long—for any locality does not answer our purpose—we have succeeded at last in finding, in one of the most frequented streets of Smyrna, a book-shop, which serves at the same time as a depository, and meeting-room for holding occasional conversations with individuals. Here the word of God, in different languages, Prayer-books, Tracts, &c., are exposed to the view of the passers-by. Time must be allowed, of course, to speak of the result. Though the merchandise here offered is the most precious that Smyrna possesses, yet men in their worldly-mindedness pass by without noticing even these "pearls of great price." But I am happy to say some do notice them, and what we have sold since the shop was opened—a little more than a month—has not at all discouraged us. The first book we sold was the word of God in ancient and modern Greek; then followed a Turkish New Testament and Psalms, bought by a Turk, &c.

CAÏRO.

Mission Establishment:

1 Ordained European Missionary.	1 Native Teacher.
1 European Female Teacher.	2 Native Female Teachers.

Visit of the Rev. W. Knight.

Mr. Knight gives the following as the result of his investigation of the Mission at Caïro—

Mr. Lieder has, every evening, a meeting for reading the Scriptures and discussion, which is held in a large room on the ground-floor, and is attended by from fifteen to thirty Copts, sometimes a bishop and priests, and also a few Greeks and Roman Greeks. Mr. Lieder gave me several instances in which he had introduced controversy, and these discussions appear to spread. The fact, however, that such discussions could go on for so many years, and yet produce no visible results, is to my mind another proof, that, valuable as these may have been as preparatory measures, the time is now come for more aggressive operations. Mr. Lieder is quite prepared to take this view of his own work, and assured me repeatedly, that any younger brethren, whom the Committee might direct so to act, should have his cordial aid and encouragement.

At the same time the Coptic church is now presenting an aspect of peculiar hopefulness. The new Metropolitan—not yet Patriarch—understands what conversion is, and knows something of the spiritual conflict of the inner man. He has no power till recognised as Patriarch by the Pasha; and three of the Bishops, who dread him as a reformer, have petitioned against him. It is, however, most likely that he will be installed by the Moslem authorities: then he will be able to speak out, and no very long time will serve to show how far we may look with hope on his administration.

BOMBAY AND WESTERN-INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionary first arrived in 1820.)

Mission Establishment:

10 Ordained European Missionaries.	1 East-Indian Catechist.
2 Ordained Native Missionaries.	1 East-Indian Female Teacher.
1 European Catechist.	8 Native Catechists.
1 European Female Teacher.	15 Native Teachers.

THE small Missionary band in this presidency has been weakened by the return, through failure of health, of the Rev. E. Rogers. Two additional labourers have been sent out, but they only arrived at the close of the year.

BOMBAY.

Christian Congregation.

The Rev. J. S. S. Robertson, at the beginning of last year, suggested the collecting together all the native Christians in Bombay into one locality, so as to form a Christian village, with a school, and a room for public worship. The plan was cordially approved of by the Bishop and the Corresponding Committee, and suitable premises were engaged for the experiment. The Rev. J. Bunter removed from Malligaum to Bombay to superintend this native congregation. The Bishop writes, May 5, 1853—

We are trying to induce as many of our native Christians as we can to quit their wretched abodes among the heathen, and to live together in a suitable spot, which we have temporarily engaged for their use. Mr. Bunter will reside there; and a simple room has been adapted as a chapel for their daily family-worship and their Sunday services. It is in an excellent locality, removed from the bazaars, surrounded with gardens, and, being at a very little distance from my own residence, I often look into it with great delight.

The closer observation, however, of the native converts brought to light several cases of insincerity and disorderly conduct, which led to their exclusion from the list of Christians. "The past year," says the Annual Report, "has been marked rather by pruning and weeding than by growth. Various trials have been appointed to the Mission; but we look upon them as preparations for growth and usefulness."

Mr. Bunter does not confine his labours to the native congregation, but endeavours to bring the gospel before the heathen population. He has commenced a systematic visitation of the native houses, for the purpose of distributing Christian tracts and holding conversations with the residents.

Class of Preparandi.

Early in the year the class of Preparandi, under the care and instruction of Mr. Robertson, underwent considerable changes, which resulted in the breaking up of the class, and the employment of some of the students as catechists. A new field of labour, however, was opened for Mr. Robertson, for which his attainments eminently fitted him, viz. that of editing the revised edition, in Marathi, of the Old-Testament Scriptures. This important work had become suspended through the departure of the Rev. D. O. Allen, of the American Mission; and Mr. Robertson was requested by the Committee of the Bombay Auxiliary Bible Society to take it up, an arrangement which the Corresponding Committee had much pleasure in sanctioning. Mr. Robertson has much enjoyment in this portion of his labours.

During the early part of the year, and until interrupted by the rainy season, Mr. Robertson had a weekly class of well-educated young Hindu men, to further their improvement in English literature. This he undertook in consequence of a petition having been presented to him to that effect. Mr. Robertson willingly complied with this request, under the conviction that it would open to him opportunities of usefulness.

The Money Institution.

This institution remained under the charge of the Rev. W. S. Price until the close of the year, when it was transferred to the care of the Rev. A. Davidson. The number of pupils has been sustained, amounting at the close of the year to 402. The Corresponding Committee have been as yet disappointed in their hopes of procuring the whole of the adjoining premises necessary for the enlargement of the school-buildings. Mr. Price reports, respecting the religious instruction of the pupils—" My aim has been, on these occasions, to set before them the excellency of the gospel, and to urge them to embrace it. I have found them uniformly attentive, and sometimes apparently affected by what was said; but beyond this, I regret to say, I can add nothing."

A lending-library is attached to the Money Institution, containing about 1000 volumes. It is especially designed for the monitors and senior pupils of the institution, but it is accessible to all respectable native youths upon the payment of a small subscription fee.

The Vernacular Schools.

These, under the superintendence of Mr. Sargon, are nine in number, containing 617 boys and 18 girls. Mrs. Jerrom has continued her school of 32 boys and 17 girls; and a weekly lecture is given in the schoolroom to the parents and friends of the children—of whom from 50 to 60 attend—by the catechist or Missionary. The schools superintended by Miss White contain 164 boys and 210 girls. She has been cheered by the general attention and good conduct of the children, and by the conversion and baptism of one of her former pupils, who fled to her protection from the cruelty of a heathen husband; but, through Miss White's endeavours, a reconciliation was brought about, and the husband and wife are now living quietly together. Miss White holds a meeting for scripture reading each Sunday afternoon, for the benefit of the friends of the children, which averages from 20 to 30. A number of Brahmins are among the attendants. Miss White gives two pleasing incidents connected with this meeting. She says—"One Sabbath a learned Shastrí maintained that God was in every thing; upon which nine Brahmins stood up and said, 'We have all along been believing and teaching lies.' " One man, who was in the habit of attending regularly, died lately. He assured Miss White, who went to see him in his illness, that he looked only to Christ for salvation; and he would neither himself make the usual idolatrous offering for his recovery, nor suffer his relatives to do so.

NASIK.

The ordinary duties at this station have been carried on uninterruptedly by the Rev. C. C. Menge, assisted by native catechists. Mr. Menge writes—

I have great satisfaction in stating, that, with the exception of two individuals who were suspended from Christian privileges for some time, all the members of the native church have conducted themselves in a manner more worthy their profession as Christians. Moreover, the peaceful joy which animated those in their last moments who were called to their eternal rest, is, I think, a sufficient proof that they knew in whom they believed.

The gospel is preached to the heathen almost daily in Nasik and the neighbouring villages, and generally quietly and respectfully listened to. During the last year 107 villages were visited, and tracts and portions of the Scripture sold and given away. Mr. Menge is generally accompanied by Mrs. Menge, who is able to converse with the females, and generally collects a considerable group of them around her.

JUNÍR.

The native pastor, the Rev. Daji Pandurung, is stationed here, and spends much of his time in itinerating. He has furnished the Committee with a journal of his visits to 102 villages. In a recent visit which he paid to Toka and the neighbouring district, he baptized four adults and three children, who had been for some time under the instruction of the scripture reader, Ramji, and whom Mr. Daji had examined on a previous occasion, but was not then satisfied as to their preparedness.

At Junír Mr. Daji assembles the native Christians for daily worship and instruction. The school-children likewise receive almost daily instruction from him. Mr. Daji also seeks every opportunity to get the respectable inhabitants of Junír into religious conversations.

The schools have somewhat fallen off.

MALLIGAUM.

Upon the removal of the Rev. James Bunter to Bombay, in April 1853, a native catechist, Appaji Bapuji, supplied his place, and has laboured diligently and acceptably under the guidance of the Rev. Charles Laing, chaplain of the Station, to whom the Society is much indebted for his very valuable aid. No baptism had taken place, but there were six candidates for it under preparation.

The strikingly happy death of one of the native Christians, named Peroji, afforded much encouragement to Mr. Appaji. The character he bore during life was exemplary, and God dealt graciously with him in vouchsafing him a happy departure.

The number of the native congregation has been considerably reduced. Two have absconded; one gone to live at another village; and three have been removed for misconduct, who took with them their four children. The congregation now consists of 19, viz. 8 men, 8 women, 1 boy, and 2 girls; of whom 7 are communicants.

At the detached station of Dhulia there is a congregation of 10, viz. 3 men, 2 women, 2 boys, and 3 girls; of whom 2 are communicants.

The English school consists of 33 boys, and the Marathí of 44 boys.

KARACHÍ.

The Rev. E. Rogers was compelled by ill-health to return to Europe in March last, and the whole duty of the station has devolved upon the Rev. A. Matchett.

At the Karachí fair, in Dec. 1852, and Jan. 1853, the first stall that was established was that which our Missionaries opened for the sale of Bibles and religious books; but owing to the small attendance at the fair, only about 120 were sold. Upon vacating the stall our Missionaries opened a shop in the town for the sale of their precious ware. About 300 books, large and small, have been sold during the year. With respect to this Mr. Matchett says—"This number will not be regarded as insignificant, when it is considered that few of the people of Karachí have as yet acquired a love for reading."

Early in the year the Missionaries were able to commence preaching in the bazaars: the first attempt of Mr. Matchett is thus recorded in his journal—

Feb. 9—I went out to-day into the bazaar, and read a chapter, in the middle of the public square, to about thirty or forty people, who soon congregated. This was my first attempt, and a bitter trial to flesh and blood. Indeed, I question whether I should have gone if the zeal of one of our recent converts had not shamed me into doing so. I am thankful to say the shame disappeared as soon as I began to read.

Converts and Inquirers.

At this station the Missionaries have been encouraged, even in the present very early stage of their labours, by several conversions of persons belonging to the upper ranks of native society, who, like the majority of the population at this place, visit it as an emporium of commerce, or a port of embarkation. The case of Abdullah was described in the last Report. Mr. Matchett gives a striking proof of the sincerity of this Christian convert. He accidentally discovered, that, though he had scarcely sufficient for himself, he was supporting a recent inquirer, that he might give his whole time to Christian instruction. When it was discovered, he was ashamed to have his good deeds brought to light, and said, "If I get a situation, such as I am capable of filling, then I hope to spend most of my salary in this way; but if I cannot get such a situation, I will gladly earn my bread by carrying burdens." This man had formerly held an office under government, which he had resigned that he might wholly devote himself to the study of Christian truth. He has happily, since his baptism, been appointed to another situation at an important town some distance from Karachí, in which a pious and zealous chaplain is stationed, and they have together already commenced a Missionary Association, formed a school, and collected a class of inquirers.*

Among the candidates for baptism during the year now under review, one was a Mahommedan, a native of Kandahar, of a good family, who, twenty-four years previously, had been led to doubt the divine authority of the Korán from his careful study of it. He casually met with a New Testament, and read the first fifteen chapters of St. Matthew, but was then obliged to part with the book. Retiring into Persia, he devised a new system, between Mahommedanism and Christianity, and became the leader of a sect numbering 6000, with whom he migrated into Sinde, where his followers gradually melted away. Arriving at Karachí, he heard and received the truth, and, being judged faithful, was received by baptism into the visible church, and is now engaged in instructing others in the faith of Christ.

Another remarkable convert was a Mahommedan from Kashmír, who had visited Mecca, and set forth from his native mountains a second time, to repeat the pilgrimage. As he passed through Peshawur he saw a British colonel, in command of a regiment, standing in a public thoroughfare, and declaring, in the native language, the truth of God. The pilgrim listened, argued, visited the officer at his quarters, and, receiving a New Testament, pursued his journey to Karachí; though no longer as a pilgrim to Mecca, but to seek further instruction in the doctrine of Christ from a Christian Missionary. He had diligently studied his New Testament, and gave such evident tokens of the teaching of God's Spirit, that he was cordially welcomed as a fit candidate for baptism, and he also has become a teacher of others.

Education.

A free-school was founded in 1846, for the purpose of imparting sound instruction, combined with a knowledge of the Bible, by the zealous exertions of Captain Preedy, the collector of Karachí, and it was placed under the charge of an able native convert from Calcutta, Mr. Seal. On the 1st of January 1853 this school was transferred to the Missionaries, and the building made over to the Society as a gift. A Mission-house has been purchased, adjoining the school. The property is well situated in the immediate neighbourhood of the town, and is sufficiently spacious to admit the erection of a church, whenever it may become necessary.

Upon the transfer of the establishment, the Missionaries immediately extended to the whole school a system of scriptural instruction, which had been previously confined to the first class. The consequence was, that the number of pupils was suddenly reduced from 70 to 10. The Missionaries, however, adhered to their principle, and the school has gradually revived. At Midsummer the annual examination took place, the number of pupils being 34.

The destitution of suitable school-books in the Persian, Hindustani, and Sindí languages, has hitherto been a great hindrance to the success of the school; but a lithographic press having been now provided for the Mission, it is hoped that this hindrance will speedily be overcome.

The Bombay Corresponding Committee conclude their report of the Sinde Mission with a grateful acknowledgment of the countenance and liberal aid which the Missionaries have received from the commissioner, H. B. E. Frere, Esq., and from other European residents. Mr. Matchett also writes—"I must bear grateful testimony to the uniform kindness and sympathy which I have ever met with from all in the camp with whom I have had any intercourse. They have also shown that they bear friendship to the Mission and to our school, as will appear by the subscription list." *

CALCUTTA.

THE various departments of the Society's labours in this city, and at Agurpara, have been conducted by the Rev. Messrs. Sandys and Long. The Rev. S. Bost, who superintended the English school at Mirzapore, has been compelled by the failure of his health to return to Europe. The Rev. E. C. Stuart, having been obliged to remove from Agra on account of the state of his wife's health, has been transferred to the charge of this school.

Department of the Rev. T. Sandys.

Mr. Sandys' journal contains various references to the increasing desire amongst educated Hindus for the Christian Scriptures. We introduce some extracts—

Aug. 20—On referring to my book I find that 30 young men have applied for the Holy Scriptures during the present month; and during the preceding month, July, 189 young men also applied for and obtained the sacred volume, after satisfying me, in each case, that they were able to read and understand it—almost all of them in the English language; the remainder, 29, in Bengalí.

There are a few Birmese youths connected with the Calcutta Mission, some of whom have received the truth of the gospel, and been baptized. The following extract refers to one of these—

This morning Shway Kho, one of our Birmese students, whose father lately came to Calcutta to see him, came to me, and stated that he wished to return with his father to Maulmein. He has been supported by our Church Missionary Association for about two years and a-half. He expects to be employed as a teacher of Birmese by the English officers, &c., who require such teachers as can explain in English, which Shway Kho is now well able to do. I gave him a certificate as to his good character, and one to give to the chaplain of Maulmein, stating that he had been baptized on the 12th of Oct. 1851, confirmed by the bishop on the 1st of March 1853, and since that time has been a stated communicant.

The Out-station of Thakerpuker.

This is under the superintendence of Mr. Long, who spends a considerable portion of his time in giving personal instruction to the Christian natives, who are all agricultural labourers. The station was visited by the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert in Sept. 1853, who reports of it—

It has grown up within the last twenty years or so, from one single native Christian, till it now numbers nearly 300, by a gradual and almost insensible increase. It now presents a very encouraging aspect. The schools especially are very interesting. Any one who doubts the intellectual powers of the lower classes of Bengal might be set right by a single visit to Thakerpuker.

Missionary Tour.

In the month of January 1853 the Rev. J. Long made an extensive tour through the north-west provinces, chiefly with a view of gaining information respecting vernacular education and the vernacular press, as much of his time is devoted to the training of natives through the Bengalí language. He visited Benares, Agra, and Delhi. His observations on Mahommedanism led him to the conclusion "that it is rent in India by the rival jarring sects which have sprung up within its own bosom, and which are eating away its vitals through their sceptical spirit." He concludes with the following observation—

I trust that this journey has been useful to me in point of health, Missionary experience, and knowledge of the country; and that the observations I have made will encourage me more and more in the course which Providence seems to have opened to me in Calcutta—to co-operate in the efforts making for a Christian vernacular education, and a Christian vernacular literature. But let our motto always be—*Nil sine Christo.

BURDWAN.

The Rev. A. P. and Mrs. Neele joined this Mission in the month of January. They have assisted the Rev. B. Geidt in the various duties of the station.

Visit of the Bishop of Victoria.

The Bishop of Victoria visited Burdwan on his way from Krishnagurh to Calcutta,* and bears this testimony to the results of past Missionary labours—

The influence of the schools, combined with the active exertions of the late Mr. Weitbrecht in making excursions for preaching in the neighbourhood, has spread through the district a more general acquaintance with Christianity, and intellectual knowledge of its more prominent truths, than usually prevails in a part of the country where the baptized converts—amounting to only 182, including children and orphans—are numerically so few. Taking a large and comprehensive view of things, we cannot but regard these indirect influences of Christianity, in loosening their attachment to Hinduism, and opening their minds to Christian ideas, as a preparatory movement and impulse, forming a part of those many and diversified channels of impression, by which conviction is likely to be carried home to the native mind, and the way of future conversions be cleared and smoothed.

The Christian Congregation.

Mr. Geidt was able, in his Report at Midsummer, thus to speak of the increase of his Christian flock—

I am happy to inform you that I had the great joy, yesterday afternoon, of adding fourteen members by baptism to our native congregation. All the grown-up people have been for some time under instruction. The following is a list of the baptized—Two Brahmins, one Sudra, and a young man of nineteen years, of the Baptist denomination; then the wife of one of the Brahmins, the wife and two sons of the Sudra, a widow, one Mussulman child, three orphans, and one infant of our congregation. The married Brahmin, twenty-two years of age, is upright and sincere: he has often rejoiced my heart by his simplicity, and given sufficient proof that he is in earnest; and though of a good caste, he is humble enough to become our chapel-bearer in the bazaar. Goshami, the other Brahmin, thirty-nine years old, is of a very high caste. He has come at least three times during the last two years, desiring me to take him and instruct him in Christianity; but as he had turned a fakir, I always suspected him of wrong motives. But when he last came—about nine months ago—one day just after I had been praying for an increase of our Mission, I thought the Lord had sent him, and considered it my duty to give him a trial. At first his caste pride would occasionally make its appearance, and I did not, therefore, baptize him when the young Kaist, Modhu

Sudun Mittre, was added to our church some weeks ago, though he very much desired it. Latterly he has behaved very well, and become humble. He has always taken his meals with the orphan boys, and also attended their school, and has given, both to the catechists and myself, satisfactory statements of his belief in Christianity. It is now my earnest prayer that God may make him useful in our Mission. The other man, who was baptized with his wife and two children, is a Mali, fifty years old, a very honest man. Three of his children I baptized last year. I have given him for the present some work in the compound.

I have hopes we shall have another addition after a few months. There are some in our neighbourhood, and several people at Parui, desirous to become Christians: hitherto they have not had courage enough to make an open profession.

Some of our young people, among whom is my beloved Paul—the young Brahmin who had to undergo such great trials from his friends—have offered, of their own accord, to go to Parui and its neighbourhood, and preach during the vacation.*

KRISHNAGURH.

Visit of the Bishop of Victoria.

The visit of the Bishop of Victoria to this district in December 1852 was noticed in our last Report, and a brief but emphatic extract was given from one of his letters respecting the Mission. The Committee have since received the journal of the bishop, and his carefully-considered estimate of the work which has been already accomplished, and of the prospects before us.†

The Committee are very thankful to find that the personal investigation of so competent a witness as the Bishop of Victoria has fully confirmed the views which, from year to year, have been presented in their Annual Reports. The bishop testifies that the Missionaries, instead of painting in too bright colours, are rather inclined to take a severe view of their work.

After visiting the Station of Kabastanga, the bishop writes—

It was a delightful time which I spent with this devoted pair—the Rev. F. Schurr and his wife; and it afforded a really refreshing sight to behold their admirable combination of energy, cheerfulness, and hopefulness, with a modest self-diffidence, and disposition to under-rate the value of the Missionary results which they, with their predecessors, the late Mr. Krauss and others, have contributed to effect.

After a day spent in the careful investigation of the statistics of the native village and schools of the Station of Ruttunpur, he writes—

Mr. Lipp has himself baptized, since his arrival thirteen years ago, nearly 800 natives, of whom nearly half were children. Of the 400 adults baptized by him, about one-half had emigrated to other districts, and had thus been removed beyond his supervision and observation. The other half had not generally fulfilled his expectations, being irregular in their attendance at church in the outlying villages. In his own village, the baptized natives had generally preserved the habit of regular attendance at the daily services of the church.

Mr. Lipp, though more sanguine in his views and hopes than his more recently-arrived fellow-labourers, evidently regards the movement in 1839 as in many respects unsound, and greatly over-estimated in Europe. Most of the first converts were, in his judgment, influenced by unsound motives; and many erroneous impressions were produced of the extent and magnitude of that awakening. But he considers that there was some solid substratum at the bottom; that the movement, even with its errors and defects, had been overruled by God; and that, from among the insincere and uninstructed mass of first converts, many had, under the influence of subsequent training, become the subjects of a spiritual renovation.

After a similar visit to Bollobpur, the Bishop writes—

It was a pleasant sight to see a Missionary, Mr. Lincké, twenty years in all at this and other stations in India, labouring hard, and yet speaking so humbly of his work and its results. Amid much of external activity and appearances, it was apparent that he felt no little anxiety as to the spiritual character of his work. May the day never arrive when the Missionaries of the Church Missionary Society shall cease to remember that spirituality of mind, superiority to the world, and a victory over sin, are the clearest mark, and form the soundest test, of Missionary progress. But when we read of the feeble beginnings of Christianity in those lands of old—from which, in these modern days, the light of the pure gospel now shines forth upon the remotest regions of the earth—in not a few instances some half-barbarous and royal convert receiving baptism, and bringing over his nobles and subjects to the profession of Christianity; and from this weak commencement and obscure origin, handing down those essential principles of Christian truth, which, in their increased vitality and purity, contained the seeds of a nation's greatness and a world's conversion—we learn to estimate hopefully, and to judge charitably, the first buddings of Christian principle, promising, in a more advanced season of maturity, more decisive fruits of the Spirit of grace and holiness.

The bishop's own estimate of the work may be conveyed in the following extracts of his concluding remarks—

The past history of the Mission has been one of sudden hopes, novel awakenings, high expectations, and over-sanguine congratulations. And now, when the sober reality is ascertained, and reduced within the moderate proportions of truth—when it is at length discovered, that in the present stage of Missions, and according to God's present mode of dealings with the world, we have not arrived at the epoch when a "nation is born in a day," and we have still to pursue onward the same arduous course of mingled disappointments and hopes, of frustrated plans and partial success; the mind undergoes a re-actionary process, and there is a recoil from hasty and undue hopes in the opposite direction towards doubt, depression, and distrust.

The spiritual eye may assuredly see something below the surface, and perceive that God is preparing for the spiritual emancipation of this district. Missionary tours have plainly shown that the indirect efforts of the Krishnagurh Mission are beginning to manifest themselves in the remotest parts of the district.

We ought not to despise the weakest beginnings in a Mission. Although there may be a mixture in the present state of this Mission —the tares of unsound profession mingled among, and growing up with, the wheat of sincere conversions—yet let it not be forgotten that the encouraging spectacle of Christian schools, dotted over the whole district, is securing to multitudes the blessing of scriptural education for the children of the present race of natives; and that the next generation, with its well-instructed population, will furnish elements of mental and moral improvement which will give a character to the whole country around. The first generation of Missionaries may have been sowing in tears what their successors may, ere long, reap with joy.

The Sudder Station.

The Rev. C. H. Blumhardt returned to his old station at Krishnagurh in January 1853, after three years' absence. In his annual report at the close of the year he thus describes the state of the native congregation at the station—

The attendance at the means of grace has been, on the whole, satisfactory; nay, sometimes the church was full of attentive worshippers, and the order and regularity with which they behave are equal to that of most of our congregations at home. To see a church in this dark and heathen land filled with, apparently, all devout worshippers, uniting in prayer and praise to Him who has redeemed them; and to hear them, young and old, responding to the prayers of our liturgy, and observe them listen to the gospel preached to them; is a sight which calls forth feelings of gratitude and thankfulness to the Lord, who has made these people "willing in the day of His power." I cannot say that all my people are equally anxious for the salvation of their souls; I cannot say that I do not occasionally meet with difficulties and disappointments; but I say that these trials do not shake my confidence and firm belief that God is working among and with us.

Mr. Blumhardt thus reports the state of the native converts in the villages—

I have seen all my people in the villages, and several times conducted service with them. My first impressions, when I visited them, were very favourable. They were delighted to see me again, and seemed most anxious to listen to the words of truth I brought to them. I saw, in this respect, a visible change. When first—now many years ago—I was put in charge of them, scarcely any inquired after spiritual advice, and immorality of any kind was slightly thought of. But I found now, that their perception of spiritual things had some hold on them, and that a taste for better things than those the world affords is gradually coming over them, which is most encouraging to me. I must own that it is only a gradual development of the mind and Spirit of God working in the people, which, I trust, will soon appear clearer and clearer. To a person who has not seen these poor people at the time they first embraced the truth, these hopeful tokens for the better may not be so visible; but when, in one of my villages for instance, I found that the whole congregation shunned a man who called himself a brother, and was guilty of notorious crimes, and they would have no more communication with him, it reminded me of the injunctions which the apostle gave to the Corinthians, and proved to my mind that God's Spirit is working among them, who "convinces the world of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment." I hope, therefore, for better things; and though I may not see them, I trust others coming after me will find our Saviour's words true and encouraging, when he said to His disciples, John iv. 37, 38, "Herein is that saying true, One soweth, and another reapeth. I sent you to reap that whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours."

Mr. Blumhardt thus describes the methods he has adopted for preaching to the heathen—

Immediately after my arrival here, I fixed upon Wednesday evening as a day for regular preaching in our chapel in the Guaree bazaar; and, with few exceptions, this has been conducted by me every week. On these occasions I am assisted by two of my readers, to whom I generally point out a few portions of Scripture to read till the people assemble. Gradually the crowd of hearers increases; and then I step forward, and endeavour, in a spirit of meekness and love, to address them, either on the passage of Scripture which they have heard, or any other object that, for the moment, attracts my attention as fit for the occasion. I do not state too much when I say that I often rivet the attention of the assemblage to a great extent. Bazaars in India are always very noisy places; but there is generally such a silence among the people who listen to the word of truth, that I can not only uninterruptedly go on with my preaching, but I feel there is a kind of solemnity in the faces of nearly all who listen. What would our friends at home give if they could be present on such an occasion. I am sure they would double and treble their contributions, and be convinced that "the day of small things" is not to be "despised," for God has greater things in store for us.

Extension of the Mission.

Evidences of the vitality of the Mission have also been afforded during the last year by its self-extension in three important directions; two stations, namely, Joginda and Nuddea, having been occupied with renewed efficiency; and another important town, Santipur, having been taken up for the first time. The Rev. G. G. Cuthbert gives the following account of them—

Joginda, to the extreme north-east of Krishnaghur, was one of the scenes of the first outburst in favour of Christianity, which took place in the district fourteen or fifteen years ago. A body of professing Christians, numbering from 200 to 300, have been located there ever since; but, left very much to themselves, they appear to have considered themselves forsaken, and, becoming estranged, fell into grievous sins, and evinced bitter feelings towards Christianity. But of late, Mr. Ansorge, having been sent to reside among them, has been enabled to revive their dormant sympathies, and many good signs have followed. A simple but neat Mission Station has been formed; a plain thatched building serves for school-house and church; a good congregation now meets with him for the worship of God; and kindness, instruction, and discipline, appear, under God's blessing, to be bringing the people to their proper mind. The little church was full on the occasion of my visit, and no fewer than six couples were married, and thirty-two children baptized, during two days. Some of the parents brought up their children willingly, and some reluctantly, being still indifferent to Christian ordinances. Formerly they were a very rude and ill-behaved people; but the 150 whom I saw assembled in the church were silent and attentive, and left a favourable impression upon the mind of the spectator. There are 30 girls and 25 boys in the schools; and we look with prayer for good results.

Nuddea, the Oxford of Bengal, was once a famous seat of Brahminical learning, and is still the place whither numbers of Brahmin youths resort for education as pundits, spending, or rather wasting, many precious years in poring over their abstruse Sanscrit, and learning the mysteries of the Hindu philosophy, logic, &c., for after practice. We have had a school or two here for many years, with occasional visits from the Missionary; but circumstances have not hitherto admitted of due attention being paid to the place. Mr. Hasell is endeavouring to revive the flagging work, and is engaged in re-organising the schools, and putting other engines to work for operating on the people. It is a difficult task, very different from Santipur. Here there is not a spark of desire for European knowledge: the very look of the place is thoroughly Hindu, significative of the stagnancy and decay of Brahminism, and the people seem wrapt up in indifference. The English language does not seem to take; and the boys gathered together in the English school, though intelligent-looking, do not evince the animation in study which we find elsewhere.

The Bengalí school department, however, gets on more satisfactorily, and the Missionary agents, by its means, come into contact with the pundit classes. In passing their toles, or colleges, we found the students occupying lines of simple mud dwellings, and the lecture halls of the sages were mere bambu sheds, in which the learned professors sit on mats, surrounded by their disciples. To one of these we were invited. After some conversation, one of the pundits, the most distinguished professor of Hindu law in the place, got into a discussion with Mr. Hasell and the catechist, and displayed very great skill and acuteness in argument, whilst some 80 or 100 Brahmins gathered round. They were, on the whole, polite and respectful, though sometimes evincing no small contempt at the "foolishness" (1 Cor. i. 23.) of the gospel. Mr. Hasell terminated the discussion by quoting, solemnly, John xiv. 6.

Fallen as Nuddea is from its high position of former days, it is easy to see the importance of having such opportunities of casting a little of the living seed of truth into the active, intelligent minds of the pundit students, who still flock to the toles of this famous place. One such discussion as is here mentioned, might, with God's gracious blessing, serve to shake the confidence in their superstitions, and enlighten the minds of a dozen future guides of the people of Bengal.

Santipur is a large town, situated on the Hugly, about sixty miles above Calcutta, containing about 50,000 inhabitants, many of them thriving Brahmins. Forty or fifty years ago it was a place of considerable commercial importance. Mr. Hasell has now commenced operations there, by opening an English Missionary school. The people have evinced a desire for knowledge, and seem gratefully to have availed themselves of the opportunity thus afforded for the education of their sons. The deputy-collector, an educated and liberal-minded man, is well disposed towards Christianity, and encourages the undertaking; and also the chief zemindar, who has assigned a considerable portion of a noble house, formerly the residence of the Company's factor, for the use of Mr. Hasell's school, rent-free for six months. Here he has collected 170 scholars; and I found, on my visit, that they had fallen quite into the Missionary's plans; for the first thing I beheld was the large circle of boys, all standing in orderly silence, awaiting the prayer with which the school always opens. I was agreeably surprised at the well-furnished rooms, forms, maps, &c., and at the general order which prevailed in the school, considering the very recent period of its institution, and the sphere whence the boys had been obtained—chiefly from the neighbouring Bengalí patshallas, the pundits of which have cheerfully come over, with their scholars, becoming themselves paid teachers in the new school.

Missionary Tours amongst the heathen.

The Missionaries have made many journeys among the surrounding heathen, and have found everywhere prejudices softened, and an increasing interest in listening to the Christian preacher. The Rev. S. Hasell reports, that at Dowlutgunge, just as the Missionaries reached the high road leading from Maheshpur to the river, they were met by a procession of high and low, rich and poor, following the idol, which they were about to cast into the stream. The Missionaries waited for the crowd to pass by, hoping they would do so quickly, for the noise of the drums was really deafening. To their great surprise, the crowd stopped, and, gathering round the Missionaries, allowed the bearers who were carrying the idol, and the musicians, to pass on alone. There were not less than between 600 and 800 persons waiting to hear. They directed the Missionaries to an elevated spot on which to place themselves, and then, forming themselves into a circle, listened attentively to the message they had to deliver. All was still. The noise of the procession had passed away, and the idol, and all connected with it, seemed to be forgotten in the interest excited by the blessed truths which were placed before them. The subject was what we might expect it to be, God's love to sinners in the gift of His Son. After a while came back the noisy drums and the frame-work without the idol, which, deprived of its usual honours, had been committed to its watery grave; when, to the great surprise of our Missionaries, some of the most respectable of those present sent an order to stop the beating of the drums, lest the preachers might be inconvenienced. "We finished our addresses," writes Mr. Hasell; "no one followed in the idol procession; and thus at least for once in this ancient Hindu town, Dowlutgunge, the name of Christ and His cause were deemed worthy of more honour than the idols." May it indeed soon be so all over India, and Christ be exalted on the ruins of idolatry! *

BHAGULPUR.

General View.

The Rev. E. Drœse has continued to labour singly at this Station. In his annual report, Sept. 1853, he states that the native-Christian congregation consists of 105 members, eight adults having been admitted into it by baptism in the course of the last year. The number of communicants is twenty-eight. The state of a congregation so recently gathered from the heathen cannot be expected to have advanced beyond the stage of spiritual childhood, and the faith and patience of the Missionary are frequently put to a severe trial. The home duties of the Station have prevented any attempts to extend the Mission by itinerating; but the catechists frequently address the people in places of public resort, and the Missionary receives numerous inquirers. He earnestly pleads for the addition of another ordained Missionary to the Station.

The boys'-schools contain from 150 to 160 scholars, and are reported to be in an efficient state. The girls'-school had met with much opposition, and the numbers attending it are very small.*

BENARES.

General View.

The Mission at Benares has, during the last year, been maintained in a state of efficiency. There are here two veteran Missionaries, Messrs. Smith and Leupolt, whose "bows still abide in strength," with the advantage of twenty years' experience—two zealous young Missionaries as their coadjutors—a large collegiate school, under able European superintendence, with 500 pupils of the upper ranks of society—a staff of native teachers, including an acute and learned Brahmin convert—with a native congregation of 300 souls assembling in a church, which, by its prominent position and Christian architecture, surrounded by its Christian schools and Mission houses, bears its silent witness that the kingdom of God is come unto them—and a chief magistrate over the city and district who is not only a munificent supporter of Missions, but in every other way promotes and adorns the gospel which the Missionaries proclaim. Under all these special advantages, it might be expected that the Committee would have to record a year of spiritual achievements and of signal triumph. But the reports from this Mission afford this year a lively proof that Missions, in their present stage, are eminently a work of faith; that the labourers must be content to sow in patience and hope; and that their main encouragement must be the promises of a faithful God, and the first-fruits which betoken a sure, though a distant harvest.

Christian Congregation.

The report of the Christian congregation at Benares for the last year is given in these words—

The number of our congregation is 294; that is, 20 less than last year. In the course of the year two adults and twenty-one children were baptized; but several families have left us, joining other Missions, or receiving appointments in schools.

Preaching to the heathen.

The same report thus speaks of the preaching to the heathen—

This department has been carried on with greater efficiency than in any previous year, but with what success the following reports will show.

The Rev. W. Smith writes—

I have been looking over my proceedings of the past year, in order to see what I have to report, and find it is—nil. We visited a vast number of villages, as usual, in the cold weather, in the Benares, Ghazipur, Juanpur, Mirzapur, and Allahabad districts: encouragement and discouragement were mixed, as heretofore. I am tired of telling of crowds of people listening to the word, of discussions, &c. What I want is conversions—sound conversions. I fully believe that they will take place, but when, I don't know. In the mean time I endeavour to hold on at the "plough," going my eight or nine times a-week to the city, receiving native visitors, having my Bible class, Hindustani congregation, &c., and leave the rest with God, to whom be glory for ever! Amen.

Mr. Leupolt makes a similar report—

Since my arrival in India I have never been privileged to spend so much time in preaching as during the past year; yet if actual conversions are to be the criterion of my usefulness in this department, my labours have been in vain; for though I had many inquirers, and have still two whom I believe sincere, I have seen no conversions resulting from my preaching to the people.

In the beginning of the year I spent two months or so in Gharwá, and in the villages round about it. We were everywhere most kindly received, provided with seats, and listened to with attention. In Benares, too, during the year, we have had plenty of attentive hearers; but whilst many willingly acknowledge that Christianity is superior to every other religion, and that it will finally prevail, none have ventured, by receiving baptism, to confess that Jesus is the Lord, the Saviour of mankind. Still, I believe we do make way in the city and among the villages; and who knows but the harvest may be nearer than we suppose. Moreover, the command of the Lord is, not to convert people, but to "preach the gospel." I therefore take courage, and go on in the name of the Lord.

One pleasing feature in our work I must not omit mentioning, viz. the deep anxiety which our catechists have manifested during the past year for the conversion of the people. Many a time I have heard them exclaim, "How are we to go on so as to make an effectual impression on the minds of the people? How are we to preach so that the word of God may take root in the hearts of men, and bring forth fruit to His honour and glory?" When once this anxiety fills the bosom of India's sons, the gospel will be preached in a right spirit and from right motives, and then it must and will prevail.

The following remarkable testimony from a heathen, related by Mr. Leupolt, will suffice to show the estimation in which native teachers are held by their countrymen—

When preaching the other day with Mr. Fuchs at Kashipura, we had some rather noisy people, but they were civil. After arguing a good deal, and preaching still more, one man said, "What can we do? Our religion is like a stately tree, large, strong, and beautiful, and rooted in the ground for centuries. You now come with the axe in your hand. You look at the tree and the tree at you, and it is helpless. The axe is applied, and, after a few strokes, the handle breaks. What is now to be done?" I replied, "Go home and get a new handle, then come back and renew the work." "Alas!" he said, "if you did so, all would be well; the tree would then have respite; for to go home—to England—and get a new handle would take time; but you do not do so. You look at the tree, and say, 'Well, I cannot cut it down, the handle is broken; but here is a nice branch;' and down goes the branch: a new handle is made from the very tree, and the axe is applied with redoubled force. And the worst feature in the thing is, that the tree is full of branches, and supplies plenty of handles, and so you will destroy it finally by its own branches." "You are right," I said; and, pointing to Mohan, I continued, "Here is one of the branches cut off from your tree and shaped into a handle: let him now ply the axe." So Mohan stepped forward and continued to preach, and the branch was listened to attentively. The crowd was large, all evidently in the best humour, and the impression was general that the gospel will finally prevail, and all India turn to Christ.

Mr. Broadway, the European catechist, mentions the following fact—

A few native gentlemen of this place wished to refute our Scriptures. They employed a number of Brahmins for the purpose. The Brahmins were of course obliged to study the books. After having done so, they asked the gentlemen which chapter or word of the Christian books they themselves thought could be refuted, and requested they would point them out, inasmuch as they, the Brahmins, could find none. This declaration to these great advocates of Hinduism was no doubt galling, especially as it came from Brahmins, the props of their system.

Ghurwa.

The congregation at the out-station of Ghurwa numbers twenty individuals, who are placed under Saiyad, a catechist: their influence for good upon the surrounding population is already perceptible.

Jay Narain's Free-school and College.

At the commencement of the year the Rev. C. F. Cobb arrived to take the superintendence of this school. Mr. W. Wilkinson has ably assisted in its management; and other Missionaries have rendered occasional aid in the instruction of the classes, and in giving lectures to the pupils.

The number of pupils on the books at the close of the year was 523: their diligence and progress were encouraging, and Mr. Cobb mentions one fact, which is of a very hopeful kind—

Forty, fifty, or more of my boys assembled daily in the school during the vacation, and kept up their studies. I only allowed them one class-room, but their numbers were so great that Mr. Leupolt was obliged to give them more room. Our commissioner, Mr. Tucker, used frequently to come in and examine them; and I can see evident fruits of their study. When we find the boys thus thirsting for knowledge, and our lay friends taking such an interest, may we not say the Lord has opened a great door to us?

A feature of interest in this school is the presence of about thirty Christian boys, who have the great advantage of receiving an excellent education in class with other boys: some of these will, it is hoped, become native teachers; and they here acquire that manly tone, which might have been wanting under a more limited and exclusive system of education.

The local friends of this institution are exerting themselves to obtain means for enlarging the building by the addition of lecture-rooms, in the hope that teachers may be obtained in several of the higher branches of science, such as medicine, civil engineering, civil and criminal jurisprudence. They trust that, in this way, the institution may present the advantages of a collegiate education, and become more extensively useful and influential. The zealous friend of Missions, H. C. Tucker, Esq., the chief commissioner of the province, has promised the munificent donation of 200*l.* a year towards this object, as long as he remains in his present office. The plan received the sanction of the late James Thomason, Esq., and has already met with much encouragement. The Committee will rejoice to see the scheme carried out as far as the special funds may warrant, but they cannot regard the general funds of the Society as available for the higher departments of secular education, except with a view to the native ministry.*

JUANPUR.

Juanpur has been again supplied with a resident Missionary, who has zealously devoted himself to the various duties of the Station.

Report by the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert.

Mr. Cuthbert, who visited this station on his Missionary tour, writes—

I was glad to see the fine Mission house of this station once more occupied by a Missionary. Mr. Reuther, too, is a preaching Missionary, and I had the gratification to accompany him, on two or three occasions, in his evangelical visits to the bazaars of both Juanpur and Azimgurh. The word was heard with deference and attention, though not without a good deal of friendly discussion. Azimgurh may be considered an out-station of Juanpur, but presents, in Mr. Reuther's judgment, more and better openings for Missionary labour than Juanpur itself. I examined the school, which contains 200 boys, and is a thriving institution. Timothy, formerly native catechist at Juanpur, is at the head of it; and, though the under-teachers are not very effective, the state of the school, on the whole, does him credit. Mr. Reuther visits the station once or twice a month, and preaches in the bazaars.

The school at Juanpur, and that at Mozufferabad, in the neighbourhood, were examined publicly during my stay. They are, I think, improved since I was here before. Mr. Cæsar's time is now devoted exclusively to them.†

sustained the very laborious duties of this Station, and has travelled in various directions to make known the tidings of salvation. His familiarity with the language, and his facility in maintaining discussions with learned Mahommedans and Hindus, has brought upon him so much work, that his health has at length given way, and obliged him to retire for a time to Europe. His place was supplied at the end of the year by the Rev. F. A. Kreiss, from Agra, and the Rev. H. Stern, from Benares.

Visits from Archdeacon Pratt and Mr. Cuthbert.

This station was visited during the early part of last year by Archdeacon Pratt, who reported—

At Gorruckpur, and in the district around, many respectable natives are coming in to the Missionary from week to week, and day to day, saying they have heard him preaching in their villages, or have heard others speaking of him, and expressing a desire to know more. This "spirit of inquiry" is the characteristic feature of the present state of the country in reference to Missionary work.

At the close of the year the station was again visited, after Mr. Menge's departure, by the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert, who bears testimony to "the thriving and pleasing aspect" of the Mission. He writes—

The spirit of inquiry amongst the people round about, which occupied so much of Mr. Menge's attention and exertions for the last year or two, appears still to continue. Mr. Kreiss is resorted to by many respectable natives, from various distances, for conversation on the truths of the gospel: some of these inquirers I saw with him, sitting with patient attention, speaking and hearing of the kingdom of God, and the things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ.

The most interesting feature in this Gorruckpur Mission, however, at all events the least common one, is the Christian farm and settlement at Basharatpur, about three miles from the station. There are about 100 individuals in all in the settlement, all native Christians. Their crops look most flourishing, their cottages—into two or three of which we went—very neat and tidy, and their little stores of grain well supplied. They have daily service in the church, conducted by the catechist, Mr. De Ravera; and on the Lord's-day Mr. Kreiss and Mr. Stern both officiate and preach, one in the morning and the other in the evening. There are no complaints, I believe, of the moral conduct of the Christians, and they seem both comfortable and prosperous.*

AGRA.

Death of James Thomason, Esq.

The Committee cannot notice the Mission of Agra without a testimony to the memory of the late lieutenant-governor of the North-west Provinces, the Hon. J. Thomason, Esq., whose seat of government was at this place. His superior abilities, his vigilant and successful administration of the affairs of large provinces, and his various plans for the benefit of the people, in promoting education, and every other branch of social improvement—these have been already recorded in state papers and in many public documents. It is the part of this Committee to record Mr. Thomason's constant and devoted attention to the interests of Missions. He assisted the cause with his counsel, his wealth, his learning, and his Indian experience, emulating the pious zeal of his father, the late Rev. T. T. Thomason, who was for many years chaplain at Calcutta, and the Corresponding Secretary of this Society. The late lieutenant-governor, amidst the cares of his office, often conducted the annual examinations of Jay Narain's school at Benares, distributed the prizes, and addressed the pupils. And it has been further recorded of him, in a periodical printed at Calcutta, that he "scarcely ever allowed a week to pass, when he was at the seat of government, without paying a visit to the Society's native-Christian village at Secundra, entering the houses of the native Christians, or gathering their children about him to speak of Jesus. The village church received from him a peal of bells, the communion-table, and many other valuable gifts."

The Missionary force—Christian Congregations.

Several changes have taken place in the Mission during the year. The Rev. C. G. Pfander returned from England early in the year, and took charge of the labours in the city, including the Kuttra congregation. The Rev. C. T. Hoernle returned to Secundra, to superintend the native congregation and the schools. At the close of the year the Rev. F. A. Kreiss removed to Gorruckpur, and the Rev. E. C. Stuart to Calcutta.

The two congregations of native Christians number together 537 souls, with 172 communicants. No marked events of a pastoral kind have occurred. Mr. Hoernle notices that a few members of the Secundra congregation meet four evenings during the week, in the village hall, for united prayer.

Runkutta—Translational labours.

Runkutta is a small village out-station to Secundra, where two Catechists are stationed, "who are standing firm under many trials and temptations, doing their work in humble dependence on their Lord, and His sure promises."

Mr. Hoernle has spent much of his time in the revision and editing of the Urdu New Testament for the Bible Society, under the sanction of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee. He has also prepared several tracts in Urdu for the Tract Society.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Each of the Missionaries has taken part with the catechists in preaching the gospel in the city or its surrounding villages, and on Missionary tours. Mr. Kreiss writes—

In February I went, accompanied by a catechist, into the district south of Agra, and returned from this excursion on the 20th of March. Our intention was, this time, to proclaim the glad tidings in every village of this district; and I am happy to say we succeeded in carrying out this plan. We visited forty-one larger and smaller places, and two melas, and delivered from two to eight addresses at each place. The result of our preaching has been so encouraging, that I made up my mind to make similar tours whenever circumstances should permit me to do so. The people themselves, whom we addressed, obtained a clearer insight into the truth which we expounded to them; and at several places they desired me to prolong my stay, saying, "If you remain with us, and continue to preach, there is no doubt one or the other of us will join you."

Mr. French, amidst his laborious duties, "finds relief and refreshment of spirit from being able to make a Missionary journey occasionally." Two visits have been paid to Muttra, "the very heart of Hinduism," "where almost every phase of Hindu belief may be encountered in the person of its ablest supporters; while, from the great influx of strangers, the circles of hearers are almost as varied as they would be in a long itinerating excursion." "It presents a noble field of action for a good Sanscrit and Hinduwi scholar."

Converts from Mahommedanism—Effect of Mr. Pfander's works.

One convert has been baptized, whose case is not only an interesting one in itself, but very encouraging as showing that God is giving His blessing to the able and valuable controversial treatises published a few years ago by our Missionary, Mr. Pfander; who has been characterized, by one well able to form a judgment, W. Muir, Esq., Secretary to the Government at Agra, as the most distinguished Christian opponent of Islam that has yet appeared in Christendom. The convert Shambharathi was a native of the mountains north of Kashmír. He had been a traveller in Persia and Afghanistan. Being at Monghyr, he first heard Christian Missionaries of the Baptist Missionary Society in that place. At first he violently opposed the Missionaries, but gradually he became softened down by reading the New Testament and one of Mr. Pfander's treatises. He made an open profession of his conviction of the truth of Christianity, but left Monghyr before his baptism. Hearing of Mr. Pfander's return from Europe, he called upon him at Agra, and told him of the benefit which he had received from his book on the divinity of Christ, and of his wish to receive further instruction and baptism from him. "As he continued to press his request," Mr. Pfander writes, "I at last, having conferred with the Baptist Missionaries about him, received him for instruction. He was baptized by me in August last, and has ever since proved the sincerity of his profession by a consistent walk and conduct."

Further and very remarkable evidences of the results of Mr. Pfander's controversial works have been afforded in the conversion of learned Mahommedans in other places. The case of Abdullah of Karachí was mentioned in the last Report.

In the early part of the year Mr. Pfander was invited to Delhi, to confer with two distinguished members of the Government college, who had embraced Christianity, where he was introduced to several inquirers from the same class of society. The Committee rejoice to announce that the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel has commenced a Mission at Delhi, by which they trust that this promising movement may be guided and fostered.

From Amritsar Mr. Fitzpatrick wrote to Mr. Pfander—"You will be interested in hearing that the molwí who teaches me has been brought to a state of much doubt of the truth of his religion, by reading the word of God and your books. This man has since been baptized."*

Another instance is the conversion and baptism at Peshawur of Abdul Masi, the son of a Persian merchant at Teheran—

Two years ago he obtained there, from an American friend of his, a copy of the Mizan-ul-Haq. The book much attracted his attention, and he was constantly reading it. His father, to whom he sometimes would read out of it, warned him of the book, saying, "If you continue reading it, you will at last become a Christian, and then the end will be that you will be cut in pieces." But he could not give up the book, and felt at last fully convinced of the falsehood of Mahommedanism and the truth of Christianity. As he well knew that the profession of Christianity in Persia would be certain death, he formed the idea of going to India. When his father, some time ago, sent him to Khorassan, he made use of this opportunity to carry out his long-cherished wish, and, after having executed his father's commissions, turned his steps to Peshawur. There he was received by some Christian officers knowing Persian, and, after further instruction, was baptized by the chaplain.

To these may be added a conversion, which, though it took place a few years ago, has only lately been made known to Mr. Pfander: which he thus describes—

I obtained, a short time ago, the following particulars from the Rev. Gopeenath Nundee, of the American Mission. He says—"Kasim Ali was baptized two years ago at Furukhabad, and is now my faithful fellow-labourer in the Mission work. He is by birth a Syad, or descendant of Mahommed, and belongs to a respectable family. He is well informed, knows Persian thoroughly, and is also acquainted with the Arabic." Some years ago he went with a nawab to Lucknow. At that time Molwí Syed Hali was engaged in writing his reply to the Miftah-ul-herar—the book on the divinity of Christ and the Trinity. Kasim Ali, interested in the controversy, read both books. As he did not feel satisfied with the Molwí's reply, he went to Cawnpur to consult a learned Molwí there, in order to obtain a solution of the doubts which had been suggested to his mind by the perusal of the Miftah. He, however, instead of trying to set Ali's doubts right again, told him to give up all thought and anxiety about religious subjects, as the safest way was to remain quiet. This, however, did not satisfy him; and when he from thence had occasion to go to Mirzapur and Benares, he disputed and conversed a good deal with the Missionaries there. "Having, by all these means, not been able," as Gopeenath continues, "to quench the fire kindled in his heart by the reading of the Miftah at Lucknow, he came, after his return to Futtehgurh, with much agitation to me; and having received instruction from me nearly a year, he was baptized in January 1851. His conduct has ever since been very satisfactory, and I have every reason to believe him a true child of God, and a sincere follower of Jesus Christ."

Mr. Pfander concludes the enumeration of these cases with the following excellent remarks—

I have mentioned these cases, because, in some sense, they are all connected with our labours here, and are tangible proofs of the movement that has commenced among the Mahommedans. May God grant that the movement thus commenced among the followers of the false prophet, and which is going on still more extensively among the Hindus in all parts of this land, may still take deeper root, and spread wider and wider, until the whole land is the Lord's. In this wish and prayer I am sure every Christian heart will join. But God has already done so much, and has promised, in His sure word, much more, that the duty of every Christian in this land is stronger and more apparent. He is not to get weary in the work of the Lord, but to grow the more earnest in his prayers and supplications, and the more faithful in using all the means at his command to advance the cause of Christ in this land of darkness.

Education.

This year has witnessed the completion and opening of the Mission college, to form and preside over which Messrs. French and Stuart went out three years ago. The local friends at Agra have nobly fulfilled their promise to exert themselves to raise a suitable building, if the Society should send out the tutors. "The college, built after a design by the late Major Kittoe, is a large and handsome structure, of the simple gothic style. A spacious middle hall, of about eighty feet by forty, affords good space for assembling the school; whilst the eight excellent class-rooms, four at each side, are most convenient, and well suited to class instruction. Fine vestibules at each end, and verandahs at each side, add much both to the convenience and effect of the building. A house for the Principal has been erected close by, and a new church is projected in the immediate vicinity, for the native congregation." The building was opened December the 16th.

The number of pupils has remained the same throughout the year—about 200. Their diligence and progress have been, on the whole, satisfactory. Mr. French writes—

I feel it to be a just ground of humiliation, that not one has as yet had the courage to come forward and profess himself openly a convert to the truth. I try continually to keep the doctrines they have been taught fresh in their memories, and commend them by more forcible illustrations and striking appeals; and I must say, that if some of my friends could see the eager expression and gesture with which some of my most hopeful boys bend forwards, while the examination of a passage of holy Scripture is being conducted, and the evident stirring and awakening of spirit with which they hang on the word spoken, they would be much encouraged to hope that the symptoms of interest already evinced are the forerunners of more decided results.*

MÍRUT.

The Rev. Messrs. Lamb and M. J. Wilkinson have laboured at this Station during the past year, but no marked events have been communicated to the Committee. At the close of the year, Mr. Wilkinson's failing health obliged him to return to Europe, and Mr. Lamb was again left alone.

Visit of the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert.

This Station was visited by Mr. Cuthbert in December last, who reports—

I had the privilege of accompanying the Rev. R. M. Lamb in his preaching at the gate of the city, where there were many attentive hearers, as well as of examining both the large boys'-schools. I also joined in the native-Christian service in the Mission church, which is now so well filled as to require immediate enlargement, so much is the Christian flock here increasing.*

JUBBULPUR.

Mr. Rebsch, who has been appointed to this Station, did not reach it till the close of the year now under review.

Visit from the Rev. W. Smith.

The Rev. W. Smith, and the native catechist, Nehemiah Nilkanth Shastri, visited the Station at the close of December. They found the Mission school, containing eighty boys, in a satisfactory state. They had many opportunities of declaring the gospel.

In the city we found a noble preaching-place in front of the kotwale (police-office), where we had, on various occasions, from 300 to 400 attentive hearers at a time. In various other parts, also, the streets being spacious, and the people ready to hear, there was no difficulty in assembling large congregations.

KOTGURH.

The Rev. J. D. Prochnow returned to this Mission in the early part of the year, soon after which the Rev. J. N. Merk removed to occupy the new Station of Kangra.

First adult baptism.

Mr. Merk, before his removal, gives the following encouraging account of his work—

I am happy to inform you that the Lord has at last given us some fruit of our labours. On Sunday, the 1st inst., I baptized the first adult, and, in fact, the first native of this place. He is the best informed and most respectable young man of this place. He first attended the school on the premises, when Mr. Rudolph, now at Ludiana, opened it, and seems to have received religious impressions several years ago, when he acquainted his relations with his wish and intention of becoming a Christian, but they endeavoured successfully to keep him back, and he had not faith and courage enough to confess Jesus. For some time past I observed he was under deep impressions again. He was present every day when I explained the Bible in Hindui to my schoolboys: he was always very attentive. He liked to spend some time with us in our verandah almost every Sunday, and we made use of these opportunities of speaking to him on the one thing needful. By and by he attended our English services on Sunday afternoon, and gradually opened his mind, confessing his unbelief in the Hindu religion, and his belief in the Bible. I instructed and prepared him, consequently, for baptism; but severe trials awaited him before he took the final step. His relations and neighbours, about thirty or forty in number, came to my house, to induce me, by lamentations, abuse, and threats, not to baptize the young man, or to take him away by force. I told them it was Kadshu's choice to become a Christian, and he could still go away if he liked. All people here are panic-stricken: they said they would have submitted to it if a man of low caste had become a Christian, but to lose him to whom they all looked up was too hard. Kadshu was a Knait, which is a caste little lower than that of the Rajputs. This baptism has, as we expected, emptied our schools on the premises. The boys are coming back again, but the girls still stay away.

Visit of the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert.

When Mr. Cuthbert visited this station at the close of last year, he thus describes its capabilities as a field for Missionary operations—

I proceeded to survey the country round, forming part of the field of the Kotgurh Mission; and here I was agreeably surprised. I had not visited Kotgurh before; and I confess that I came to it now somewhat prejudiced against it as a suitable place for a Mission. Several persons whom I met on my way up the country had expressed an opinion to that effect; and Messrs. Merk and Wilkinson, jun., who had been there together, seemed rather to feel so too. This prejudice has been removed by my present visit. The number, the proximity, and the size of the surrounding villages, the accessibility, intelligence, and increasing numbers of the people, were far greater than I had been led to expect. I had frequently heard it said that a Missionary might spend his day and exhaust his strength in climbing almost inaccessible steeps to reach some two or three little hamlets, and, after all, find no one to speak to save a few old women and children. It may perhaps be sometimes; but, during three days, I passed with Mr. Prochnow through many villages, large and small, and in almost every one of them we found a considerable number of men, women, and children, of all ages, willing to hear the word of life; and we passed near many more which appeared no less populous and accessible; so that I really think a Missionary, whose heart is in his work, could, in the course of a day's preaching among these villages, have nearly as many hearers, on the whole, as he could in the bazaars and preaching-chapels of such stations as Agra or Benares. And the people are more favourably circumstanced for hearing in the quiet of their village, at their own doors, or gathered round the village threshing-floor, than those who are met with in the crowded thoroughfares of a large city.

Then there are Brahmin villages, inhabited by Brahmins only, one or two of which we visited; and in one of them we found chiefly women and children, and were struck by their superior appearance, and readiness to listen to the truth. One village, or town, in particular, of this class, just over the Sutlej, in Kulu, contains 300 Brahmins' houses. Besides these, are held, at Rampur, and other places within a moderate distance of Kotgurh, fairs and melas, which bring together multitudes of people from Kulu, the Punjab, Tartary, Thibet, Kashmír, and other places, and thus afford the Missionary admirable opportunities of introducing the truth into those vast regions.

I have not yet mentioned the various rajahs and ranas (petty feudal princes) who dwell in these hills, and over whom a Missionary may hope to exercise some influence for good; nor the great new road, a branch of which is to pass close by Kotgurh, and which will open such a vast traffic into all the regions and tribes between this place and the Chinese empire. But my letter has grown too long, though I have not said all I meant to say. On grounds such as those specified, however, I cannot help regarding the Kotgurh Mission as an important and promising one, and certainly am strongly of opinion that, at all events, as it has been established, it ought not to be given up without some clear indication of providential direction.

Missionary Tour.

Upon Mr. Prochnow's return from Europe in April, in restored health, he proposed to make a Missionary tour into Thibet and Chinese Tartary; and the Committee, in consideration of the present aspect of affairs in China, in a Missionary point of view, cordially sanctioned the proposed tour. He set out with Mrs. Prochnow; and, taking a lama as his guide, travelled through the high land of Thibet, and reached the borders of Chinese Tartary. He could not, however, obtain permission to enter the Chinese empire. He returned through Leh, or Ladak, Kashmír, Chumba, Lahaul, and Kulu. He writes—

The Tartars seem to me very promising, open, and straightforward, strong in body and mind. Active and dangerous as their mode of life is, they are accustomed to all sorts of hardships, but always good-humoured, in every way superior to the inhabitants of the lower hills.*

KANGRA.

Its occupation as a Missionary Station.

Kangra, in the Punjab, was first visited by the Missionaries from Kotghur in 1851. In the spring of 1852, Archdeacon Pratt, while at the place, made many inquiries respecting its eligibility for a Missionary station, and strongly recommended the Society to adopt it in connexion with the Kotghur station, from which it is distant fifteen marches. The population is entirely Hindu, and it is the principal seat of that religion in the Punjab; the population of the surrounding and accessible districts being estimated at 685,829. After Mr. Prochnow's return from Europe, Mr. Merk removed to Kangra, which will be henceforward numbered among the stations of the Society. Mr. Merk arrived at his new station December 15, 1853.

THE PUNJAB.

The Rev. Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Clark have continued their energetic and successful labours without interruption during the past year. They were cheered at the close by the arrival of a fellow-labourer, the Rev. Wm. Keene. The three native teachers, whose employment was noticed in the last Report, have continued to give much satisfaction.

Adult Baptisms.

The first conversions in any Mission mark a period of special interest in its history. Generally, many years of patient toil, and of hope long deferred, precede the gathering-in of the first-fruits. But in the Punjab the case has been very different: the Missionaries have gathered ripe fruit within a few months of the sowing time. During the second year of their labours they have had five remarkable baptisms of men well qualified for exerting an influence upon their countrymen. The first case is thus described by Mr. Fitzpatrick, in a letter dated July 6, 1853—

I have the pleasure to tell you of the baptism of the first-fruits of this Mission on Sunday last, the 3d instant. Shaman (Simeon), the new convert, is a man of more than forty years of age, who, when he first heard the gospel, on the 23d of February, was residing in his village about three or four miles from Amritsar, and diligently employed in his duties as a grunt'hi, a reader and teacher of the grunt'h. He had personal trials to encounter, such as the separating from a people who seem to have been much attached to him, from perfect ease and happiness, the honour of priesthood, and all his own prejudices of caste: these throughout were a trial to him; but especially in the week previous to his baptism he seemed to be looking back with sorrow upon what he had done, and yet he said it was not right. He was for three days in conflict with cruel assaults of Satan upon these points. They were made occasions of special and united prayers; and at length he prevailed, and, with a clear and enlightened judgment, requested baptism. He never broke caste until about to receive that ordinance.

During the four months and a-half he has been under instruction he has learned to read the Scriptures and Prayer-book in turn, as well as acquired, for the time, a large and accurate acquaintance with the fundamental doctrines of our holy faith; and very frequently has he shown a spirit of true piety most affecting to those who laboured for his spiritual good.

His baptism took place at our house in the city, after the morning service. Several of the residents joined in prayer on the occasion, as well as all our native Christians, and most of our inquirers and some scholars were spectators. We believe a deep impression has been made upon the minds of a few individuals.*

The next baptism, which took place a month later, was that of a young man about eighteen or nineteen years old, a pupil of their school, and a high-caste Brahmin, much advanced in knowledge. He has exhibited great decision of character, and his piety appears to be deep and simple.

A few weeks later, Sept. 6, 1853, Mr. Clark was able to report—

You will rejoice with us on hearing of the admission of two more of our catechumens into the church by baptism. They are both of them young men, and both connected with our school. One of them was a Sikh, aged twenty-one years, formerly Jowahir Singh, now Mati, who was among the first pupils who came to the school. After a time, he left it, having been led astray, but again returned. The other was a Hindu, formerly Bhoyrup Chund, now Guhanne, originally from Calcutta, of the writer caste, who was educated partly in Mr. Weitbrecht's school at Burdwan for a year and a-half, and went from it to the Hugly college, where he remained, he says, for four or five years, and then came up the country and became tutor to the sons of a nawab near Ludiana. He is nineteen years old, and came to us with the expressed wish from the first to become a Christian. They are both, we believe, sincere and true Christians, and we trust they may be preserved from all evil, and be built up in the faith of Christ.

At the close of the year Mr. Fitzpatrick reports another striking and important case.

I am happy to tell you of a yet more important baptism in our Mission than any which had before taken place, and that is the baptism of my munshí, a rather distinguished molwí from Delhi. He is the son of the former teacher of the king of Delhi, a man whose memory is revered by all the Mahommedans of that city. His name was Chagir Beg, or Muhammedi Beg. This son has been, of all the family, distinguished for learning. He was a "hafiz" at the age of fourteen or fifteen, and has acquired an extensive knowledge of Arabic, Persian, Urdu, &c., and is not only intimately acquainted with his own religion, but has a fair knowledge of European science and general information. He came from Delhi, to be a teacher in our school, about fourteen months ago, and has been my private munshí also for months. His mind was first opened to divine truth by reading the word of God in my scripture class of teachers. He continued all last winter in deep distress, searching the Bible, but more with the design of finding answers to his doubts and our teaching, than for divine guidance. And when he found that was impossible, he remained in doubt upon the doctrine of the Trinity; but having learned to submit to God's word as inspired, he resolved upon becoming a Christian. His name is now Uzíz Ullah (Beloved of God), the same as before, omitting the Mogul title "Beg," and his age is, I suppose, twenty-eight or thirty. The baptism, like all others, took place in the city. There were present about twenty-five Christians, natives and residents, and at least fifty heathen, probably seventy, including most of our scholars.

* A somewhat fuller account of this man is given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for Dec. 1853, pp. 141, 142.

Missionary Tours.

The Missionaries have made extensive tours, with a view of ascertaining the disposition of the people. Mr. Fitzpatrick's first tour is thus described—

The first was for a period of sixteen days, in a northerly direction, through Majheeta and Futtehgurh to Babu Nanuk ke Dehra on the Raví, about thirty miles hence, and back through Ram Das, Rajah Sansí, and other places, to Amritsar. David, the senior catechist, and another, George, accompanied him. They preached, in twenty-eight towns or villages, to 2400 men, the representatives of about 34,000 people—probably many more—and distributed 496 books. The tour was replete with interest, not only as the first thus made, and because the truths of God's own word had never before been spoken in any one of those places by a follower of the Saviour, but because of the willingness—in fact, the eagerness—of the people generally to hear and consider what was thus declared to them. It was a great privilege to our David to tell his countrymen the way to eternal life; and he seemed never weary, but always from day to day, both morning and evening, continued to expound and exhort, with a power of conviction and persuasion which appeared surprising, as much on account of its freshness and constant variety as its gentleness and love. You will readily imagine what a grand occasion this was in the history of our Mission, when you connect with these facts what you know of his previous history—his eight years of consistent piety at Cawnpur, and this most pleasing feature of all, that he is, as we believe, the first Sikh ever converted to the faith of Christ. He himself said, more than once, that he felt he could never be too grateful for this privilege; and in respect of the encouragement granted, that he had never seen any thing like the crowds of listeners anywhere else but at melas, while the attention and general deportment of the people was vastly superior.

The second tour was from Lahore to Sealkot, thence to Wuzírabad. Its general features were the same. "When the people heard of our object, they came in numbers to hear and receive our books. . . . all took hold of one truth, at least, that the Padre Sahibs and their books say that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is the only Saviour of them that believe." At Sealkot, the third city after Lahore and Amritsar, containing from 40,000 to 50,000 inhabitants, the European residents have offered more than 150 rupees a month towards the establishment of a school by the Society. From a third quarter, Rawul Pindí, the Missionaries have received the remarkable intelligence, that about fifty Hindus and Sikhs, having procured one of the Punjabi Tracts published at Ludiana, became impressed with the conviction that their old creed was false, and separated themselves to pursue their further inquiries after the truth.

Importance of this Mission.

In addition to these facts, the testimony of several competent witnesses may be added. The Rev. C. Sloggett, a chaplain of the Company, writes—

I believe that no such opening has ever before existed in India; and this among an intelligent, brave, active race, who may one day furnish the most zealous preachers of the gospel that this country has ever supplied. For there are no half measures amongst these Sikhs. Once convince their heart, and they will do or dare any thing for the cause they love.

Another testimony is that of a civilian, long acquainted with Bengal and North India, who has sustained some of the highest offices under government, having been lately one of the commissioners of the Punjab. He writes—

This is a great and glorious land, teeming with manly-minded, energetic populations, accustomed more or less to balance the pretensions of opposite or diverging systems of religion, so called. And it seems to me that the finger of God Himself already points hither, as the locality which may yet become the pivot-point of the evangelization of Upper India, as in ages past it has been the arena of its political subjugation.

Again, in another letter, after describing his earnest desire and expectation that Kangra will be speedily occupied, he says—

If the hand of the Lord has ever been distinctly shown in respect to any country on the face of the globe, I think this may be emphatically said of the Punjab; and as He appears to incline the people's hearts, more than has hitherto been the case with the people of Hin-dustan, to listen to and seek after the truth, we may be allowed to hope and expect that a great work is not far distant.*

PESHAWUR.

Before closing the Report of the year, the Committee must record a new and unexpected appeal from the remotest border of the Punjab, at Peshawur, which, in some remarkable particulars, is distinguished above all others. A Church Missionary meeting was held at Peshawur, December 19th, presided over by the chief commissioner, who, in his opening address, gave utterance to these noble Christian sentiments. The name of that commissioner is Major Edwardes, the gallant hero of Multan—

The plans and purposes of the Almighty look through time into eternity. And we may rest assured that the East has been given to our country for aMission, neither to the minds nor bodies, but to the souls of men. . . .

It is not the duty of the government, as a government, to proselytize India. . . . The duty of evangelizing India lies at the door of private Christians: the appeal is to private consciences, private effort, private zeal, and private example. Every Englishman and Englishwoman in India, every one now in this room, is answerable to do what he can towards fulfilling it. . . .

It is of course, incumbent upon us to be prudent; to lay stress upon the selection of discreet men for Missionaries; to begin quietly with schools, and wait the proper time for preaching. But having done that, I should fear nothing. In this crowded city we may hear the Brahmin in his temple sound his shunkh and gong—the Muezzin on his lofty minaret fill the air with the azân, and the civil government, which protects them both, will take upon itself the duty of protecting the Christian Missionary, who goes forth to preach the gospel. Above all, we may be quite sure that we are much safer if we do our duty than if we neglect it; and that He who has brought us here, with His own right arm, will shield and bless us, if, in simple reliance upon Him, we try to do His will.

The meeting drew up an address to the Church Missionary Society, encouraging it to enter upon a bold extension of its Missions, at least in the Punjab; and accompanied the address with promises of pecuniary support amounting to 3000*l.*

The Rev. R. Clark, who visited Peshawur on his Missionary tour, states—

The Pushtu language is spoken by all the lower classes, and, with Persian, by the higher classes also. These languages extend all through Afghanistan, and down the right bank of the Indus as far as Bunnow. They are quite distinct from the languages of India. A Mission, therefore, established here, would be for the benefit, not of India, nor of the Punjab, but of Afghanistan: it would be beyond all Indian Missions, to act on the countries in advance, being fixed at the furthest point from India, and the nearest point to other countries to which Missionaries can at present go.

* Further accounts of the Punjab Mission are given in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for April 1854, pp. 75—86.

The immediate and present efforts of Missionaries, however, who may be located here at the present time, would not be spent in vain. In the Peshawur valley, which is of surprising fertility, surrounded on all sides by hills of a horse-shoe form, there is a large number of inhabitants. In the city itself there are 60,000, most of them Mussulmans. There is, therefore, a great field at once opened here before the Missionaries. The inhabitants are generally poor, but Peshawur is itself a city of the very greatest importance.

Independently of this, however, the intercourse with the countries beyond is very great. Large numbers of natives are constantly coming from them to Peshawur: from Peshawur large numbers of natives go to them. Missionaries are, indeed, as yet excluded, but not so their influence; and there is every reason to suppose that Christian books, in the language of the country, would find ready access, and probably free circulation amongst the people.*

Statistics of the Missions.

During the year 1853 no changes have taken place in the number or location of the Society's Missionaries in South India, though it has been a season of more than usual trial, from sickness, and from the death of three valuable wives of our European Missionaries.

On examining the statistical returns of this Mission for the half-year ending December last, there appears, at the termination of 1853, an aggregate of 32,544 converts in the four Mission-fields—Madras, Tinnevelly, Travancore, and the Telugu Country; the number being less by two than that which presented itself at the termination of 1852. Many under instruction are not included in the returns. The baptized, 21,299 in number, exceed by 355 those of the preceding year. The unbaptized, 11,245 in number, are less by 357 than those of the preceding year. The communicants amount to 4765: the previous year they were 4800. The school-children have increased from 10,285 to 10,803.

Visitation and Confirmations of the Bishop of Madras.

During the last year the Bishop of Madras has visited all the Missions of the Society in South India, and has confirmed the converts. His long experience of thirty years in India, his warm and affectionate interest in Missionary operations, and the evangelical fervour of his ministrations, render such seasons eminently encouraging to the labourers: and as an interval of three years had elapsed since the last visitation, his Lordship's report furnishes a most valuable record of the progress of the work. The following are extracts from the letter of the bishop to the Society—

Having now finished my second visitation of your Southern Missions, I have much pleasure in giving you a short sketch of my proceedings, and of some of the impressions which have been made upon my mind amid these delightful and cheering scenes, where God has so wonderfully owned and blessed the labours of His servants . . . Having held an ordination at Courtallum, having preached the elementary truths of the gospel to not less than 20,000 native Christians, held confirmations at thirty-three places, and admitted to the full privileges of the church nearly 4000 persons, including those of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, besides numerous other duties connected with a visitation—I marvel, as I look back upon it, how I got through it all; but I believe it is not presumption in saying, and I hope in feeling too, "having obtained help of God, I continue unto this day."

I am happy to inform you, that, having made strict inquiry as to the result of my ordination of native deacons on my last visitation, I found that they had conducted themselves in such a manner as to justify the step then taken, and to fulfil the hopes of the friends of Missions. It gave them a position which was previously wanted, and the testimony of the Missionaries under whom they were placed to their useful labours, was, upon the whole, satisfactory. I contrived to hear two of them preach, and was pleased with their ready and earnest manner, and, so far as I could learn, the arrangement of their discourses was tolerably clear. If they continue to walk humbly before God, it is thought they will prove useful aids to the Missionaries. The experiment has been so far satisfactory as to induce me to relax the rule I laid down—to receive no one as a candidate for holy orders who could not pass an examination in the English language, or one of the original languages in which the Holy Scriptures were written. . . .

I would add, in reference to these confirmations, that I was much gratified by the neat and orderly appearance of the candidates; by the intelligent and hearty manner in which they responded to the important question in renewing their obligations; by the gravity and seriousness which appeared in their countenances in coming forward to receive the imposition of hands, and prayer for the Divine blessing; and by the solemnity and attention with which they listened to the address to them after the confirmation. I can say with truth that I never saw better and more devotional feeling manifested on any occasion in an English congregation.

Of the general state of your Missions, both in Tinnevelly and Travancore, my impression is most favourable. There has been a gradual but progressive increase in the numbers, and improvement in their scriptural knowledge and Christian deportment; and the impression was confirmed by the testimony of your active and laborious Missionaries. Their confidence in a large number of their flock was growing more and more firm.

I have scarcely left myself time or space to enter upon the subject of my visit to the Travancore Missions, not inferior in interest to those of Tinnevelly, and attended with much more difficulty and trial, from the opposition of man, which your excellent Missionaries have had to endure. Their trials have been great in this respect from the first planting of their Missions, but with meekness and firmness they have gone on in their duties, and even now great has been their reward. I know nothing on earth that can be such a source of comfort and exultation as to see the moral desert turned into a rich and fruitful garden, and that where every inch of ground is resolutely and stedfastly resisted; and such is what some of these sore-tried men can now look back upon. The beautiful churches and Christian congregations in lovely spots on these back-waters, to some of which there is only access by boats, is a sight that I have not a doubt but angels gaze on with delight. Oh, ye servants of God, some of whom are tried by sore bereavements and afflictions in your family, in addition to the outward forms of opposition you have been called to endure, think of what the Lord is doing by your instrumentality in a heathen land, and under a heathen government, and I am sure, as you think of it, not a murmur will escape your lips; nay, you will feel that all is designed to work for the benefit of that blessed cause to which you have devoted your lives! May God support, strengthen, and comfort you!

In the Missions of Travancore there are the same traits of improvement and success as in those of Tinnevelly. The number of candidates for confirmation was proportionally larger, and their preparation for the rite had been no less carefully attended to.

One of the readers, named Ooman, under the Rev. J. Hawksworth, of Tiruwallá, an able and earnest young man, brought up, I believe, under Mr. Chapman, at Cottayam, whose heart is in his work, and whom I hope, ere long, to receive as a candidate for holy orders, brought to my notice one or two interesting cases of conversion from the Syrian church—one in particular, of a young man of very respectable parentage, about nineteen years of age. It seems he had been brought under deep convictions of his sinful state from reading Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" in Malayalim. He came to Ooman under the distress occasioned by the conviction, and was directed by him to the "Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." The young man had grace given him to look with confidence to the atoning sacrifice, and openly to renounce his former errors, and to join himself to the Protestant church. Ooman gave me several pleasing traits of the sincerity of his conversion, especially the patient and stedfast manner in which he bore the severest persecutions and reproaches from his family and former associates and friends; "trials so great," as the reader expressed it, "that he would at once have given up all religion, if his faith had not been founded upon the Rock of ages." Another mark of the reality of the change was his earnest exhortation to others to seek the salvation of their souls. The young man was amongst the candidates for confirmation; and I was informed that he was studying English with the greatest diligence, in order, as he said, to be able to read the life of the Rev. E. Bickersteth, the Rev. Josiah Pratt, and Dr. Doddridge's "Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," extracts from which the reader had read to him, and translated into the Malayalim language, and his mind had been much struck and affected by them. May God keep him stedfast to the end! This earnest reader also informed me that there were many amongst the Syrian Christians, like Nicodemus, anxious to know and embrace the truth, but who came secretly, for fear of their countrymen.

Visit of the Bishop of Victoria to the South-India Missions.

The Committee have also had the advantage of receiving, during the last year, the report of the Bishop of Victoria,* who visited Madras and Tinnevelly in the month of January 1853, after leaving Calcutta, before his return to China. His remarks will be given in our review of the different stations.

MADRAS.

The Rev. N. J. Moody zealously discharged the duties of the Secretaryship of the Corresponding Committee, until enfeebled health at length compelled him to relinquish the office, and return to England. At the close of the year he made a tour of inspection of the various stations of the Society, and has furnished the Committee with much important information and counsel.

Mr. Seymer has been engaged in preparing a Tamil and English grammar for the use of the schools, a work which has been long wanted, and which may prove a great help in native education.

The Mission in Madras has been carried on with the same systematic and persevering energy which has characterized it in former years. One of the Missionaries, the Rev. J. B. Rodgers, has transferred his labours, at the close of the year, to an institution lately established in Madras for training native schoolmasters. His perfect acquaintance with the Tamil language peculiarly qualified him for the office, and the Committee resigned his services for a few years, in the confidence that the Society will reap great advantage in a supply of well-trained vernácular schoolmasters.

There has been an encouraging increase of adult converts during the last year, as well as of communicants at each of the three Stations. The Bishop of Victoria gives the following interesting account of a confirmation held by the Bishop of Madras for these congregations—

In the evening we adjourned to the adjoining Church Missionary chapel, where a large body of native Christians were assembled on the occasion of a confirmation. The building was completely filled by the native candidates and their relatives, and many strangers, European and native, who came to witness the solemnity. The candidates occupied the body of the church, sitting in rows, the males on one side and the females on the other. It was a scene not easily to be forgotten—the long white robes of the men, the neat white dress of the boys, and the more gaily-coloured attire of the women and girls, with long rows of dark-featured countenances beaming with interest and attention, all rendered more conspicuous by a bright array of numerous lamps. The Rev. D. Gnanamuttoo read the evening service in Tamil, and the Rev. J. Bilderbeck afterwards acted as interpreter for myself and the bishop of Madras. Seventy persons presented themselves for confirmation, and, previous to the solemn rite, they received an affectionate and searching appeal from the bishop, warning them against the evil of a hard and careless state of mind. After the confirmation, at the request of my friend, I also gave my word of exhortation to them, from the reading-desk, for half an hour.

The Rev. J. Bilderbeck reports that the preaching to the heathen has been regularly continued at the several preaching stations, and at the public festivals in the neighbourhood. "The people everywhere hear the word with much attention and evident interest. Inquirers have been numerous from all castes, and applications for Scriptures and tracts very abundant." There are twelve schools, containing more than 500 children. "Miss Giberne's school for the female children of the respectable classes in the neighbourhood of the Tinnevelly settlement numbers about twenty-two children: the deep interest and affectionate solicitude with which she watches over them win for her the confidence and esteem of these little ones, and cannot fail to impress the parents favourably, and disarm them of their prejudices."

Mr. Bilderbeck thus records the case of a man who came from the neighbourhood of Negapatam, in search of an only brother whom he had missed for a long time—

While he remained in the settlement he used now and then to frequent the preaching-house, and latterly attended it regularly. One Sunday, after service, he lingered awhile till the crowd was dispersed, and wished to be heard, intimating his desire to one of the masters, who introduced him. He then stated his history, and begged to be received under Christian instruction, preparatory to baptism. He was asked how he intended to support himself while under probation, seeing he was so far away from his country, and had no permanent pursuit here. Upon this he removed the cloth from his body, and displayed a very valuable silver chain, that went round his waist, and also some gold jewels, and said he would sell them, or seek support by hiring himself out for labour. He, too, was able to read; and, having given credible evidence of faith in Christ, was baptized after a couple of months' probation. He has since returned to his country, taking with him a collection of Scriptures and useful tracts, after being "commended to God, and to the word of His grace."

The need of additional labourers is thus referred to—

In conclusion, on a review it will be seen that the work is extending at this station, and acquiring importance from day to day. But what are three Missionaries, two catechists, and one reader, in a population consisting of between 600,000 and 700,000 souls? Still, however, the "five loaves and two fishes" may go far, if quietly left in the hands of the Master who feeds the multitudes. To multiply and give effect are both His prerogatives, and His glory He "will not give to another;" but to wait on Him in faith and prayer is plainly the church's duty. He Himself has commanded, saying, "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth labourers into His harvest." Let this prayer but once rise from the heart of every child of God who is truly interested in the hundreds of thousands in this country, and there will be found not a few to respond to the call, "Come over, and help us."*

TINNEVELLY.

Growth of the Mission.

The Rev. N. J. Moody, in a report of his recent visit to this district, gives the following statement of the gradual progress of the Mission in the formation of new Missionary stations, which form so many centres from which the light of Christian truth radiates amongst the heathen population—

Taking 1835 as our point of starting, because no new branches had been actually occupied from the Palamcottah Mission permanently before that period, we have Satthankullam in or about 1837; Dohnavur and Meignanapuram in or about 1839; Nallur and Suviseshapuram in 1840; Kadatchapuram, Asírvadapuram, and Panneivilei in or about 1844; Pavur in the spring of 1847; and Panneikullam in that of 1853.

Yet, though the external progress of the Mission has been encouraging, the internal and spiritual improvement has been still more satisfactory. In former years, the multitudes of inquirers had no clear notion of the nature of Christianity, few had received systematic instruction, and very few had been admitted to baptism. Now, the lists exhibit a large proportion of those who have made a public profession of their faith at baptism or confirmation, and a goodly number of them are regular communicants; whilst the reports of many independent witnesses, as well as of the Missionaries, testify that the native church exhibits every evidence of spiritual life, and of the presence of the Saviour in the assemblies which meet together in His name.

Testimony of the Bishop of Victoria.

The testimony of the Bishop of Madras has been already recorded. The Bishop of Victoria gives the following graphic description of his visit to the village of one of the native clergymen, the Rev. John Devasagayam—

It was nine P.M. when I entered the village, and I was borne direct to the Mission church. Here I found a long row of faces on either side of the street, rendered visible by torchlight, and soon John Devasagayam and his son, as the pastors of the district, were waiting to give me a welcome. And a hearty reception it was. The old man was all excitement and joy. I resigned myself to his guidance, and my bearers seemed to feel that they were under a new control. And then, after warm greetings and shaking of hands, as I sat up in my palankín, there pealed forth from that sable throng such strains of psalmody and praise as would not fail to melt and overpower the most insensible heart. Amid the flickering glare of torches, illumining the darkness of this unseasonable hour, the men stood on one side, and the children were similarly drawn up on the other.

Saturday, Feb. 5—At seven A.M. I attended service in the church; and, after the second lesson, delivered an address for three-quarters of an hour, which was interpreted by the Rev. Jesudasen John, both he and his father having a good knowledge of English. There were 800 Christians in the church, and more than 200 besides stood listening outside, one-third of the latter being heathen, attracted by curiosity. . . .

It was a pleasant employment, later in the evening, to accompany John Devasagayam, as he sallied forth—with firm step and energy of body and mind, though sixty-seven years old—into the adjoining villages and lanes, attired in his simple white dress, with the clerical badge of thin black waistband, trudging along barefooted over the sandy soil; and, at every turning of the road, to witness the sudden effect on the people of his appearance among them. He had a word of reproof for this man, an encouragement for that, and kind speeches for all whom he met. But if any signs of slovenliness or dirt met his eye, or any appearance of negligence recurred to his mind, there were lectures in store for the villagers and the catechist at their head.

The old man unites in a remarkable way the simplicity of the cross with an European firmness and determination of spirit. His father was the pupil of Schwartz at Trichinopoly, but afterwards removed to Tranquebar, where the son became the pupil of Schwartz's colleague, Dr. John, from whom our aged friend received his name; and is now generally known in the Church Missionary Society's Mission as Mr. John. . . . He appears to infuse a spiritual-mindedness and vigour of Christian principle into all around him, and has the reputation of being a very strict disciplinarian in his superintendence of the catechists.

The account given me by Mr. John of his people in the surrounding district, as I sat with him in the Mission bungalow, and afterwards at his own little parsonage, may be taken as a fair specimen of the spiritual state of the converts generally in the various Missionary stations in these comparatively long-established Christian districts of the province; for, as he himself truly observed, he has better opportunities of knowing the people, and even of appreciating the favourable points in their Christian character, than his European brethren in the ministry, from the greater freedom of intercourse naturally to be expected to prevail between the people and a native pastor, speaking the same mother-tongue, familiar from infancy with their national customs, and able to enter into their ideas.

There are in his district 700 heathen families, comprising about 3000 souls, among whom are included the 1000 who have relapsed after temporary instruction. The Christian population amount to 2100, of whom 267 are at present unbaptized. The communicants amount to 748. In the eighteen schools of the district there are 742 scholars, of whom 583 are children of Christian parents. Respecting the people generally, he states that a great proportion are "simple, ignorant, yet faithful people;" and although at times he is led to doubt, in many of them, the existence of Christian principle, yet cases continually occur which serve to bring out the reality of their religious character. He mentions, as instances, their abstinence from devil-worship and heathen superstitions during the prevalence of cholera, when the poor sufferers, in their extremity, are tempted to try every charm and remedy which their heathen neighbours profess to find effectual for their relief. On such occasions they have remained firm in their trust in the Almighty. Though there is great simplicity in the majority, and absence of any high degree of spiritual knowledge, yet they have a real faith in Christ, and walk, though weakly, in accordance therewith. He often has incidental opportunities of discovering cases of poor ignorant persons who regularly offer up the Lord's Prayer and a number of brief extempore petitions, e. g. "Lord, be merciful to me a sinner!" "Lord, grant me Thy Holy Spirit!" "Lord, save me, the chief of sinners!"

He has a special meeting of the catechists once a week, and holds them responsible for the state of their little districts. Of their general character he reports that they too often show a want of energy and exertion, when removed from a strict surveillance. He says of them, that, on the whole, "they are good and faithful men;" adding emphatically, that "they would not else be retained by the Church Missionary Society." Mr. John evinces a more than native vigour and energy in rousing them to activity and zeal. With these abatements, he nevertheless cherishes a high opinion of their integrity and general usefulness, remarking that he is accessible to the complaints of the people, who will come readily to communicate information to him which they would hesitate to report to an European Missionary.

While describing the Meignanapuram station, the bishop writes—

In the Mission compound stands a pretty-looking little building, in Gothic style of architecture, and conveniently adapted to the purposes of education, on which there is the inscription, on the outside wall at the entrance, "Elliott Tuxford School." It was erected in 1844, in memory of the deceased wife of the Rev. E. B. Elliott, the well-known author of Horæ Apocalypticæ, and formerly vicar of Tuxford. As I came unexpectedly in sight of this touching memorial of the departed, it struck me that, in these days of memorial-windows commemorative of the dead, an example was here afforded us of hallowing such recollections of the dead by monuments more appropriate, and more in accordance with the known predilections of the living.

The Bishop of Victoria mentions some striking instances of the power of religion in individual cases—

Two old men, with grey beards, were specially introduced to me by Mr. Tucker as Christians far advanced in spiritual character, as well as in years. One of them, a Shanar, named Nullatumbi, had come fifteen miles to meet me, and has lately been the means of converting twenty families in his own village to Christianity. The other, named Abraham, belonged to the Maraver or thief caste, and suffered heavy trials from persecution, spoliation, and false accusations, from the heathen headman of his village, since his conversion four years ago, on a fabricated charge propped up by forgery and perjury in the police court of the heathen tahsildar. I endeavoured to console him in his trials; and the old man replied, that "as he had received Christ into his heart, he had felt strength throughout all his troubles; and he hoped Christ would be his strength unto the end."

An old Christian, named David, appeared to be much pleased by my visit to his house. He is a man of some little property, being worth about 1200 rupees a year. For thirty years he has glorified Christ by a consistent Christian life, and has been lately instrumental in bringing over between thirty and forty families in his neighbourhood to a profession of Christianity.

Mr. Moody also gives satisfactory proof that the duty of labouring for the conversion of the heathen is more and more recognised and fulfilled—

I found, too, in two or three, and suggested it for others, that the catechists and readers were expected to devote one entire day each week to the heathen villages within their circuit, and bring a report of their proceedings to the Missionary. This very admirable plan is working with much effect in the Panneivilei district.

Reports by the Missionaries.

Our senior Missionary, the Rev. P. P. Schaffter, gives the following account of his district at the close of the first half-year—

Troubles we have encountered, but they have not put a stop to the good wherewith this Mission station has been blessed for several years past. The statistical return of the Mission, which I herewith send, shows, though not a very rapid, yet a steady growth in every department of the Mission. The number of communicants, baptized and unbaptized people in the congregations, and of children in the schools, has considerably increased; and there are a few hundreds of individuals wishing to be received in the congregations, and actually under Christian instruction, but whom I wish to try a little longer before I receive their names on the list, and consequently embody them in the return. These, as well as the rest, are taught, and many of them grow in divine knowledge; and some also, though a far smaller number, in love for Christ and His word, in fear to offend Him, and in holiness of life. For this last mercy, especially, may the name of the Lord be praised, to whom alone belongs all honour and glory! In the work of grace, especially, boasting is excluded. While reading this, I wish our Christian friends may distinctly remember what I have often stated in my former reports, viz. that worldly-mindedness and indifference to divine things have still the upper hand with the greater number of our people; and I would again ask them to supplicate the Lord to send down His Holy Spirit on us all in a richer measure.

Much seed of the divine word has been scattered abroad in my district by our five pilgrims, who have gone through the length and breadth of the land, preaching the word and distributing religious books. The reception they have met with has been, on the whole, favourable: in some places they have been most kindly received, and treated as friends. Some individuals even have asked them to come to their houses; and on the pilgrims' departure, the people who had heard the word from them asked them to return and instruct them further. In other places they have met with a very different treatment, and were ordered to leave the place, which, however, has seldom been the case.

Our Pilgrim Society is going on, and still increasing. If I subtract 100 rupees, which I received from a friend in England, I may say that its treasury is replenished by the mites of the poor. It is seldom the case that an anna shines among the doodies and pice. From this we may easily conclude that the total income is very small: still, it enables us to do a great deal of good; and as this little Society has become a means to teach our Christians that it is their duty to care for the souls of their heathen neighbours, I look upon it as one of the most important establishments in my Mission.

In our Saturday-evening Mission-meetings at Nullur, as well as in our other congregations, we read the history of the Sierra-Leone Mission, which is now being written and printed in Tamil.*

The annual report of the Rev. J. Thomas, of the Meignanapuram district, furnishes the following satisfactory testimony to the progress of the Mission, arising out of a conversation with a headman of one of the villages—

I adverted to the recent increase from heathenism, and observed that the gospel was evidently gaining ground on every side, and that, for aught we knew, Christ might soon take this country for His possession. His answer was as follows—"Why, Sir, He has done so already, and 'the stone' which 'was cut out of the mountain without hands' is rapidly increasing, and will soon 'fill the whole earth.'" I need scarcely say that I was much gratified to hear this spontaneous and appropriate quotation of Scripture from a person who is only an ordinary member of the church. It is a remarkable fact, that though "there remaineth yet very much land to be possessed," the whole of this part of the province of Tinnevelly is studded with Christian congregations. Travel in any direction you like, and there is not a spot from which one may not be able to point at different localities where are Christian communities, with their church, regular services, sabbath-days, sacraments, schoolrooms, exhibiting the Christian church as a perfect contrast to the heathenism around, with its dark demon-temples, hideous idols, ignorance, lies, deceit, and debasing ceremonies.

Mr. Thomas bears testimony to the efficiency of two of the native pastors, who have assigned ministerial charges within his district—

The two brethren continue to labour with me, and a large portion of the pastoral work, especially in the villages near their stations, is devolved upon them. The aid thus afforded is very great, nor would it, I think, be possible to manage so extensive a charge, without having persons thus qualified to take off a share of the responsibility. Both are active and diligent men; and I trust it may please God greatly to own and bless them. Two new, very convenient bungalows have been erected for them, with which they are greatly pleased; and they are now permanently and comfortably settled among the people, in a position, relatively considered, very much as a country clergyman at home, with an income which is neither prodigal nor penurious, but sufficiently large to place them above anxiety and care.

* An account by Mr. Schaffter of a remarkable conversion in his district is given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for Sept. 1854, pp. 104, 105.

Mr. Darling, who acts as a catechist in the Meignanapuram district, records the following interesting occurrence—

Jan. 1, 1853—Service was held early this morning, which I attended. At midday the annual meeting of the Church-Building Society was held in the Meignanapuram church, and was attended by all the catechists and schoolmasters, and a good number of people, both from the Meignanapuram and Asírvadapuram districts. It was a joyful and interesting sight to see 1200 or 1300 people assembled to take part in a meeting of this nature, and to notice the great attention they paid, and the intense interest they manifested in all that was said. Truly I felt happy. I felt I was among Christians, many of whose hearts are warm in the cause of the Lord, and I rejoiced to know it. After the meeting was over, the catechists, schoolmasters, and people, according to the custom of the country, came with flowers and limes to wish us a happy new year.

The Rev. E. Sargent, in giving his half-yearly account of the district under his charge—the Palamcottah district—presents the dark as well as the bright side of the picture, lamenting the low attainments of the converts and the little aggression made upon heathenism, but concludes with these striking remarks—

I had written my report thus far, and, upon looking over it a second time, the question recurred to me, Am I not taking a less favourable view of the extent of vital religion among the native Christians than I ought to do? Am I not too suspicious and impatient that they do not come up to some supposed standard of my own? May there not be good at work, which my partial acquaintance with my people prevents my discovering?

Occupied more or less with these thoughts, I called to see a Christian, who has been sick for some weeks, in his hut. I had known nothing of him, except as a fine, tall old man, who came regularly to church, and was frequently employed in carrying letters in the district, or conveying my box when I travel in the villages. On this occasion he had not sent for me. It may have been that he thought too humbly of himself, or too highly of me. I was told he was sick, and unable to leave his house. This induced me to call there this evening, expecting to find him ignorant and indifferent regarding the all-important subject. But he said, "I have lived long enough in this world to find that nothing in it can give true and lasting joy: the Bible alone brings joy. I have had my share, such as it was, of this world's pleasures—these eyes have seen much—but I have found them all vain, and like the wind. My desire now is for a speedy departure to a better world." I thought there might be something of impatience in what he said, though the tone did not betray it, and observed, that we should leave all events in God's hand, and that the great means of bearing any burden which God is pleased to put upon us is to think of the burden which Christ bore. He took me up at once, and, with great earnestness, said, "Christ's burden, Sir? That was not His burden: it was my burden. My load of sins lay upon Him: and as to this burden which He has now laid upon me, it has been for my good. His will be done!"

I knew nothing whatever against the man; but because I did not see something positively affirmative of a state of grace, from the few opportunities I had of judging, I concluded harshly of his condition. Here, however, was knowledge of which the wisest heathen are ignorant: here was wisdom which the greatest philosophers might envy! I trust the impression received from this lesson may never be forgotten. May I learn to be less suspicious, and more accessible to all around!

The Rev. J. T. Tucker gives the following account of his district, April 1, 1853—

God has been very gracious of late to my people. I have baptized about 140 souls during the last month, some of whom I can look upon with confidence as regards their piety. I have been spared to behold, with my own eyes, more fruit of the preaching of the gospel during the last two months than my poor faith ever expected. I pray that God, in mercy to these poor weak people, will prevent Satan from doing them evil.

Every thing, however, is not right. Some of the Panneivilei congregation, as usual at this time of the year, cleave more to their palmyras than their God, and absent themselves from church, even on Sundays, to climb the trees.

In a later account Mr. Tucker writes, November 29—

I trust there is an increasing interest among the people respecting the conversion of the heathen. The present state of the district is, on the whole, very satisfactory. A few persons here and there, from among the higher castes of the heathen, are joining themselves to the Lord, and my principal congregation at Panneivilei has much improved during the last six months. I am rejoiced to see many now attend the house of God twice every Sunday who used only to appear, perhaps, once a fortnight; and some of these very persons, who not long ago were careless of their own salvation, are now not only regular attendants at church, but are likewise earnest in their endeavours for the salvation of their neighbours. I hope this is an evidence that the Lord is blessing our labours. May He continue His mercies towards us!

In the following paragraphs of his report, the Rev. J. Spratt informs us of the measures adopted to render, by the blessing of God, the native catechists effective co-operators with the European Missionary in the teaching and superintendence of so large a body of people.

The number of people under Christian instruction in the Suviseshapuram district is 3526, forming thirty-nine congregations. In the Satthankullam district there are 2207 people, inhabiting twenty-four villages; so that during the past year I have had the care of sixty-three congregations, and nearly 6000 people. I call attention to this fact, chiefly to remark, that it must be obvious, that, with charges like the above, the amount of personal supervision which an European Missionary can bestow upon any individual congregation, with the exception of that at the Mission Station, must be comparatively small. A considerable increase of the present number of European labourers would at once remedy this defective state of things, and effectually promote the growth and stability of our native congregations. In the absence, however, of any immediate prospect of obtaining such an increase, it is felt to be a matter of great importance, whilst doing every thing in our power to come into frequent personal contact with the people ourselves, to put forth every effort so to transfuse the energy of the European character into that of our native teachers, and so to imbue their minds with the conviction both of the importance and blessedness of the work in which they are engaged, as that they may be induced, on principle, cheerfully and energetically to co-operate with us in carrying out every plan having for its object the spiritual well-being of their countrymen. To secure this end, we devote a considerable portion of time to personal inter course with them, for the sake of giving them full instruction in the word of God, and imparting such counsel as, at various times, may seem to be needed. And I may add, that no portion of our time is perhaps so well rewarded as that thus spent. In most of our congregations there is a resident native catechist or reader, whose duty it is to have prayers with the people morning and evening, to call them together on Sunday, to teach Scripture lessons daily to the adult portion of the congregation, and, if there be a school in the village, to examine it once a week. I also press upon them the importance of seeing their people separately, or in families, with the view of arriving at a knowledge of their spiritual condition, and of offering them such counsel as their cases may severally require. In order to discover how far they act upon my suggestions, I occasionally ask them to give an account of these private interviews. Twice a month, at least, each catechist goes amongst the heathen, to distribute tracts and make known the gospel; and each is expected to fill up a daily form, which, in addition to other particulars, also shows what number of people attend daily prayers, divine service on Sunday, and the daily lessons, and what they themselves have been reading with a view to self-improvement.

The facts, that these documents have to be kept, and shown at every monthly meeting; that the inspecting catechist comes in the interval to examine the congregation in what they have been learning, and afterwards reports results; and that the Missionary himself is likely at any time, during his visit, to take the list, and test its correctness by questioning the people, in their hearing; are a sufficient guarantee, even should there be the absence of higher motives, that the catechists will exert themselves for the improvement of those committed to their charge.

Native Charitable Contributions.

The Bishop of Victoria, during his visit to Tinnevelly, took pains to ascertain the amount of contributions from the native converts to various religious and benevolent societies, such as the Bible, Tract, Church-Building, Church-Endowment, and Benevolent Societies; and he found that they amounted to about 1100*l.* sterling per annum. In order to estimate the comparative value of these contributions, it must be remembered that they are given by poor agriculturists, whose wages are a shilling a-week, the population amounting to about 40,000 souls.

In no fewer than five of the villages special funds have been raised, amounting in each case to 50*l.*, in order to meet a similar sum from the Jubilee grants, as endowments for the native churches. These steps towards self-support are very hopeful, and manifest a considerable advance in social improvement.

In connexion with this subject it may be added, that some benevolent friends have purchased small plots of ground in Tinnevelly, on which the converts are settled, and thus enabled to support themselves. One such settlement was founded by two sisters in England, in memory of a beloved brother, at a cost of 300*l.*, on which thirty-five families are located, and are in a thriving state.

Measures for the preparation of a Native Ministry—Palamcottah Institution.

The hopes of the Mission depend upon the native catechists. Not only is their agency necessary for extending the power of the Missionary beyond a comparatively narrow circle, but to them we must look for our class of native pastors who are to become the permanent religious instructors of the native church, and so set the Missionaries free to break up new ground. The Committee therefore look with deep interest upon the methods used by the Missionaries to instruct and train the catechists, and to provide a supply of this agency for the future.

The Bishop of Victoria saw so clearly the importance of this subject, that in several of the districts he assembled the catechists together, and examined them in their knowledge of Scripture, and in their aptitude for dividing a text for a sermon or for an exposition of a passage of Scripture. In respect of the district of Meignanapuram, he records this favourable testimony—

The native catechists and readers in both districts amount to 41; of whom Mr. Thomas gives a favourable report as to their general character and average qualifications. He considers them all, not only hopeful, but most of them showing decided marks of genuine piety. They come to him for special instruction every Friday; and many of them not only deliver solid scriptural discourses to the people, but possess, also, a ready eloquence and aptness in illustrating the truths of the Bible.

As the result of his experience and observation, he emphatically urges "the importance of concentrating our attention and primary care on the native catechists, readers, and schoolmasters, as the materials of a native ministry." Upon this principle the Society maintains its large establishment at Palamcottah for the special instruction and training of catechists, which the Bishop of Victoria thus describes—

The Palamcottah Institution is a most promising measure for elevating the tone of native-Christian teachers; a strictly professional education and a course of theological preparation being afforded, in the Tamil tongue, to the more promising class of young men, who may hereafter be employed as catechists and schoolmasters, and possibly also be admitted to holy orders. The building has just been completed, in part by the grant of the Church Missionary Society's Jubilee fund. At present there are sixty-five students, of between fifteen and twenty-five years of age, fifteen of whom are allowed to live on the compound as married students, the others being boarded together on the premises. The class has been in course of formation since July 1850, and is under the superintendence of Mr. Sargent, aided by one European and three East-Indian teachers. Previously to this concentration from all the districts, each Missionary had his separate class of half-a-dozen pupils, whom he had to train amid a multiplicity of other distracting engagements. The preparandi course at Palamcottah extends over a period of four years; and the subjects comprise Ancient History, Geography, Horne's Introduction, Pearson on the Creed, Burnet on the Articles, Essays, Sermons, and a little English.

The Rev. E. Sargent, in his report of the Institution, July 1, 1853, writes—

With reference to the general character and bearing of the students, I am happy in being able to speak very favourably. I have never yet had a complaint from any party without, as to any impropriety or aggression committed by the students, which is a great thing to be said where about sixty young men are congregated together. The remarks I made in my last report on the complete surrender of caste, the kindly feelings which are cherished towards each other, the habits of order and peace which are maintained, apply equally to the present state of the Institution.

It will be found, that during the last two years 23 students have left the Institution, of whom 2 left of their own accord, 5 were dismissed, and 16 were sent to their respective districts to be employed as readers or schoolmasters. The present number in the Institution is 56.

By arrangements made since my last report, the students of the first class go out two and two every Wednesday and Saturday evening, to distribute tracts, and talk with such of the heathen as may be disposed to listen to them in our neighbourhood. This is calculated to keep alive in them the remembrance of the professed object for which they come here, viz. to be teachers to their countrymen, and make known to them the way of salvation. Such occasions will also afford them opportunity of proving their armour, by bringing them practically into contact with the arguments of the false religions around.

And in October, after an examination of the students by a Committee of Missionaries, the Chairman, the Rev. J. T. Tucker, writes—

Considering this department of education to be one of the most important parts of the Tinnevelly Mission, we have very much cause to be thankful to "the God of all grace" that the Preparandi Institution is at present in such a prosperous condition. I trust the prayers of those who take an interest in our most important work will be occasionally offered at the throne of grace in behalf of the Palamcottah Preparandi Institution.

Education.

The Palamcottah seminary, under the Rev. W. Clark, provides a superior education for Christian boys, and is to be regarded as a nursery for the Preparandi Institution. Mr. Tucker, after a half-yearly examination of the seminary, Feb. 21, 1853, writes—

I would most earnestly urge upon the consideration of the Committee the immediate necessity of looking out in all directions for some one or two pious and well-educated young men—I would say, native young men—who would cordially undertake to assist Mr. Clark in that most—humanly speaking—necessary work of giving a good English and scriptural education to many Christian boys. In such a case the seminary could be easily increased to at least a hundred children. I feel assured that this is a most important part of our Tinnevelly Mission work. The younger part of the older congregations, having been educated in our village schools, are much wiser in their generation than their fathers: they therefore require better-educated men for teachers. Moreover, the whole of the Mission force is making advances upon the heathen population.

Christianity is more respected by the higher classes. In order, therefore, that the European Missionaries may give up a good deal of their time and attention to preaching among the heathen, they must have well-educated and trustworthy catechists to leave in charge of the already-Christian population.

The school has maintained the same good character throughout the year.

The Palamcottah native-English school for heathen boys, under Mr. W. Cruickshanks, is carried on with much spirit, and a good supply of scholars. The following statement is extracted from Mr. Cruickshank's annual report for 1853—

During the year under review there were 232 pupils under instruction. These, as usual, included a number of Pariahs, whose admission into the school since its establishment in 1844, on the very same footing with the Brahmin and Mahommedan, entitles the Church Missionary Society—who, I believe, were the first to disallow caste privileges amongst their Hindu pupils—to the special interest of the Christian public. These are from the most respectable Hindu families, and the average duration of their continuance in school is from three to four years. In a few instances it has extended to five, and, in a still smaller number, to six years; but whether they have remained a shorter or a longer time in school, they have all been carefully instructed, as circumstances allowed, in "the truth as it is in Jesus."

TRAVANCORE AND COCHIN.

In the kingdom of Travancore the Society has five Missionary districts, designated respectively by the names of the central stations, viz. Cottayam, Pallam, Mavelicare, Tiruwalla, and Allepie. These districts, at the commencement of the present year, were occupied by eight ordained Missionaries, two of them being natives.

There has been, during the last year, some increase in the numbers under instruction. This is the more satisfactory, because the Mission has had to contend with hindrances of various kinds, calculated to exercise a discouraging effect on inquirers, and to repress for a time their open profession of the truth. These hindrances may be traced to that Brahminical influence which is so potent in the kingdom of Travancore. The numbers under instruction at the close of 1852 amounted to 4683, of whom 255 were unbaptized. At the close of 1853 they number 4897, of whom 290 are unbaptized. The communicants have increased from 1216 to 1239.

In the kingdom of Cochin there is only one Missionary district, Trichur, with two Missionaries: the number of converts is 649, of whom 134 are communicants.

General view of the Mission.

The Rev. N. J. Moody gives—Nov. 30, 1853—the following general survey of the Missions after his visit of inspection to the several stations—

Looking at the Missions as a whole, I think we may justly conclude that they are advancing. Men are joining the Missions now, who before were apathetic and unconcerned. I ground this view on the fact, too, that new places are being entered upon. I have mentioned Kunnunkullam before as an opening. I may add two places near Mavelicare; one at Cottayam, near Olesha; Kawalum,* though not at present very settled, in the Allepie district. At Mr. Baker's hill station the Araans are becoming more accessible yearly, and are repeatedly coming, as deputations from their villages, to ask for instruction. Of the heathen I could not say that there is among the different classes any movement towards Christianity, but there is a very perceptible looseness to their own creed. This may be favourable or not to the cause of Missions. It may issue—as among many of the higher classes the tendency seems now to be—in practical atheism, or free-thinking; or it may, in God's mercy, be arrested in its course, and made to praise Him. There is work at present on a small scale going on in favour of the slaves, which is another evidence of the advancing character of the Mission. At Mallapalli is a small slave school of six or seven persons. At Chenganur there was one till very lately, and it is hoped that it will be revived again. And at Mundakyam there is a deeply-interesting one, containing on the average between forty and fifty adults. On the morning of Sunday, the 27th of November, there were sixty-nine present, gathered from different quarters, sixteen only of whom were children. At Eragaard, in the same Mission, an influential Christian man, who is at work as a reader there, has been so much interested in this school, which he visited with myself, that he has determined to commence one for his slaves and those of his brother.

Lamentable as the position of the Syrian church is at present in itself, it is clearly a favourable one for the progress of the work of God among them. As a body they look up to and respect the Missionaries: in many instances they feel them to be their friends. And as, at the same time, there are some who, for the truth's sake, are preparing to shake themselves free from the trammels by which they have been held, I think we may say that the work is advancing also among them.

The Mavelicare District.

The Rev. J. Peet, in a letter at the close of last year, writes—

During the year just drawing to a close, we have in this Mission largely verified the fulfilment of God's promises in His care of, and mercy shown to, this infant branch of the Redeemer's church.

In the beginning of the year the outward state and prospects of the Mission were perplexing and gloomy. In common with the other inhabitants of these districts, our people had, and during the whole year have had, to endure much privation from scarcity of food; yet they have not been permitted to perish from the land, and now have a speedy prospect of partial alleviation from the crops just ready for the sickle. But in addition to famine, our people were placed under the ban of a government persecution, and had to endure numerous hardships, though, by God's blessing upon outward pressure, and a Madras government inquiry, the more open persecution has lately been stopped, and our people, though now opposed and occasionally injured, are freed from those heavy trials and losses they had to suffer from the Sircar officials.

* Pp. 120, 121.

But what is the result of all? From pressure of actual want, two persons returned to their heathen family for support; but as this involves connexion with idolatry, they have been suspended, and may, perhaps, be cut off from the church.

Persecution has performed its usual work of strengthening the people, and increasing our ranks. Not to speak of numbers from the Syrian church—of whom, on account of peculiar temptations, I do not speak with confidence, nor place them in our statistical accounts—I am at the same time enabled to record, and do so with thankfulness, that many have learned to put off Mary, and put on the Lord Jesus; and that numbers, not nominally in our church, are learning and receiving with joy the true doctrine. Clothed, and in a right mind, sitting at the feet of Jesus, is the posture of many, we hope and believe, of the still-called Syrians in those parts; and this has been effected through the agency of the Church Missionary Society.

Of heathen, seventy souls have this year been added to our church, and the whole machinery of the Mission has been in full operation, which has caused a large amount of Christian and useful knowledge to be diffused throughout the district, and all this in the midst of severe domestic trials and waning personal health. But it is the glory of our cause that it has never been largely advanced by might or by power. It was begun, is carried on, and this dispensation shall be completed, by the few, the feeble, the despised, in order that Christ may have the more glory.

On Sunday, July the 18th, I rose very early to fulfil engagements at an out-station. From want of being able to take proper rest, I felt both unstrung and very poorly; and as the monsoon was descending in torrents, a sense of imperative duty alone caused me to venture out. After a long and disagreeable journey, in an open conveyance adapted to the jungles and narrow paths, I arrived, chilled and nearly drenched, at the house of one of our people, where I purposed to administer baptism. The house and surrounding outhouses were so situated as to enable some twenty-five or thirty people to stand under shelter, and see all that was done. A glance made me aware that the people who filled the houses were composed of Christians, Mahommedans, heathen, and Papists. Upon entering a large-sized verandah, or open room, I saw the candidate, clothed in white, and sitting in the posture of one of the idols frequently seen in this country, or in pictures, and before whom daily puja, or sacrifice, is performed. She was a woman of some fifty years of age, stone blind: her heart had been hardened, and the eyes of her understanding were long and wilfully closed against the light of the gospel. She had been frequently entreated to come to Christ by her own son, but she repelled him with scorn, and heaped upon him vile abuse. But, in course of time, she softened so much as to condescend to go and dwell in his Christian house. This brought her under a course of regular instruction, and, by the aid of the Holy Spirit, she at last received Christ into her heart, and desired to be admitted among His people. Her countenance and speech told me how welcome I was; and, after making an open profession of her faith, I administered the rite of baptism, and gave a suitable address to the surrounding people.

Such was the fruit of the prayers and entreaties of a pious son, and this is a specimen of several cases that have occurred this year in our Mission.

Cottayam and Pallam Districts.

The Rev. H. Baker, sen., continues in charge of the Cottayam district, though his health is much impaired under the effects of his long and valuable labours. His son, the Rev. H. Baker, jun., has charge of the Pallam district, and the interesting work going forward among the hill Araans.

Mr. Baker, jun., thus describes the progress of his labours among these hill tribes, July 1853—

I am happy to say that my hill people are improving every way—that I trust a sincere work of the Spirit is going on in their hearts. As a body, there is an eager desire to know more than they have yet attained to; and a few, I do trust, are humble followers of Christ, and are living by faith in Him. In the Malkavu hills much persecution from government* has occurred, and taken away a very few from the numbers of those learning. Orders were sent to pull down our school-sheds, and prevent the masters teaching children or adults. I trust the storm has blown over for the present, though we are liable at any time to a repetition. A friend has given me funds for building a church at Mundakyam; and though I have been striving to get Sircar permission for a year past, I cannot get it, though the spot is in the midst of a forest, and inhabited only by our people.

In February last I took a tour of six weeks through the mountains, with a captain of the 48th N.I., visiting some villages of Araans, and heard of, and met, men of other jungle tribes—Uralies, Mannans, Vedahs, Uladens, &c. Some of these are in the lowest state of rational creatures. Some Pandarams I have met never inhabit huts, living at the foot of a tree in fine weather, and, in the rains, in the rocks, coming to the Araans' houses for salt and iron tools, in return for wax and dried flesh of animals which they procure. We found some of these people living about the neighbourhood of a beautiful table land, about 5000 feet high, and others living in little hamlets of ten to twenty houses, all along the western slope of the ghâts. My district is now like a county, Mundakyam being thirty-five miles east of Pallam and the Malkavu hills twenty-eight north of that. As soon as the Home Committee can fulfil their promise of relieving me of Pallam, I hope to work among the hills, living between these out-posts. Many ask for schools and prayer-houses; but at present I can only give a deaf ear, or promises, which, from being so long delayed, seem often empty words to the poor people. In God's time I believe we may reap a large harvest—but there are none to reap.

At a later period, Jan. 21, 1854, Mr. Baker writes—

Mr. Moody's visit to us was really a treat; and, were it possible for the Committee to have such a man moving about our Missions often, it would tend to give us a greater confidence in our work, and, I can speak for myself, make us work, too, with more diligence. His visit to Mundakyam has tended, perhaps, to encourage me in hoping for help also. I have since, in consequence, baptized 142 Araans in the Malkavu hills, having delayed doing so from the doubt existing in my mind that they could not be properly looked to. Openings are numerous in all directions to the east, but at present I cannot help the poor people to teachers. The inquirers from one place Mr. Moody saw—I have admitted about 70 others as candidates there—with those who were not prepared for baptism at Malkavu, amount to 120 or 130, so that there is a growing congregation, besides that at Mundakyam. I now feel satisfied that I was right in resisting the order of the dewan of Travancore to pull down my school-sheds erected in these hills.

I trust there is a work of the Spirit going on in the minds of the people; and that the causes of their wishing to join are not merely local oppression, or the desire for change on their part, or of others, but, in some cases at least, a love for holiness. I hope shortly to hear from you that another Missionary is on his way.

Allepie District.

The Rev. J. Harding has had charge of Allepie. Though the health of himself and his family have greatly suffered, he has exerted himself in the surrounding villages with some encouraging results. He thus speaks in his journal respecting one of his out-stations—

March 29—Yesterday morning I visited Kawalum, and had three opportunities of addressing different people; first, six or seven Nairs; afterwards, about thirty slaves who were threshing paddy in the open field; and, lastly, fifteen or twenty Syrians and Chogans. A few more of the last-mentioned have cut off their kudumbies,* and are learning the elements of the gospel; and several others, at Kanady, are said to be only waiting until the harvest is reaped to join themselves to the church of Christ. Nearly all this class are dependent on the Nairs for their seed-paddy, and, in return, they give to these half of the produce of the harvest; so that, were any of the Chogans to join us between sowing and reaping, their lordly neighbours and creditors would take all. The Nairs also lend money, and in various other ways, from their possessing most of the land, and holding all the offices in courts and districts, exercise a paramount, and, if they choose, a crushing influence over Chogans and the castes beneath them.

At a later date Mr. Harding reports another visit to the same place—

June 27—I went to Kawalum yesterday, where there was a large attendance at public worship, including six or seven respectable heathen. The heavy rains had caused the water to rise to a level with the church compound, so that the ground was very damp, and every thing outward uncomfortable; but we conversed on the love of God, and found refreshment and strength by waiting upon His name.

Cottayam College.

The Cottayam College is under the care of the Rev. E. Johnson. The number of pupils has been about 40. Mr. Johnson expresses himself satisfied with their progress, considering the many disadvantages which retard their mental and spiritual improvement. An examination of the college was held by Messrs. Peet and Harding on March 22, 1853, when they reported—

It was manifest that those in charge had done their duty, and the pupils had benefited by their instructions. We trust that, though the college education is not at present of a high order, yet, as it is sound and scriptural, it will prove of lasting benefit to all the youths, and form the groundwork of an education that may fit many of them for usefulness hereafter.

TRICHUR (COCHIN).

Selection of Kunnankullam as a second Station in Cochin.

Upon the visit of Mr. Moody to Travancore, the question of the location of a second Missionary was fully considered, and it was determined by the Corresponding Committee to select the station of Kunnankullam, the population of which is stated to amount to 15,000. Mr. Moody thus describes the various considerations which have led to this selection, which the Committee are glad to record as an example of the careful and devout spirit in which every new Missionary effort should be undertaken—

It is the most central town for the north of Cochin that exists. In our Mission stations it appears to me most desirable that we should endeavour, with God's help, to legislate for districts and provinces rather than towns. I do not think that so good a post for observation and labour among all the villages within a range of fifteen miles could be found. Again, it is on the high road to Calicut; and I think we should endeavour to follow the example of the apostles in taking the great thoroughfares through the countries where our Missions are, and branching from them into the villages around. Thus the gospel is likely to be heard far more extensively than ever it could be in isolated towns, and links are formed in connection with other Missionary bodies besides our own. Now, Kunnankullam is about fourteen miles from Trichur, and twenty, say, south of the Ponani river, which the German Mission at Calicut have made a kind of boundary for themselves. Eastward there is another small link of the same body, about the same distance, at Palghat; so that it may be considered as on the high road between our and their advanced posts, and about half-way between them.

There is already a congregation there. We spent two days at it, and saw the principal men among them. They told me that there are fifty families secretly belonging to our church, but many of them are afraid to come out. There is also a school there—two, indeed—which I examined: very poor, I must confess; the one English, of 10 boys, superintended by Benjamin, and only just formed; the other Malayalim, of some 45 boys and 9 girls. Mr. Ridsdale, it appears, purchased about three acres of Mission land, on which a temporary school has been built: the foundations of a church have been dug out round it, and a walled burial-ground is at a little distance. This, I think, considering that there is a congregation, seems an opening from God ready to our hand.

It should be made the centre of a circuit. There are two considerable heathen towns near; one, the largest in the north of Cochin the other, Wuddenkunchery, the tahsildar's residence. Chowghat and Chowdal are within six or seven miles. Thus, if every opening for the town were closed, the Missionary would still have his work going on from this centre. If it pleased God to give him inquirers from the Syrians of the town, he would not object to receive them, and thus from thence he might be gathering out a few for the Lord.

I do not speak with sanguine feelings on this, or on any other prospect beforehand, as the result is only in the hand of our gracious Father; but, taking this bird's-eye view of the whole, it seems to me that Providence points us more to this than to any other centre in these parts.

The Rev. H. Harley writes, June 30, 1853, respecting this station—

Kunnankullam has now for a number of years been occupied as an out-station of the Church Missionary Society; and I may safely say that many spiritual benefits have resulted therefrom. God's word is now, I believe, in the hands of almost every family here: it is extensively read, known, and discussed. At every visit that I have made here, the people have been urgent in asking for a solution of scriptural difficulties, and often listen with profound attention to the preaching of God's word; so that many advantages have accrued to the Syrians by our occupation of the Station. Besides, a Malayalim school has been always established here, in which many hundreds of boys have been taught to read the Scriptures, and, having now grown up to maturity, can duly appreciate the advantages of early instruction. The number of scholars attending this school at present amounts to sixty-one, including heathen and Syrians. It has been determined to establish an English school here. The inhabitants having been many times urgent in their application for such a school, it is probable that a large attendance will be secured. Benjamin Simeon, whom I baptized many years ago, and who has completed his studies at Bishop Corrie's grammar-school, at Madras, will have the present charge of it. He will also act in the capacity of catechist—for which by his attainments he is duly qualified—in the absence of an ordained minister.

Mr. Harley, in his report for the half-year ending June 30, 1853, reports an encouraging prospect of the extension of the Mission in the villages.

The readers have continued their usual itineration among the heathen, and a large number of tracts have been distributed. At Peyramungalum, a village about four miles distant, on the high road to Kunnankullam, and where a school had been established some years ago, a heathen family, including thirteen individuals, have placed themselves under instruction. Many of the other heathen and Roman Catholics residing here have expressed a wish to learn our Vedam, including about eighteen or twenty families; and they are anxious that a small prayer-house be built here, as Trichur is too distant for the women and children to attend the means of grace.

TELUGU MISSION.

The Telugu Mission, which was commenced in 1841, is still in an incipient state. The number of persons under instruction in December 1853 amounted to 131, of whom 41 had been baptized. The communicants were fourteen in number. The children in the schools amounted to 219.

Five ordained Missionaries labour in this field: three being attached to the schools, and two engaged in direct Missionary work in the city and in Missionary tours.

There have been no special circumstances reported during the last year in respect of the English school, or of the native congregations.

The baptism of several young persons has taken place in the schools, which have afforded the Missionaries encouragement; but the Rev. J. E. Sharkey writes, respecting such cases of promise—

Our past experience bids us rejoice with trembling at any fresh addition to our little church, which is yet only the mustard-seed, sprouting out of its ungenial soil, and awaiting the heat and life of grace to grow, and strengthen, and meet with safety the spiritual storms to which it stands exposed.

The following notice in Mr. Sharkey's report for May 30, 1853, shows with how much interest the memory of a former Missionary is cherished in Masulipatam—

My vernacular school for boys met with many sore trials, and had almost ceased to exist but for God's gracious care of it; and now in its weakest state, and out of its small number, one heart is touched—touched, I trust, by Him whose work of grace is sure to terminate in life eternal. This boy is about fourteen years old. We have retained his heathen name, and added to it the name of Henry Fox, which his supporters intended he should adopt if ever he became a convert to Christianity. The young girl, who is about thirteen years old, we have named Elizabeth Fox, at the request of Mr. Fox's mother, who, in conjunction with some other ladies, has for several years been maintaining this orphan. I am sure, as far as man can be so, that she loves Jesus. There is now only one member in her family who is not baptized, but she is very earnest with him. He is an old man, almost blind. She reads to him and teaches him, and he often speaks of her with tears of joy. That he too "may be dedicated to God by our office and ministry" is our earnest prayer.

Preaching to the Heathen.

The Rev. G. English has devoted his time chiefly to itinerating among the heathen. At the close of his journal, March 31, 1853, he writes—

In the midst of much apathy and indifference very many are found willing to hear the truth, and in some places much interest is shown. Often the inquiry has been made, When shall we see you again? Sometimes we have been gladdened by the remark, "We should like to hear more of these good things."

Our gospels and tracts are generally received with avidity, and I have often found them willing to read them before the assembled people; by which means many questions about the truth are put, and answered upon the spot. The people generally have but little reverence for their own religious systems and creeds: the customs of their fathers, and caste, have the strongest hold upon their affections.

I would ask for a number of inexpensive sheds, built in different parts of this large town, simply for preaching the gospel. They should be near the greatest thoroughfares, where the cry of the messenger of peace might be heard by many a passer-by. If there were recognised preaching-spots in the town, and a time appointed for declaring the message, we might expect those who are anxious to hear more would re-assemble at such places.

Visit of the Rev. W. Knight.

The affairs of this Mission having caused the Committee much anxious deliberation, it was determined to depute their Secretary, the Rev. W. Knight, to visit and personally inspect each station, and to consult with the Missionaries on the spot upon the best plans for strengthening and encouraging the work of evangelization. Mr. Knight cordially undertook this mission, and arrived in Ceylon at the close of the year.

Biblical Translation.

The Committee have much pleasure in announcing that the long-continued controversy upon the style of honorifics to be used in translating the Bible into Singhalese has been satisfactorily adjusted. At a large meeting of the Colombo Auxiliary Bible Society's Committee in May 1853, the principles upon which a new version, likely to be acceptable to all parties, should be conducted, and the style of honorifics to be used in it, were agreed upon, with the general consent of the members of a board which had been constituted for investigating these points; and a Revision Committee was appointed to carry on the work, one member of which, the Rev. D. Gogerly, undertook to prepare the translation as far as the book of Esther. That this cheering event should have taken place in the Jubilee Year of the Bible Society, will be recorded as a circumstance which calls for especial gratitude to God.

* Reprinted from last year's Report, the new returns not having been received.

New Mission Church at Colombo.

During the past year a Mission church has been erected in Colombo. The church will have both English and native services, and Missionary operations will be connected with it. It will thus afford a point of union between European and native Christians, and tend, under God, to the kindling amongst all classes a more lively sympathy and co-operation in the great work of evangelizing the island. It will also afford a sphere of ministerial and Missionary usefulness to the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, whose duties may require a residence in Colombo. On Thursday, Oct. 13, 1853, the church was opened with a dedicatory service. The bishop preached on the occasion. The governor and many of the chief officers of government attended, and "a large number of European descendants and natives, both Singhalese and Tamil." Thus the very day of opening afforded a happy illustration of one of the main objects of its erection—the union of races in the church of Christ.

COTTA.

General View.

The Rev. A. D. Gordon having removed from this Mission to Madras, the various duties of the Mission have devolved upon the remaining Missionaries, Messrs. Wood and Fenn. The number of registered members of the Mission congregations amounts to about 2000.

"During the past year the work at the Cotta station has been extending gradually beyond its former limits, whilst the number of regular attendants at divine worship has greatly increased."

Report, by the Rev. I. Wood.

Mr. Wood, in his annual report, Sept. 1853, laments the general apathy which prevails, but records some few instances which show that the Spirit of God is not withdrawn from the ministrations of the word. One rigid Buddhist made a public renunciation of his false creed in the church of Etul Cotta. Another intelligent native was arrested in a career of sin, and became an anxious inquirer after truth, and immediately began to visit his neighbours, to inform them of what he knew of Christianity, and to urge them to go and hear the word of God. Shortly afterwards he was laid upon a death-bed, and, when asked concerning his hope of salvation, replied, "I trust in the merits of the Son of God, who offered Himself as a sin-offering for sinners."

A still more striking case of conversion and faithfulness to the last was manifested in Cornelius Corrie, a noted supporter of Buddhism, and a man of much property, who, being visited by the native minister of the station during a long illness, gradually, though after much discussion, yielded to the arguments in favour of the truth of Christianity. For six or eight years he was consistent in his Christian profession. The word of God became very precious to him: his eyesight being very defective, he had portions of Scripture written out in a very large character, which were his constant study. He evinced the most earnest desire for the conversion of his countrymen, and was a man fervent in prayer. One of the last notices which occur respecting him in the journals of the Missionary is—"I found him much altered for the worse. His mind appears in a happy state. His faith is steady and firm, and he expresses a longing desire to depart and go to heaven. To all who go to him he makes but one request, that is, to pray with him and for him.*

Village Out-stations.

The Rev. W. Knight thus describes a Missionary excursion to the villages of the Cotta district, in a letter dated Dec. 22, 1853—

Last Sunday was a day of real enjoyment to me. I visited, on a pony or in bullock hackery, accompanied by Messrs. Wood and Barton, three of the jungle schoolrooms near Cotta. In each Mr. Wood read prayers; a catechist the second lesson; and afterwards, the latter interpreting for me, I preached. The novelty, perhaps, had something to do with stimulating me and interesting them; but though I felt keenly what lame work interpretation is, I think I made myself intelligible, and I am sure that my heart was much drawn out towards these dusky children of the sun. We returned to Cotta in time for a service still more interesting. After Mr. Fenn had read the evening prayers in English, most of the catechists, schoolmasters and mistresses, and a few others, being present in the Mission church, we sang, "Come, let us join our cheerful songs," &c. And then Mr. Fenn baptized—reading the office in Singhalese—one of his pupils, a most pleasing and intelligent boy of thirteen, the son of Buddhist parents, and the first-fruits of his labours at the Institution. The Bartons and a catechist were Henry William's sponsors, and my previous examination of him left no doubt upon my mind as to his clear comprehension of the gospel, and sincere resolve to be a disciple of Christ. At the close of the service I ascended the pulpit, and preached him an English sermon, which I am thankful to learn was understood by all present, on "Fight the good fight of faith." Some very pleasant experimental conversation with our brethren later in the evening, and united prayer, closed my first really Missionary Sunday, of which I hope long to retain a grateful reminiscence.

Cotta Institution.

The Rev. C. C. Fenn having acquired the Singhalese language, and having visited the principal educational establishments in the Presidencies of Calcutta and Madras, returned to Ceylon in April 1853, and undertook the charge of the Cotta Institution. It was stated in the last Report that the original plan would undergo some modification. The Institution was first opened in the year 1828. The original idea was beautiful in theory. At each Missionary station the most promising boys in the primary schools were to be selected and taken into boarding-schools, and carefully trained under the eye of the Missionary. From these boarding-schools the most promising pupils were to be transferred to the Cotta Institution, to receive a higher classical education, and a special training as schoolmasters, catechists, or native clergymen. After an experience of twenty-five years, it appeared that 116 of such selected students had been received into the Institution, of whom only sixty had completed their course of study, and only forty-eight had entered upon the work of the Society: of these not more than twenty-two remained in its service, and only three had been judged suitable for holy orders. It was thus manifest that the attempt to train up youths to become spiritual teachers is an Utopian scheme; that the institution had been mainly a nursery for the supply of clerks in the civil service or mercantile establishments.

Similar results have been experienced in other Missions, and indicate that the selection of suitable Missionary agents must be made at a more advanced age, from amongst the adult Christians who have given proof of the stability of their religion and of their zeal for the conversion of souls: such established Christians may be specially instructed and trained for the work of the Mission. In proportion as general education advances amongst the native Christians, we may hope for a better supply of well-educated agents.

Upon these principles the plan of the Cotta Institution has been divested of that specific theological training which had heretofore distinguished it. The admission is more general; the English language will be regarded as the classical language, instead of Latin and Greek; and the first object will be to fit the students, who may wish to join the Society's work, for English or vernacular schoolmasters, and thus to advance the general education of the native society.

The future plan of the institution has been thus explained by Mr. Fenn—

(1) It is proposed to admit within the institution, either as boarders or day-scholars, a certain number of Singhalese youths or young men, for the purpose of putting them through such a course of education and training as may fit them to become masters of English, or mixed, or vernacular schools; some of these young men to pay a small fee for their education, and, if boarded on the premises, an additional fee for their board; while a limited number, termed Society's students, are to be maintained, while pursuing their studies there, entirely at the Society's expense. None of these are regarded as under any stipulation, implied or expressed, to take employment under the Society, nor the Society to furnish them with situations.

(2) It is hoped that, at no very distant period, a few carefully-selected native Christians may be found, whom it may be proper to train and instruct with the view of preparing them for a subordinate ministry in the care of souls and the preaching of the gospel, whether as catechists or as deacons.

Subsidiary to (1) there are to be established two model schools, English and vernacular.

At the period when the statistics of the Mission are made up—Sept. 30, 1853—the number of students was thirty-six, of whom thirty were pay-students.

BADDAGAME.

Report, by the Rev. G. Parsons.

Mr. Parsons gives the following report of this station, Sept. 30, 1853—

The attendance on Sunday morning has been remarkably regular throughout, except a few weeks in June and July, when, in the neighbourhood of the church, and among several of the Christians, a contagious sickness prevailed. There is not the slightest difference in the number of attendants during the busy months of sowing and harvest, at which times it is utterly impossible to collect the smallest number of heathen for Christian purposes, even on the Sabbath; so necessary do they consider it for them to seize the exact periods for sowing and reaping. Our Christian people belong to the same class of agriculturists; and it is therefore pleasing to see even a small band sacrificing their customs and worldly advantages, when Christian principles demand it. The attention and demeanour of the congregation are both good and pleasing. I have observed, also, a marked improvement in repeating the responses.

On the whole, I am much pleased with this congregation, wishing only it were much larger, which it might be if we could arouse the slumbering heathen around us. The number of members remains the same as last year—fifty adults—and the average attendance the same.

The cottage meetings have become the most interesting part of Mr. Goonesekera's labours, and that to which he gives most attention. We still hope that much good is done by these means, though we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that a lamentable degree of apathy and carelessness prevails. Most of the members wait at home till called to the meeting: some will even attempt to prove that they ought to be remunerated for their trouble of coming together.

The number of out-schools has been reduced: six have been closed during the year. In some, the master had grown careless of his work; in others, the children were few and irregular in their attendance; in all, the parents had become indifferent, and refused to assemble to be instructed in Christianity; and as it is a rule not to open a school for children in districts where the parents are unwilling to assemble, I felt no hesitation in closing these schools.

KANDY.

Report, by the Rev. W. Oakley.

The following extracts are from the report of the Rev. W. Oakley for the year ending Sept. 30, 1853—

In presenting another annual report of the Kandy Station, it is with feelings of gratitude to Almighty God that I would record the partial accomplishment of our wishes and hopes with reference to three important points connected with this station.

1. The appointment of an European, to superintend and carry forward the work of preaching the gospel in the Ratmewela district.

2. The appointment of an European Missionary to itinerate in some of the Kandian provinces.

3. The erection of a Mission church on the Mission premises, Kandy.

The Rev. E. T. Higgens has been appointed to itinerate in some of the Kandian districts, beginning with Harispatto. Mr. Higgens entered upon this work in the month of July last, and already has had the privilege of proclaiming the gospel to above 1000 persons in the Harispatto district. His visits have been well received, and many have listened to the words of eternal life with apparent interest.

On reviewing the work of the past year, and comparing the present state of this station with what it was about eighteen years since, we see causes for humiliation as well as causes for rejoicing. But little has been attempted compared with what ought to have been done. Yet the success which has attended our feeble efforts has perhaps been as great as we could have ventured to anticipate. The state of the nominal Christian families in the town of Kandy has very much improved during the last ten or fifteen years. Open acts of idolatry and devil-worship are now very rare. The weekly attendance at places of Christian worship is also more general, and more regular, than in former times. Of the forty-two communicants now in connexion with our congregations at this station, twenty-nine have joined us during the last three years, and the whole of these, with two exceptions, are young persons who have received a good Christian education. Six of this number are young women, who were educated in the Kandian female boarding-school, and who have become communicants since they married from the school. The present number of candidates for adult baptism—twelve—and for the holy communion—eight—is also an indication of progress in our work here. And if we add to this the pleasing prospect opening before us at Ratmewela and in Harispatto, we may, I think, see abundant cause for thankfulness, and may well take encouragement to go forward with our work.

The following extract from Mr. Oakley's journal affords some encouragement, though it shows how much seed is cast into the ground which produces no fruit—

April 1, 1853—In the midst of great discouragement [at Kondesalle] I was much cheered with the intelligence that there was living in the immediate neighbourhood one good man, who had lately come to the place, and who was in the habit of speaking with the people on the subject of religion. When his name was mentioned to me I did not recognise it, although I was assured that he had been educated in one of my schools in the town. I further learned that this young man was in the constant habit of reading the Bible and praying to God, and that some of his neighbours were aware of these facts, and they spoke of him as a "very good man." Shortly after I had heard these things, the young man—hearing that I was there—came to the school, when I at once recognised him as a former pupil. I had a great deal of conversation with him, and was pleased to find that he remembered the instructions which he had received in the school, and was endeavouring to put them in practice. I encouraged him to proceed in his endeavours to warn and instruct his neighbours in the important truths which he had himself learned, looking to God for his assistance and blessing.

It is about ten years since this young man left the school and retired from this neighbourhood. He has since been engaged in trade or business, and in the cultivation of fields, and is now a married man. This is the first instance which has come to my notice of a boy educated in our schools, after having become settled in the world, married, and engaged in trade and business, showing such decided marks of true piety.

Another encouragement is noticed at nearly the same date—

April 10—I was much pleased to observe, in the journal of one of my catechists, who lately visited Ratmewela, that, while he was staying in the house of Rajapaxagadere Samuel, he heard, in the middle of the night, some one praying aloud, and found it was Lydia, the wife of Samuel. I have always been struck with the simplicity and seriousness of this poor woman. Less than three years since she was a poor ignorant heathen, and had never heard of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Shortly after her baptism she lost two children, which she had by a former husband, within a few days of each other. This was a very severe trial, but, through the kindness of her present husband, and the knowledge she had obtained of the gospel, she was supported under her trial, and did not in the slightest degree yield to the customs of her heathen neighbours and relatives, but was enabled to bear the trial with patience, in submission to the will of God. I have frequently seen her in tears when speaking of her two children, for whom she appears to have had a strong affection; but I never heard a murmuring word escape her lips. The secret is revealed in the above extract from the catechist's journal—"She has learned to pray, and is enabled to cast her burdens on the Lord."

Itinerant labours of the Rev. E. T. Higgens.

Mr. Higgens thus notices his itinerant labours—

The preaching-places have been the headmen's houses or the village amblams, and, on one or two occasions, the people have assembled in their bana-reading madua, and listened to the gospel preached from the very place in which they are accustomed to hear their priests read the books of Buddha.

From the scattered state of the Kandian population it is impossible to collect large numbers at a time, and the companies attending our preaching have varied from 10 to 50 or 60. The total number of adults who have attended at different places within the last three months is about 1000.

In almost every place the people come together, listen attentively, and sometimes show much interest; and, as the gospel is entirely new to them, this is all that can be looked for at present. What the results will ultimately be, God alone can tell.

Mr. Higgens notices in his journal a fact which is remarkable, as showing that the heathen have not lost all traces of one supreme Being

July 11, 1853—I began by speaking about the true God, man's condition by nature, and the way of salvation through Christ. After a little while, one man said it was the custom of Singhalese people, before eating, or going on a journey, to call upon a great God whom they did not know. On inquiring further, and finding from them that this is really the case, I told them that we had come to make known to them this great God, who gave them all they possess, that they may believe on Him and be saved. They seemed struck with the idea, and listened very attentively during the whole of the remaining time that we were speaking to them. My native assistant also took up the subject, and read the account of St. Paul's visit to Athens, and his finding there an altar to the unknown God, and took occasion from that subject to allude to the Singhalese custom of calling upon a God whom they themselves assured us they did not know. They seemed very much interested in what he said.

A somewhat similar custom has been observed among the people in India, who, having lost all knowledge of the one true God, and adopted the worship of 330,000,000 of deities, yet, when their veracity is questioned, or when they mention some calamity which has befallen them, will look upwards with lifted hands and say, "The Lord knows;" or, "It is the Lord's will." When, however, they are asked whom they mean by the expression, "the Lord," they at once declare their ignorance, but evidently regard Him as some one different from the numerous gods of their ordinary creed.

JAFFNA DISTRICT.

This district has been under the charge of the same three Missionaries who have laboured in it for several years. Their encouragement is very small; but it must be stated that other Missionaries who labour in the same field, both from America and from the Wesleyan body, make the same confession.

Review, by the Rev. W. Knight.

Partly owing to the expectation of Mr. Knight's visit, and partly to other causes, the reports of the Missionaries for the last year have not yet reached the Committee. But the following remarks of Mr. Knight will be read with deep interest—

Our own experience in this district presents little variation from that of the other Societies. Since 1817 we have maintained two, and lately three Missionaries in our own circumscribed locality. The only feature of difference has been the erection of the Copay seminary for training Tamil masters for Tamil schools. With us, too, the results in the way of direct conversions have been but few. There have been several hopeful deaths: rare, however, seem to be the living indications of the presence of a spirit of prayer, or of that broken and contrite heart which God will not despise.

But Christian knowledge has been widely diffused. There are a mass of heathen better acquainted with our creed and its evidences than many villagers in England. It is the heart-work that is wanting. The energy of the blessed Spirit of God, and nothing else, will make the wilderness rejoice and blossom. This must be called for by diligent prayer; and, when given, Jaffna Christians would at once step into a higher rank than native converts are, in many instances, occupying elsewhere.

I should do my own feelings injustice, if I did not express my sympathy, and ask your intercessions for our brethren here, who have been labouring under many discouragements in a peculiarly isolated field, and struggling against a host of difficulties which they did not create for themselves.

The success of a Mission, which brings it into prominence, and thus calls forth the prayers of Christians on its behalf, almost of itself supplies the energy for its prosecution. Those who are bearing the burden and heat of the day in an unproductive field suffer under a double trial. The delay of the promise makes their hands hang down; and the unvarying reports which they are forced to present withdraw them from the notice and sympathy of the friends of Missions, at the very time when they need them most. If we pray for a prosperous Mission, our prayers should be tenfold for those whose eyes fail with watching for the morning.*

CHINA MISSION.

Mission Establishment:

8 Ordained European Missionaries.
1 Native Catechist.
1 Native Teacher.

The Missionary Force.

The operations of the Society in China during the last year have been conducted under circumstances of unusual trial and peril.

The Committee have been unable to supply a tutor for the Bishop's College at Hong Kong, or a second Missionary for Fuh-chau. The Rev. T. M'Clatchie has returned home through the failure of his health; and only two new Missionaries have been sent into this wide and promising field.

* Further accounts of the Ceylon Mission are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for December 1853, pp. 273—281.

FUH-CHAU.

General view of the Missionary work.

The Rev. W. Welton has laboured alone at this Station. He resides within the city. His medical practice has enabled him to secure a position which is granted to no other Missionary. His opportunities are ample for distributing the Scriptures and tracts; but he has not been able to keep open a school. The city has, throughout the year, been kept in constant alarm of the invasion of the insurgents. The minds of the people have been naturally unsettled, and the message of the gospel attracts but little attention amidst the fever of revolution; yet towards the close of the year Mr. Welton was able to bear this encouraging testimony—

The discouragements hitherto experienced by the opposition of the literary class and authorities, and the little apparent effect of Missionary labour at this port, would appear to be giving place to a better state of things in the increasing confidence of the people towards us. The greatest confidence is reposed in our word and promises, and credit will be given us readily by passing our word. The great shyness formerly manifested by the female sex towards us is rapidly subsiding, and married Missionaries readily obtain females to superintend their domestic affairs. We can travel from place to place in the suburbs and country without any molestation, except occasionally from boys. Our books are received readily, and coveted by nearly all. I have circulated religious tracts and copies of the Scriptures extensively in the country by invalids applying for medical aid.

Mr. Welton has translated the gospel of St. Mark into the vernacular dialect of his station, using Chinese characters as phonetics, and finding thirty-four initial and sixteen final characters sufficient for the purpose. The work is easily read and understood.*

NINGPO.

Ningpo has been hitherto free from all hostilities. The Missionary band was weakened by the absence of the Rev. F. F. Gough on a visit home for the recovery of his health. The other three Missionaries have pursued their course of zealous labours throughout the year, though here, also, the national movement has unsettled the minds of all parties.

Reports from the Missionaries.

In the early part of the year the Rev. R. D. Jackson thus reports the state of the work—

* Further communications from Mr. Welton are given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for February 1854, pp. 21—24.

The chapels are frequently crowded by an orderly and attentive audience, many of whom we are able to recognise, if not as constant, yet as frequent attendants upon the public preaching. Besides these public services on the Sabbath-day, and twice or thrice a week, each Sunday morning there is a private service in the chapel for the converts, servants, teachers, scholars, and inquirers, when from seventy to ninety persons generally attend. At this service we use the book of Common Prayer, portions of which have been translated into this dialect, and for the printing of which we use the Roman character. At the close of the services books are distributed amongst the hearers, and an invitation is given, to those anxious to know further about these doctrines, to call at Mr. Russell's house.

The schools in connexion with the two chapels have had an average attendance of about fifty-five boys, who are catechized twice or thrice a week, and commit to memory portions of Scripture, &c.

Another of the means whereby it has been sought to bring our heathen neighbours to the knowledge of the truth, has been their free admission to family prayers, in the Chinese language, morning and evening. I have frequently known twenty or twenty-five persons present at Mr. Russell's service in the evening, and frequently this service has lasted two hours or upwards. It is by free intercourse with the people that we shall be able to correct their views, remove their prejudices, enlighten their minds, understand them better, know their peculiar circumstances, and be able to apply the word with closer application, than in a large or general audience. I have frequently wished that Mr. Russell could write you an evening's conversation with his Chinese congregation: I am sure you and the friends of our Society would rejoice to hear it.

At a later date the Rev. W. A. Russell reports, May 4—

Our Mission here, I hope, continues in a prosperous state by the good hand of the Lord being with us. Our converts are not, indeed, multiplying very fast; yet I think I can see on all sides manifestations of the advancement of our work in those converts that we have, in our inquirers and schools, and the general aspect of the Mission.

The Rev. R. H. Cobbold writes, June 14—

As to any other Missionary arrangements, they remain much as they did: preaching in the chapels, teaching in the schools, and conversations or preaching by the wayside, or wherever people can be collected together to listen, have been going on as before. Our converts had been giving, and, with one exception, have since given, great satisfaction; and the one now employed by our Society as a catechist is of great use to us, is very humble-minded, and quite devoted to his work. His addresses to his countrymen are, for the most part, replete with interest, and he keeps their attention up better than any Chinaman I have seen. I trust his earnestness and faith do this, for there is nothing in the man above that of a shrewd common-sense man of ordinary abilities. The four introduced, during my absence from China, into the number of Christ's professing people, appear to be sincere, and we have no fault to find with any of them.

And again, Sept. 18—

This morning I found more boys present at the school than I anticipated: they might be allured by the hope of cakes, which were given last year on this occasion [one of the chief Chinese feasts], by Mr. Gough, to those who came. The first part of Luke xiii. occupied us for more than an hour. This catechetical school service on the gospels will, I hope, prove a very important means of grace to the converts and to inquirers. I take care that all the questions shall be heard by all present, and repeat aloud the answers of the boys that are correct, grounding, perhaps, a remark or two on them. Any more difficult point I refer either to the master, if it be a point of Chinese, or to the converts, if it be a point of doctrine.*

SHANGHAE.

The Rev. T. M'Clatchie zealously pursued his labours of preaching in the Mission church, of translating, and of instructing his class of blind persons, till the failure of his health, towards the close of the year, compelled his return home.

Visit of the Bishop of Victoria.

In June the Bishop of Victoria proceeded to Shanghae, in order to be nearer the scene of action in the great national movement which has taken place in China, to be ready to consult with the Missionaries, and to take advantage of any opening which the providence of God might present for communicating to the insurgents the truth of the gospel of peace. The bishop was accompanied by his two native catechists, Chun and Lo. His first attempt, after his arrival at Shanghae, was to send a message, through the Chinese catechists, to the insurgent camp; but his messengers were not allowed to reach the neighbourhood of Nanking. On the 7th of September a band of local insurgents, by a coup d'état, captured the city of Shanghae, seizing all the public offices, and putting the chief magistrate to death. The imperialist army besieged the city, which was still, at the date of the last accounts, in a state of siege. The European quarter, where the Missionaries reside, being without the walls, and contiguous to the imperialist camp, has been continually exposed to the shot of the contending parties, and to marauders from the undisciplined imperialists. The bishop remained at Shanghae for five months, till it became evident that opportunities of Missionary usefulness were not only greatly curtailed, but almost entirely interrupted. He then returned to Hong Kong. He has furnished the Committee with a narrative of events during his residence at Shanghae, from which the following are extracts—

* Some information respecting Ningpo is given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for January 1854, pp. 2—4.

Sunday, July 10—I was present at the baptism, by Mr. M'Clatchie, in his church in the city, of a poor blind man, who had been four years under instruction. I gave a short address afterwards to the congregation—about 40 people. We then adjourned into the vestry, and formed, for an hour, an interesting little assembly, Chun and Lo addressing them with great feeling. The two latter afterwards accompanied Mr. M'Clatchie to the new preaching-room near the Ching-hwang meaou, where Lo gave an address.

Tuesday, Oct. 4—In the evening we re-visited the imperialist floating camp at Sin-sza, the line of boats now extending for more than a mile, and decked out with a gorgeous array of banners. At least 5000 men must have been collected there from all parts of the empire—some even from the extreme western and south-western provinces, as their vestments proclaimed in large characters. Some were smoking opium, others were selling plunder, and all appeared in great disorder. We distributed about 200 books among them, the crowd pressing upon us so as almost to lift us off our feet in their eagerness to obtain copies.

Sunday, Oct. 9—On this day we had a twofold service in Trinity Church—the jubilee sermons of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and the ordination, as deacon, of Mr. George Harman Moreton, about to proceed as a Missionary to Loo-choo. The morning sermon was preached by myself, and that in the afternoon by the British chaplain, the collections amounting to 107*l.* 10*s.*

Thursday, Oct. 20—This day was the day appointed for my visitation of the clergy, eight of whom—the Rev. Messrs. Cobbold, Russell, and Jackson, from Ningpo, the Rev. Messrs. Burdon and Reeve, of Shanghae, the Rev. G. H. Moreton, about to proceed to Loo-choo, the Rev. J. Hobson, British consular chaplain, and the Rev. J. P. Oliver, chaplain of H. M. S. "Spartan"—assembled in Trinity church at eleven A.M. to hear my charge, which occupied two hours. We assembled under unusual circumstances. Some hundreds of newly-arrived imperialist soldiers passed near our dwelling onward to the city, to co-operate with a cotemporaneous attack from the imperialist camp. They bore their banners gaily along, apparently confident of victory, and despising their opponents. But the rebels opened fire from the northern wall, and they fled precipitately back with their flags and banners, carrying their dead and wounded on bambu-poles. The cannon-balls whirled past us and over us; and if this state of things had continued, serious injury would have been inflicted on the foreign settlement. It slackened somewhat before the time of our service; but as I was delivering my charge a ball struck the church from the battle raging at less than a mile distance.

Friday, Oct. 28—The last of our formal meetings of the assembled clergy terminated this morning, with the discussion of a practical subject, "The spiritual dangers peculiar to a Missionary life, and their remedy."

Our meetings for discussing plans of Missionary usefulness, and for devotional exercises, have, I trust, been attended with a great blessing. All the clergy have agreed with me on a new version of the Liturgy in Chinese, blending a chasteness of literary style with perspicuity of sense, and employing the Chinese term "Shang-te" for the Supreme Being. I trust, also, that we shall all have been quickened to greater earnestness and self-dedication to the work of the ministry, by our profitable and refreshing opportunities of intercourse.*

Arrival of the Rev. Messrs. Reeve and Burdon.

On the 18th of September the Rev. Messrs. Burdon and Reeve, with their wives, arrived at Shanghae. Their first visit to the city with the bishop is thus described in a letter dated Sept. 20, 1853—

We accompanied the bishop through the city on the day after our arrival; and we were more than surprised—we were even delighted—at the enthusiastic manner in which one of T'hae-ping-wang's followers dwelt on the identity of views and interests subsisting between themselves and the English. The bishop himself could not have distinguished more clearly between Protestant and Romish Christianity; and it was enough to warm all our hearts to see his eyes glistening as he described to the bishop the demolition of idols and idol-temples now going on in the interior, and of which proofs are to be seen on the waters of the Yang-tze-kiang, which is continually pouring into the sea these relics of superstition. We were at the time standing outside the temple of Confucius, the head-quarters of the rebel chieftains, on the gate of which was stuck a placard, purporting to be from T'hae-ping-wang, now at Nanking. This manifesto, while denouncing the oppressive Tartar dynasty, and claiming allegiance to the restored race of Ming, at the same time called on the people to abandon false gods, receive the Christian books, and give up the use of opium.

The Bishop's Visitation.

Mr. Cobbold gives the following account of the Bishop's visitation in a letter from Shanghae, dated Oct. 31—

We left Ningpo on Monday, Oct. 17, and, by dint of exertion on the part of the boatmen, managed to reach Shanghae on Thursday morning about two hours before the time appointed for the delivery of the charge. On coming up the river we heard continued cannonading, and also discharge of musketry, and, on our arrival, heard that this morning was one of the severest fighting that had yet been. Some of the balls passed very near the foreign houses, and it was a serious consideration, about an hour before the time of service, whether it would not have to be postponed; and while we were in church the officer on guard reported a ball to have struck the building, which, indeed, was heard distinctly by some present.*

Prospects.

At the period of our last anniversary, the Committee did not attempt to form any judgment of the probable effects upon Protestant Missions of the movement in China.† But so rapidly has its religious character been developed, that many Christians pronounce it to be the fulfilment of the words of Prophecy, that "a nation shall be born in a day." The Committee cannot go beyond the expression of a hopeful, yet anxious expectation. They see many tokens that the good hand of the Lord is in the movement, preparing in that vast empire "the way of the Lord." But they are anxious lest the want of zeal, of faith, and of prayer, in the church of Christ, should give the enemies of the gospel an advantage, and so the evils which now hover over the movement should settle down upon it—of religious fanaticism, or of re-actionary vengeance, or of destructive socialism. The Committee build their hope of a prosperous issue, under God, upon the fact that the origin of the movement was marked by a series of providential events, such as usually lie at the foundation of God's dispensations of mercy. At a time when European Missionaries were excluded from China, the London Missionary Society sent its agents to work upon its confines. In the faith which hopes against hope, they did what they could: they sent their native teachers to distribute tracts where they could not go themselves. A word of scriptural truth thus fell into the hands of a thoughtful man, gifted with abilities for organizing and ruling a great national movement. In the retirement of his native town, at the furthest distance from the seat of government, he reads words which open to him a new world of thought. After a few years he visits Canton, to learn something more of the new religion. He receives instruction in the word of God; but returns home before the circle of instruction is completed, and communicates his imperfect knowledge to his friends, and they band themselves together to act up to the light they have received. In what way this same individual became the leader of a powerful band of patriots leagued to overthrow the Mantchow dynasty is still a mystery. It is not for the Committee to pronounce upon the political or military aspect of the movement; but they mark the fact, that the possession of a mere fragment of Divine truth has given to the Chinese mind a force and independence of which it had been thought incapable, and has created a bond of union, and a spirit of patriotism, which bid fair to secure a sucessful revolution. There is ground of hope, also, that the leader of this movement will be led into a right path, because he has been "faithful in a little." He has honoured the "Ten Words" of God, [as the foundation of his moral code. Though claiming a personal revelation from above, he has allowed the fragments of Divine truth which he possessed to speak for themselves, without note or comment. He has given to God and His word pre-eminence of honour and authority, above the emperors of China and their edicts, where Divine honours had been bestowed for a hundred generations. He has established daily worship to the one true God, and set apart a Sabbath throughout his camp. In some particulars, a parallel to passing events may be found in other great national risings. But no parallel can be found, except among the leaders of our glorious Reformation, of a successful general, at the head of a powerful army, in the very hour of struggle, putting forward, by special effort, the word of God as the great instrument of national regeneration. Yet these are the last facts we have heard—that T'hae-ping-wang has issued Genesis, Exodus, and the Gospel of St. Matthew, of the version of the late Dr. Gutzlaff, with the promise that "the holy book" is to follow—that he keeps 400 men constantly employed upon the printing of the Bible—that he makes his soldiers the colporteurs, and his officers the expounders. We have lately rejoiced in the effort of that blessed Institution, the British and Foreign Bible Society, to publish a million New Testaments for China. God has accepted the proposal by anticipating the distribution through a most unexpected auxiliary, and by preparing beforehand the channels through which the million shall flow at once into the heart of China.

On these and on other grounds the Committee call upon their friends to cherish a large hope and faith that God is establishing His kingdom in China: but yet to be "instant in prayer" that all things may be overruled to this glorious consummation.

But what are the duties of Christians in respect of these future prospects? The whole empire, and a population of 350,000,000, must shortly be opened to intercourse with western nations. Whatever turn political events may take, Chinese exclusiveness is at an end. Christian Missionaries must be sent in numbers adequate to the demand, and must be prepared to move forward. For such an enterprise this Society has the pecuniary means in hand. Three years ago the Committee reserved a sum of 10,000*l.* against the time—to use the very words of the resolution—"when it should please God to throw open the empire to our Missionaries." That time has arrived, and that reserved fund is a providential obligation to this Society to go forward. We have the means to send out twenty additional Missionaries to China. But where are the men? As yet the Society has not more than five or six Missionaries connected with the China Mission. These are all who represent the Church of England. More than sixty other Protestant Missionaries, representing ten Missionary Societies, are in China, at the Five Ports, waiting for the signal to advance. How far below its due position will our episcopal church fall, if our numbers be not speedily enlarged! How far below our encouragements and providential advantages will the Church Missionary Society have fallen, if it be not able to strengthen the hands of its Missionary Bishop of Victoria, who appeals to us for men in these memorable words—"I will not ask them to go whither I am not willing to accompany and lead them. We are ready to break asunder family and domestic ties. We who have wives and children are willing to be as those who have them not. At present we can do little but take our measures, and arrange our plans. But we must have men here at once, and without delay, to study the language, and prepare for the battle: for 'a great door and effectual' will soon be opened to us."

Never was there a case of more urgent need of prayer to the Lord of the harvest to supply the men; and never more need, the Committee must as emphatically add, to pray for the gift of God's Holy Spirit upon those who are sent out, that they may be men of Christian peace and love. "It is not without some forebodings of danger to Protestant union," writes again the Bishop of Victoria, "that I contemplate the wider opening of this empire to Missions. The representatives of every sect will then probably hasten to the headquarters of the new dynasty. We need a large outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon us, that circumstantials in ritual and discipline may not be unduly confounded with the essentials of Christian doctrine; and that the only rivalry may be, the mutual emulation of labouring, toiling, and, if need be, of suffering, for Christ."

General View.

SEVERAL causes have operated to perplex and hinder the work of the Society, and to check the transmission of those encouraging statements which in years past have formed some of the brightest pages of our Annual Reports. The Society has lost the services of several of its Missionaries through failing health, and other causes. Moreover, the transition from a field of Missionary labour to a settled Christian community is always beset with perils. In this case, the difficulties are augmented by the rapid colonization of the island, and the mingling together of the races. The bishop and the Missionaries unite in the opinion that in future the same Missionary must be a pastor to both races; in other words, that the Missionary character must give place to the pastoral. It will be easily perceived how much the native-Christian community must lose of the simplicity of its religious character by being thus brought within the influence of European habits, tastes, and pursuits, as they exist in the generality of the settlers. The strict ecclesiastical discipline, the authority of a spiritual father, the habits of a godly community, will be in danger of gradually passing into the lax customs of a nominal Christianity.

There are, however, some points of encouragement in the retrospect of the past year. Foremost amongst these is the first ordination of a native teacher by the bishop—Rota (Lot) Waitoa. He had been eleven years under tuition at St. John's College, and was placed for the last few months under the Rev. G. A. Kissling, in preparation for admission to holy orders. In a letter dated July 18, 1853, Archdeacon Brown thus alludes to the event—

On Trinity Sunday the first native teacher was admitted to deacons' orders. I consider him a very humble, devoted Christian, one who loves our Saviour, who is fully acquainted with all the leading doctrines of the gospel, and deeply feels the reality and blessedness of those truths that he is going forth to proclaim to his countrymen. Follow him with your prayers, that he may be kept humble and faithful. The ordination service was most solemn and affecting: it seemed the realization of many an anxious hope, and many a fervent prayer which your Missionaries had offered in days when all around was darkness; but when, by the eye of faith, they could see in words of light, beyond the louring cloud, "He must reign—every knee shall bow." May this first-fruits be followed by an abundant harvest!

In a letter lately received from Mr. Vidal, Secretary of the Mission, he writes—

The natives in the Eastern District, where the Rev. Rota Waitoa is located, propose to build, out of their own resources, three wooden churches, and have written to Mr. Kissling and others for the gift of saws for sawing their timber. Hitherto, where they have had European pastors, they have appeared to consider that they should not be called upon to contribute for churches or buildings, and that the European pastors should themselves raise funds for these purposes. It would seem, therefore, that they are inclined to look upon native pastors as differently situated, and as requiring their aid. I consider this another encouragement in favour of a native pastorate.

KAITAIA.

The Missionaries, in this report, give the following account of their work—

With regard to the outward condition of our natives, we have to report of their well-being. They are industrious, and their little properties are increasing; and many of them, as well they may, frequently remark how merciful the Lord has been to them, and blessed them, both in regard to their bodies and souls. Few people amongst the heathen have been so liberally dealt with as the New Zealanders; and surely the grace of the Lord has never been more magnified than in their conversion. The savage—"the strong man armed"—has been literally overcome and spoiled. The armour of superstition, wherein the strong man trusted, has been, in thousands of cases, taken away; and although Satan is ever trying some new mode to ensnare the once escaped, or those not yet liberated, yet Christ, the far stronger one, "must reign, till He hath put all enemies under His feet."

Our natives have lived in peace during the year, although we witnessed in April, at Ahipara, one of the narrowest escapes of collision between two powerful parties. This deliverance we can only attribute to the influence of the gospel of peace.

The teachers' meetings on Saturdays have been greatly blessed to them, and, through them, to their people. We have met with much encouragement in our labours during the year.

A few months since we visited a native living eight miles from us, to whom affliction has been sanctified. He said, "It is my desire to give myself, body and soul, to Christ." Just before we arrived he had been talking to a Christian native. He said, "I have been striving with Christ." We asked him, "What has been your strife?" He replied, "I asked Christ if He had not said, 'Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden?'"

We are labouring to excite our natives to have schools in all the villages. We hope that some little improvement is taking place in this respect—the parents can see such a difference between those children who attend school and those who do not.

We and our teachers have visited all the distant places, and have endeavoured to keep up a communication with them, and a weekly intercourse with most of our people. Many times, during the year, large parties from Whangape, Omaru, and the North Cape, have spent a week or ten days close by us. Our visits have always been cordially received by them.*

KAIKOHE.

Report for the year 1853.

The Rev. R. Davis, in his annual report of this district, speaks of very severe epidemics which have succeeded each other, and created much mortality. His own domestic trials have also been great, as his wife has been afflicted with paralysis; yet he writes—

Our afflictions have been heavy: but be it recorded, I have seldom experienced so much of the goodness of God as at this time. The continued sympathy of the natives with us is of a truly pleasing and Christian character.

Since Mrs. Davis has been in this infirm state, my visits from home have only extended to distances from which I could return on the same day. Nevertheless, from the perseverance of our native teachers, I trust no ground has been lost. Kaikohe has had a full amount of attention, and some addition has been made to the number of the baptized: a few of the strayed sheep have also been brought back, and added to the number of our communicants.

The tribes who were in connexion with Heke during his lifetime are still living in an apostate condition. This is painful, as they form a considerable portion of the district. At present they manifest no desire to turn to the Lord. Our people are still living in peace; but at present there is much uneasiness and apprehension in the minds of the more thoughtful natives.

AUCKLAND.

Native Girls' School—Training College for Teachers.

The Rev. G. A. Kissling has continued in charge of St. Barnabas' church and native congregation. His native girls'-school, which for several years had been conducted with much success, has been brought to a close by the failure of a supply of pupils, in consequence of the unwillingness of parents at a distance to send their daughters to Auckland. The buildings have therefore been applied, at the bishop's suggestion, to the purposes of a training college for native candidates for holy orders, of which Mr. Kissling has the superintendence.

At the last examination of his female school by the government inspectors, a very favourable report was made of the school, which concludes with this remark—

No contrast can be more striking or more pleasing, than the appearance of these young women as compared with that of the girls in a native village; and one main object of this institution, that of educating and elevating in the social scale a class of young women who may become suitable wives for native teachers under training elsewhere, appears likely to be realized.

ROTORUA.

The Rev. T. Chapman's district has undergone during the last year great trials in the prevalence of severe sickness, the high prices of food in consequence of the demand from Australia, and the war between contending tribes at Tarawera; and he earnestly appeals against the hasty withdrawal of the Society's aid from New Zealand. He commences his review of the year's labours with these general remarks—

We enter upon the duties of another year in dependence upon the mercies of our covenant God, and with fewer "careful fears" than formerly. These are lessened, but not so our anxieties. Once it was by all means consistent with the word of God to "gather into the fold of Christ" the "bond and the free." We have, through God's assistance, so gathered them in; and now we have to "tend" them, in their various shades of character and circumstance; to be "instant in season, out of season; to reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine;" and, while exercising our ministerial duties, to mourn over many who, becoming lax, have little honoured their Christian profession, and to withhold from others, who have given themselves up to gross sins, "the right hand of fellowship." So, also, we had formerly our efforts mainly directed to the subduing the adult population: we are now sometimes almost forgetting the adults, in our contemplated crusade against the young; the fact being, that we see around us those who, as the future "church," should be, under God, her hope and stay, strangers to her ritual from neglect of her services, and ignorant of the privileges which, as those of Christ's church, they are called to enjoy. It is very sad that it should be so; but, as it was found in England, the population there outgrew the provisions for spiritual education, so here, the baptized children, in the space of the last seven years, have multiplied upon our hands, almost unprovided with any means of instruction, and we are confounded at the greatness and difficulty of that which lies before us.

A few encouraging instances of success are recorded in Mr. Chapman's journal. The following is an account of his visit to a distant station, Otamarora. After spending two days in examining the candidates for the Lord's supper and for baptism, he reports—

June 12: Sunday—I held morning service, having a very full chapel: about 250 present. I baptized 16 adults, and administered the Lord's-supper to 25. At the afternoon service I baptized 5 children. There was perfect quiet to-day throughout the whole pa. I could hope there is some improvement among this people. I remember a very different state of things here. Let us be thankful. We know that our blessed Master, though He trod the winepress alone, never doubted the victory. It is ours to labour—His to own and bless. May God's Holy Spirit work in us, and by us; and to the divine Trinity be all the praise!

At another station he describes a pleasant Sunday with the natives, "though annoyed by a party of Europeans who belonged to a whaler, and who tried to hire natives to pull in their boats: the natives refused to go out on the Sabbath, and the Europeans were compelled to desist."

WAIKATO.

The Rev. R. Maunsell mentions the following striking proof of the gratitude manifested by a party of the native converts—

I have collected for my chapel about 40*l.* amongst the natives: 23*l.* of this has come from the people of the Thames, who had been formerly under my ministerial care; and the cause of their present liberality will, I think, be interesting to you, as affording a proof that the natives are not, as some affirm, altogether without gratitude. In 1850 the people of the Thames had some quarrel with the government in the town of Auckland, and Sir George Grey, by a very prompt and decided movement, expelled them from it. I happened to be in the neighbourhood, and hastened to see them. I found the whole body—between 700 and 800—at a native village, much humbled, and anxious as to what steps they should adopt. They received my visit with profound delight. When the bell rang for prayers on the Monday morning, they formed themselves into two long masses in the open air, and, on my approach, all stood up—a token of respect not usual with New Zealanders. After prayers, we discussed the subject of their quarrel with the governor; when I showed them that they were wrong in taking arms to the town, and that the governor's duty was to remove armed bodies from the neighbourhood of the settlers and natives who came from different parts of the island to trade. The great question in debate now was, how they were to effect a reconciliation with his Excellency. Sir George refused to come to them, and their pride would not allow them to make such advances to him. At last it was agreed that I should go to the governor, and that some of their chiefs should accompany me. They were kindly received; speeches were made on both sides, presents exchanged, and a good understanding restored This circumstance I had nearly forgotten, when, last May, a native teacher of mine having occasion to visit some of his friends at the Thames, I gave him a little book in which to collect the names of subscribers to my chapel. Most unexpectedly to me, he brought back 23*l.* in cash, and reminded me that this was a token of their grateful recollection of the assistance that I had rendered to them upon the above occasion.*

KAITOTEHE.

Death of a Christian Chief.

The Rev. B. Ashwell transmits the following touching account of the happy Christian death of an old New-Zealand chief, in a letter dated June 14, 1853—

Wesley Te Pake was formerly the greatest native priest in the district. After his baptism, his son, a lad sixteen years of age, taught him to read. He was a steady believer, and was known among the other tribes as a peacemaker. As a speaker, few equalled him. Being an old chief, of some standing, he rendered me much assistance in my plans. When dangerously ill, I asked him what were his hopes for eternity. He replied, "Christ is my Saviour: His death is the utu (payment) for my sins." As his end approached, he called his tribe, and said, "Hold fast gospel principles. Be decided for Christ. Pray without ceasing. Hear what St. Paul says, 'If God be with us, who can be against us.'" Then, after remaining silent, when feeling for his book, for his sight was quite gone, he cried, "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and show us the light of His countenance, and be merciful unto us; that Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations." Then he fainted, and it was some time before he recovered; when he repeated a native hymn, and then, while uttering a prayer to Christ, his spirit took its flight, with the word "Saviour" upon his lips.

If the conversion of this celebrated chief and priest had been the only fruit of the Waikato Mission, our labour would not have been in vain; but, thank God, we have many instances to prove that the Review of this District.

Archdeacon William Williams returned to his station in August, after a visit to England. In his report, Dec. 31, 1853, he takes this review of the progress of the Mission from its first commencement—

As the country is daily undergoing great changes, it may be well, on this occasion, to take a general review of the progress of Christianity at this place, and of other alterations which have been incident upon it. The first visit paid by me from the Bay of Islands was in the year 1838; shortly after which a party of native teachers was located here; and at the beginning of 1840, when I came to reside permanently, the labours of the teachers had been so much blessed, that the body of the people were at once ranged on the side of Christianity. Much of this movement might be the effect of excitement. They heard the word gladly; but by-and-bye many were offended. And yet the falling away among professors was not so extensive as might have been anticipated. There was a relaxation of attention; but seldom did the people abandon the profession of Christianity, and very many who left us for a time returned again to a more steady and healthy profession of Christian principles. During an interval of fourteen years, besides the common trials to which new converts are subjected, there have been two causes at work which have put their Christian sincerity to the test. First, the arrival of a Popish priest among us, introduced by two chiefs of influence, who had taken umbrage at some of the proceedings of the Christian party, and who hoped thus to form a party peculiarly their own. For a time, all that were discontented, and all that were in disgrace, gathered round them, and the party seemed to assume some importance. But in a little while they dwindled away, and the priest withdrew for want of support. The second cause which has been at work is one that brings with it greater danger—it is worldly prosperity. The colonization of the country has had the effect of increasing trade; and the possession of property only increases the desire to possess more. They first cultivated wheat on my arrival among them in 1840; and now that the demand of the Auckland market has greatly increased, and prices have been raised to an exorbitant height by the supplies required for the Australian colonies, they are stimulated to bestow a great amount of attention upon agriculture. In many respects this is an advantage to them; but still they are exposed to much danger. Our effort must be so to influence them, if possible, that their prosperity may tend to their civilization; and that, while aiming at civilization, they do not lose their Christian simplicity. The introduction of the plough among them is clearly an advantage.

With an improvement in worldly prosperity, and a consequent desire after the things of this life, it is not a matter of surprise that there should be less attention paid by many to religion. In short, in many cases the seed is choked by "the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches." On my return I found a great falling-off in our congregation on the Sabbath-day, and most of the people had given up attendance at the Bible classes. These classes have been again revived, and very many have been present with regularity who state that they had never attended during my absence. This is a means of instruction which I think cannot be too much insisted on. To say nothing of the ignorance of the people, which needs line upon line, and precept upon precept, I have found, by long experience in this Mission, that it is the most powerful means of attaching the natives to their teacher in the closest bonds of affection, and that it gives him a moral influence among them which he would not otherwise possess.

During the month of December I was able to administer the Lord's-supper in the home district to 272 communicants. The whole number of communicants at Turanga during the year has been 391.

God has now raised up a church in this land, which was so lately a stronghold of Satan. It remains for us to endeavour to build up and establish it by perseverance in our work, and by carrying out such new measures as may be proposed.

THE WAIROA.

The Rev. J. Hamlin states, in his report of the Wairoa station for 1853—

The cultivation of the old field is now the great work. To eradicate old and long-confirmed habits and customs, to form the character anew, and to induce the natives to adopt habits of industry, honesty, and cleanliness, is a work of no ordinary kind, particularly in Hawkes' Bay, which has now become proverbial for wickedness: where are a number of whites, whose words and actions are in direct opposition to the gospel of Christ, and to the well-being of society; and some of them profess to be led by the principles of Tom Paine, which they fail not to instil into the minds of those by whom they are surrounded, when they have an opportunity.

I have continued to visit the natives at the various residences during the year, with considerable regularity, and am thankful to be able to report that there has been an increased attendance at the Bible and other classes this year.

Mr. Hamlin reports an instance of a New-Zealand chief, under circumstances of provocation, restraining himself, and choosing rather to suffer loss than to render evil for evil. A large party of natives were travelling to a distant settlement, and Mr. Hamlin accompanied them—

March 29, 1853—Leaving Tahaenui, we proceeded on, and reached Kopuawhara a little before dark, and, after the usual ceremonies of salutation were over, I had prayers with the whole, including the natives of the place. While here, we had a lamentable instance of the well-known fact, that any ill-disposed fellow can disturb the public peace for the most trivial circumstance. This has often been done in times that are gone by, and would now often occur but for the restraints the gospel puts upon them.

There had been a disturbance about a spot of deep water in a swamp in which eel pots are occasionally deposited, and sometimes a few eels are caught. The quarrel was between Ihaka Whanga and Tangihaere, the former the acknowledged chief of the place. Both had descended from the same parents some generations since; but Ihaka, or Isaac, belonging to the eldest branch of the family, had, according to native custom, a prior claim. Isaac exhibited the true spirit of Christianity in this, as he has upon all former occasions. Tangihaere exhibited the true spirit of a restless New Zealander: only a word, and he flies to arms, and is making ball and cartridge. Isaac restrained his party from imitating their example, and told them that arms and murder was not the way for a Christian to settle disputes: it was their duty to imitate the example of their Master, and to pray for their enemies and for those who were opposed to them. In six instances he had, for the sake of peace, given up his claim to places to which he had an undoubted right.*

Western District.

Archdeacon Hadfield gives the following account of his district during the year 1853—

Considerable improvement has taken place in the habits of the people: they have made great progress in civilization. I have been anxiously watching this change. It has lately been rather unduly accelerated by the high prices they receive both for their labour and their produce, arising out of the stimulus given to trade by the gold-diggings in the neighbouring colonies. On the whole, I am inclined to think that the result will be advantageous. I cannot but think that every thing which tends to raise them above their old native habits of life must be good in the main. Still, it is needful that they should be guarded and cautioned, lest their hearts should be drawn away from spiritual riches while occupied in amassing earthly goods. This, therefore, has been a new source of care to us.

* Some other extracts from Mr. Hamlin's journal are given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for August 1854, pp. 87—89; and Sept., pp. 105—108; and further accounts of the Eastern District are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for December 1853, pp. 286—290.

We are still able to report some additions during the year. Eighty-eight adults have been baptized. And it is satisfactory to observe, that whereas, in former years, males generally exceeded females in number, this number is now composed of 29 males and 59 females. This is highly satisfactory for several reasons; but chiefly because it is a proof that women are not now so degraded, nor kept in such a state of servitude, as they were in former years, but that they are interesting themselves more in Christianity, and may be expected ere long to occupy that position which is always afforded them wherever our holy religion produces any permanent impression. The holy communion has been periodically administered in the district at five different places, as in previous years. The number of communicants has not decreased. They seldom or never absent themselves without coming to inform us that something has occurred which would induce them to remain away, unless we should not consider it a sufficient reason for advising them to take such a step. By this means we keep up a constant communication with them.

Our school arrangements during the year have been very much forwarded, and in no former year have we had so much ground for believing that the good to be done by means of these would be so great and so cheering as it appears to be. Till lately, it was only by the greatest exertion that we could persuade the people that schools were of much use; but now our school seems highly appreciated, and all connected with it appear to be in good spirits. Certainly, the foundation of what may, with the divine blessing, become a valuable instrument for the evangelization of these people, seems to have been laid. Fruit is already visible: a great difference can be seen between those who have been under our care and those who have lived in their own abodes: we trust, also, that higher principles actuate many of them. Nothing, however, requires more attention than such a school as ours: any neglect may ruin it. We hope that another year may produce a great improvement in it. It is our prayer that the Divine blessing may be with us in this and all our other attempts to promote the glory of God among these people.

The Rev. R. Taylor writes from the Wanganui, Sept. 27, 1853—

This is a period of much deadness. The great impetus given to all kinds of trade by the Australian gold-fields has affected the natives as well as the Europeans of this country; and although a few remain stedfast, the multitude is drawn away. The natives are not assailed by fierce persecution, but with prosperity and peace. Their minds are engrossed with the subject of gain. But, after all, they are only passing through that ordeal which other races have gone through. In temporal matters they are advancing. The savage is gradually being converted into the civilized man, and acquiring right views on the ordinary affairs of life.

In his annual report at the end of the year, Mr. Taylor writes—

this has also been the case with those baptized, amongst whom were two of the principal chiefs of the western coast. Mamaku, one of them, commanded the hostile natives during the late war at the Hutt, and also at Wanganui: since that period he has lived very peaceably with his tribe on the upper Wanganui, and for many years has been a diligent reader of God's holy word, and, I trust, a sincere inquirer after the truth. The great obstacle to his being sooner baptized was his having three wives. The sudden removal of these, however, one after the other, caused Mamaku to view this dispensation as a clear indication of the Divine will, and he immediately presented himself as a candidate for baptism.

Mr. Taylor makes the following important remark upon the providential effect of the gold discoveries on the social condition of the New Zealanders—

It is pleasing to behold the rapidly-increasing importance of the native race, which even the tide of emigration now setting in to these shores will not diminish. They still continue to be the chief producers, and it is by them that the enlarged consumption of Australia is mainly supplied; nor is it probable that the European will be able to compete with them, from the extreme scarcity and dearness of labour. We must therefore regard this remarkable fact as being one of those grand bulwarks interposed by Providence against the exterminating influence of European colonization.*

POSTSCRIPT.

After this Report had been presented at the Anniversary Meeting, Sir George Grey, K.C.B., Governor of New Zealand, arrived in this country, and immediately put himself into communication with the Committee, and expressed his willingness to give the Society information respecting their Mission in New Zealand. A special meeting was therefore held, May 26, 1854, at which he attended, and gave much valuable and important information, the substance of which was embodied in the following Minute, which has been corrected by himself—

Sir George Grey stated that he had visited nearly every station of the Society, and could speak with confidence of the great and good work accomplished by it in New Zealand; that he believed that out of the native population, estimated by himself at nearly 100,000, there were not more than 1000 who did not make a profession of Christianity; that though he had heard doubts expressed about the Christian character of individuals, yet no one doubted the effect of Christianity upon the mass of the people, which had been evidenced in their social improvement, their friendly intercourse with Europeans, and their attendance upon divine worship; that there was in many places a readiness on the part of the natives to contribute one-tenth of the produce of their labour for the support of their Christian teachers, and to make liberal grants of land for the endowment of the schools; that some of the native teachers were, and many, by means of the schools, might be, qualified for acting as native pastors, if admitted to holy orders, and might be trusted, in such a position, to carry on the good work among their countrymen, and even to go out as native Missionaries to other islands of the Pacific; that the great want in the native church at present was a consolidation of the work, and its establishment upon a basis of self-support; that it was impossible for a single bishop to accomplish such a work, from the extent and geographical isolation of the different parts of the diocese; that he understood it was the opinion of the bishop that there should be four bishoprics in the Northern Island, in which opinion he concurred; that the most suitable persons to be appointed to the new sees were those he understood to have been recommended by the bishop, namely, three of the elder Missionaries of the Society, who had commenced the work, and brought it to its present state; that the appointment of these gentlemen would, he believed, give satisfaction; that he believed nothing could induce the Missionaries to desert the natives; that they would rather give up their salaries and throw themselves upon native resources; that they possessed the full confidence of the natives, and were thoroughly acquainted with their character: but that, if the Society were now wholly to withdraw from New Zealand, the work would, he believed, fall to pieces, and the Mission do an injury to Christianity; whereas, if the work should be consolidated and perfected, as he hoped, the conversion of New Zealand would become one of the most encouraging facts in the modern history of Christianity, and a pattern of the way in which it might be established in all other heathen countries.

General View—Testimony of the Bishop.

THE work of the Lord continues to prosper in these remote regions. The older stations, once the extreme points of Missionary enterprise in the land, have now become permanent centres of operation, from whence new efforts for the relief of the poor perishing Indian race† are being actively pushed forward in different directions. Our Missionaries are becoming more conversant with the Indian languages, and better fitted to hold intercourse with the people; and instruction in gospel truth is thus facilitated. The Spirit of the living God is blessing the means employed, and some are being brought in from heathenism, and others transferred to the better land above.

The bishop bears testimony to the devotedness and success with which the Missionaries are pursuing their labours. He has appointed two of them, Messrs. Cockran and Hunter, archdeacons, as a testimony of his sense of their valuable labours in laying the foundation of the native church in Ru-pert's Land. In his charge, just published, he thus announces the appointments—

To the one archdeaconry I have appointed and admitted, in your presence, the senior clergyman among us, as a small token of approval of the labours of more than a quarter of a century in this settlement, which in no little measure he has contributed to found. The honour has been well earned; for all that we now witness, and for which we thank God and take courage, is mainly, under God, the result of his years of toil, when there was little, comparatively, to cheer and animate.

To the other archdeaconry an absent brother will be appointed; and in his case—for the gifts of all are different—it is energy in carrying out translations into the native tongue, as well as practical wisdom in planting and conducting subordinate stations on the Saskatchewan, that I would wish to distinguish and reward.

The bishop has also admitted to holy orders two sons of the soil, familiar with the Indian language—Mr. R. M'Donald and Mr James Settee, the latter a pure Indian.

In his charge the bishop thus sums up the progress which has been made—

Our numbers steadily increase: they have quite fulfilled the most sanguine expectations which I could have formed of the proportion in which they would advance. Five was the number of God's ministering servants when I first came; ten was the number at my last visitation; and now we are in all fifteen. Nor would I at all rejoice in the mere addition to our little band, unless I felt convinced that more was being accomplished thereby; but this I cannot doubt. The Eskimos are, I trust, some of them, under instruction ere now: at all events the glad tidings are carried within their reach. With some of the Chepewyans I have myself held converse, asking for the ministrations of God's blessed word; while the Crees of the plains are not forgotten in their wanderings, but they, too, are sought out, and approached, if haply some of them might be saved.

GRAND RAPIDS.

The uncertainty of the Rev. R. James' return to Rupert's Land has kept the ministrations of this station in uncertainty, and occasioned frequent changes—a state of things which has been necessarily disadvantageous to the people. At the close of the year it was placed under the charge of Archdeacon Cockran.

Model School.

Mr. Kirkby has successfully organized the day-school, with a view to its becoming a model-school; and a beginning has been made of a class of trained masters. In a letter dated July 30 he thus speaks of the school—

All I can report is an outward change. That certainly has been effected. The children have made considerable progress in every thing that has been taught them. They are more respectful and courteous, and do not dislike order and discipline. I have had three young men in the school for some time now, preparing to become masters; and it gives me great pleasure to report, as well the progress they are making, as the just views they appear to have of the work in which they wish to be engaged.

Mr. Kirkby has also exerted himself to establish a course of lectures, which the Committee regard as an important addition to the general system of education.

March 11—I gave, this evening, the concluding lecture of a course which has been given to the young people. The bishop gave the first one, Feb. the 4th, on "God in Nature," which was followed, at his request, by one from me on "God in History." The Rev. W. Cockran gave the next, on "Political Economy." The next one was by the Rev. G. O. Corbett, on "The Reformation." The week following, one by the Rev. R. M'Donald on "Remarkable Death-beds." My own, to-night, was on "Education." Whether from the novelty of the thing, or from a felt interest in the lectures, I know not, but certainly they have been far better attended than we ever anticipated. The room was every evening crowded to excess: people came from almost every part of the settlement. Drs. Bunn and Cowan, and severa of the Company's officers, have been constant in their attendance; and this evening Mr. Thom, the recorder, was present. Several remained behind to thank me for my efforts in establishing the lectures, and to request their continuance; but as the days are now getting longer, and we expect the river to break up, which would make it impossible for them to attend, we have thought it better that they should terminate now, at least for this winter. I trust they will answer the end designed; that the young people will have gained and imbibed a taste for knowledge, which may tend to diminish the sin that exists among them for want of employment, and stimulate them to shake off that flimsy indefiniteness that there is about them, and cause them to be less common-place.*

INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

During the first three quarters of the year this station was under the care of Archdeacon Cockran, who presents the discouraging view of the Indian character, as well as its brighter traits, in a letter dated Aug. 1853—

They seem to carry with them the thoughtlessness of children to extreme old age. This is what forms the principal part of the burden of a Missionary's life amongst them.

I have no complaint against them as an irreligious, immoral people. They are regular in their attendance upon religious ordinances, and harmless in their conduct; but we cannot stir them up to act with prudence and economy for the welfare of themselves and families. We labour to put them in possession of property, that they may be comfortable and respectable; but they never learn to appreciate the value of it: they will part with it for any trifle which may please their fancy or indulge their vanity.

Forty-seven persons were confirmed by the bishop on Trinity Sunday. The greatest number who commemorated the death of our Lord and Saviour at the same time was 120. One Saulteaux family has been received into the church during the past year, and been baptized. Two of this family appear to have their hearts converted to God.*

Portage la Prairie.

Archdeacon Cockran describes a new settlement which has sprung up, and for the appointment of a Missionary to which he pleads.

In the spring of 1850 you authorised me, by the sanction of the Committee, to commence a station towards the west, to the south of Fairford. In the month of March I sent tobacco to the principal Indians who wandered over that quarter, to meet me at certain places in the month of May. In the beginning of this month I set out, with a certain party who were well acquainted with all the rivers and creeks which run into the Assiniboia. We travelled as far west as Beaver Creek, and found no suitable location beyond Portage la Prairie, about seventy-five miles west of the Red-River settlement. To this place we turned our attention, and determined here to plant a settlement.

In the winter of 1852-53 the settlement and school held together. At Christmas Mr. T. Cockran and Mr. Kirkby visited it;† in February, Mr. Corbett; and in March, Mr. Chapman. The Indians and settlers have therefore lived in the hope of soon seeing a Missionary placed among them, and they have prepared all the timber for a church and a grist mill.

I inclose their petition to the Committee of the Church Missionary Society,‡ believing that you will tenderly sympathize with them in their spiritual wants.

FAIRFORD, MANITOBA.

Trials at this Station.

The Rev. A. Cowley has been subject to very severe trials at this station. A devastating flood overwhelmed his house and farm, and made it necessary to choose another site on higher ground, about four miles distant, where he has a second time to undertake the labour of building houses and bringing a forest into cultivation. In the latter part of the year he was joined by Mr. Stagg, an European catechist, and his wife. But another trial soon overtook the Mission. A fire broke out in one of the Mission houses, occupied by Mr. Stagg, which was consumed, with all his property. Thus, as it was with the great apostle of the Gentiles, the Missionary is often appointed to endure temporal perils and trials, in addition to those which attend his office.

In a letter dated July 9, 1853, Mr. Cowley reports—

During the past winter my congregation has been divided, some attending here and some below. They conduct themselves, upon the whole, quite as well as any one knowing their circumstances and previous habits could expect. The heathen who happen to be present usually attend divine service on Lord's-days, but they are less careful to attend our daily evening lecture in the schoolroom. We seize the opportunities of their visits to converse with them privately for the benefit of their souls, and one from their rank has been added to the church by baptism since I last wrote to you. We call him Henry Sumner: he is a nephew of John, and grandson of Hannah Sumner, and a fine and respectable-looking young man. This seems a particular case of God's electing love: he was the first of the family, having left, for Christ's sake, father and mother and all his brothers, in heathenism. To God be all the praise! The number of communicants is sixteen.

Our school was well fed by the providence of God till winter, and continues still together, though it costs much labour and anxiety to supply their daily wants. There are at present forty-five names upon the books; viz. twenty-four boys and twenty-one girls, day scholars: most of them are fed and clothed at the Society's expense. There are also ten male and four female adult Sunday scholars additional. They are getting on with their learning much as usual, and many of them are pretty well versed in scripture truth.

The Rev. C. Hillyer visited the station in July 1853, and writes respecting it—

It was a sad sight to see the little village so dismantled by the inundation of the winter; but a new one is fast springing into existence at the Upper River. I spent four days there, and was much refreshed in spirit by joining in their worship of God, and in testifying of His goodness to myself since I last saw them.

"Sweet it was to mingle where Christians met for social prayer."

I was much pleased with the school, which I examined one morning: there seemed a marked improvement in order, regularity, and knowledge. John M'Kay, Mr. Cowley's interpreter and schoolmaster, seem deeply interested in his work, for its own sake. O that many may be raised up, who shall be able to teach others from the same motives!

At the close of the year it was found necessary to remove Mr. Cowley to the care of the Indian Settlement, and to leave Mr. Stagg in charge of Fairford.*

FORT PELLY.

The Rev. C. Hillyer has remained in charge of this station, with the assistance of the native teacher, Mr. Pratt. All the inconveniences and trials of a new station in these inhospitable regions have been experienced by Mr. Hillyer, and have been met in the spirit of faith and patience; but as yet he has very few encouragements to report.†

CUMBERLAND STATION.

Visit from the Bishop.

This station was, thirteen years ago, the extreme point of Missionary labour in North-West America. It has now become the centre of the stations to the north-west of Lake Winnipeg, and of which, in addition to Cumberland, the following may be enumerated—Moose Lake, the Nepowewin, and English River, to which last-mentioned place Mr. Hunt's station has been transferred from Lac la Ronge. Two of these stations, Cumberland and English River, were visited by the Bishop of Rupert's Land in the summer of last year. In a letter dated Cumberland, August 3, 1853, the Bishop writes—

The labour and toil are now over at this station. All is fixed and settled, and, in great measure, parochial. It was my happy privilege to admit Mr. Budd to Priests' orders on July the 10th, in the church here, on which occasion I preached from the words, "We do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God"—Acts ii. 11. I am much pleased with Mr. Budd. He more than justifies all my expectations; and I am sure the Committee will peruse with much pleasure his journal, which is compiled with very considerable discretion and sound sense.‡ I have confidence in him for the charge of the Nepowewin station, and, from lengthened conversations with him, have full hope that the Indians will gather around the spot, and that it will become a strong centre of operation.

Archdeacon Hunter's Report for the year ending July 31, 1853.

It is with feelings of lively gratitude to the great Head of the church that I again present you with my annual report of the state and prospects of the Mission placed under my superintendence. It is my pleasing task now to report that this station is completed and organized; the church, school-house, and mission-house, have been finished some time; the population around are converted, baptized, and 162 confirmed. Mr. Budd, a native, is now in full orders: he is well qualified for the office of a preacher of the blessed gospel among his countrymen, and is active and zealous in the work. His two sons, Henry and John Work West, educated in the mission-school here, are about to be prepared to follow in the steps of their father, and become native preachers to their countrymen. I am also preparing Peter Erasmus, my schoolmaster, for the same work. Indeed, I hope to supply from this Mission five, if not more, native pastors for the work of the ministry. The language is now reduced to writing, and the translation of the Prayer-book finished, and waiting to be printed. All the services are conducted in the Cree language, and I am now able to preach and pray extempore in the native tongue. During the nine years I have been engaged in the above labours, it has been my privilege to baptize more than 600 natives, and to commence and carry on three branch stations, viz. Lac la Ronge, Moose Lake, and the Nepowewin, of which the two latter still continue under my superintendence. From thirty to forty houses have been built by the Indians around this station, who have now land under cultivation, and also cattle and horses. Our church is well filled every Lord's-day, and we have an average attendance of seventy children in the school. The work at this station now assumes the character of regular pastoral duties. The sound of the heathen drum here has now ceased, and the gospel of peace and love is heard in its place.

In temporal and spiritual things there is advancement and improvement from year to year. The gospel has now taken firm root in the land, and in a very few years the work will be carried on principally by native agents. In my own district I hope I am raising up a native agency that will carry the gospel far and wide; and as they are acquainted with the habits and language of the Indians, and are accustomed to the privations and hardships incidental to the country, they are the best qualified to be employed as agents for the conversion of the Indians.

Archd. Hunter thus notices, at the close of the year 1852, the baptism of the last heathen at his station—

Adam Buck has lately associated very much with the Indian Christians, and joined them in their morning and evening devotions; and, when about the Mission, he has been regular in his attendance at church. I hope, therefore, and have little doubt, that the change is from conviction of the truth of Christianity, and from a desire to secure the salvation of his soul. He was the last of the Indians who kept up the sound of the heathen drum about the Mission, and I often despaired of his becoming a Christian. But what appears impossible with us is easy to Him who holds the hearts of all men in His keeping, and can turn them as it seemeth best to His divine mind. The Sabbath is now a pleasure and a delight, and it is truly refreshing to see the crowd of Indians flocking up to the house of God. It was not so formerly. It is God who has effected this blessed change: to Him, therefore, let us ascribe all the praise.

Archd. Hunter thus reports his complete mastery of the Cree language—

March 13: Lord's-day—Since the commencement of the new year I have dispensed with the use of a manuscript in my lectures and sermons in Cree to the Indians, both on week-days and the Lord's-day; and I feel truly thankful that I am now able to preach to them extempore, in their own tongue, the blessed truths of salvation with ease and comfort to myself, and with profit to my people. They often express their gratitude that they hear daily in their own language the blessed truths of the gospel, while so many of their countrymen are still in ignorance and darkness. Our constant prayer for them is, that they may not only hear and understand the gospel, but that they may also practise its holy precepts, and adorn their profession by a holy and consistent life.

Christmas Services.

In a letter dated Jan. 6, 1854, Archd. Hunter thus describes the services at the close of the year—

I was much engaged preparing for the services here on Christmas-day: during the week the Indians were coming in from all quarters to receive the Lord's-supper on that day. I had a great number of candidates for the communion. After careful examination and instruction, I admitted thirteen new communicants. At our usual evening prayer-meetings during the week, the school-room was crowded, and my addresses were specially directed to the Lord's-supper, warning and encouraging them to come to that holy ordinance, pointing out the importance of the rite, and at the same time the necessity of examination and preparation for its due reception. I trust they felt their own sinfulness and unworthiness, and came in simple dependence upon the Saviour, looking to Him for pardon and acceptance, and earnestly praying to be strengthened and refreshed with divine grace from on high. I have often had occasion to notice that they come long distances to attend the Lord's table: they think nothing of a fatiguing journey of more than 100 miles in snow shoes to be present on these highly-prized occasions.

I preached from Matt. i. 21, and then administered the Lord's-supper to 100 communicants, being the largest number which have communicated here: they filled the rails six times. Both men and women were very neatly attired, and many of them received the elements with tears and trembling. On the hands of several, as they were stretched out to receive the emblems, I noticed the marks which they had received when in a state of heathenism; but, blessed be God! they have been brought "from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God." May they be sealed by the Spirit, as the servants of the living God, and, in the day of the Saviour, be found among that "great multitude, which no man can number," which shall be "clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands!"

The Moose-Lake Out-station.

Of this branch Archd. Hunter makes the following report—

John Umfreville is the catechist, and Philip M'Donald the schoolmaster. I have visited this station twice during the year. At my last visit I baptized a whole family, and also administered the Lord's-supper to nineteen communicants, including those who accompanied me from my station. We now possess a good schoolroom at Moose Lake, and all the necessary buildings for conducting the work of the station. John Umfreville is very active and zealous, and lectures and prays with great ease and fluency in the native language. I hope to see him one day become a native pastor to his countrymen: he has quite a Missionary spirit, and is very anxious for the conversion of the Indians.

At a later date he reports—

I have made a winter journey to Moose Lake. The work is evidently progressing, and God is graciously disposing the hearts of the Indians to receive the gospel of His dear Son.*

THE NEPOWEWIN.

Occupation of this Station—Mr. Budd's admission to Priests' Orders.

According to the statement in the last Report, the native minister, the Rev. H. Budd, commenced this station in August 1852. Thirteen years before, he had in the same way been sent from the Red River to commence the station of Cumberland. His journal presents a graphic and interesting account of the first trials of a new station. In August 1853 he attended the visitation of the bishop at Cumberland, to be admitted to Priests' orders. He thus describes his feelings on that occasion—

I felt deeply humbled when about to take upon me the still greater responsibility in the ministry. The most solemn vows that man can make to God on earth are now upon me: still greater expectations are raised with regard to my usefulness in this land. The Society in England will expect more from me, the eyes of all the clergy in this country will be upon me, and the eyes of my countrymen are daily upon me. If I do not act worthily, not only of the Christian name, but of that of a minister of the gospel of Christ, shall I not greatly disappoint the expectation of all my brethren in the ministry, and wound the feelings of all my Christian friends and countrymen? These thoughts, and a thousand more, occupied my mind when about to take the vows of God upon me. And oh! "who is sufficient for these things?" Were it not for that promise of our blessed Saviour, "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world," I should have sunk under the weight. I most earnestly beg an interest in the prayers of our beloved Society and Committee in England, of all my dear brethren in this country, and of all my Christian friends and countrymen, that I may be "faithful unto death," and at last receive the "crown of life."

* Further accounts of the Cumberland and Moose-Lake stations are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for Jan. 1854, pp. 13—21; and in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for April 1854, pp. 45—48; and June, pp. 69—72.

Prospects.

Archd. Hunter writes in his report, July 31, 1853—

I have great hopes of this station: it is in the vicinity of the Plains, and often visited by the Plain Indians: it may therefore become instrumental, in coming years, in carrying the blessed tidings of salvation among the thousands of Indians scattered over the Plains, and be one step in advance towards our approach to the Rocky Mountains. Several stages lie yet before us ere we reach that goal, viz. Carlton, Fort Pitt, Edmonton, and Rocky-Mountain House, all posts occupied by the Hudson's-Bay Company, and visited by large parties of Plain Indians. I hope yet to see stations established at these posts, and the gospel proclaimed among the surrounding tribes of Indians. Lord, hasten Thine own work in this land, and dispose the hearts of the Indians that they may "receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save their souls!" *

ENGLISH RIVER.

General View—Trials and Encouragements.

The locality of Lac-la-Ronge having been found unsuitable for a permanent Missionary station, the Rev. R. Hunt has removed to a place which he has called Church Missionary Point, on the banks of the Missinipi or English River. It is fifty miles further north than Lac-la-Ronge, and has the advantage of bringing Mr. Hunt into more immediate communication with the Chepewyans who inhabit the country north of the English River. Many of these people have been with Mr. Hunt. Although no Cree connected with the station knows the Chepewyan, yet it providentially happens that many of the Chepewyans know the Cree language. This has afforded Mr. Hunt the opportunity of instructing them in the truths of the gospel. Several of them have learnt the Cree syllabic character, and, on returning to their homes, took with them copies of St. John's Gospel in that character, which they can now use for themselves, and for others also. One Chepewyan lad has been resident at the station; and Mr. Hunt has taken advantage of this circumstance to apply himself to the language of this people, which is far more difficult than the Cree.

* Further accounts of the Nepowewin are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for Jan. 1854, p. 19, and the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for April, May, and June 1854, already referred to.

In this change of station, however, much privation and suffering have been endured by Mr. and Mrs. Hunt. So much work had to be done, and so slow are the Indians in the help they give, that the 6th of December had arrived, and Mr. Hunt's log house was far from being finished. "It is very, very cold," writes the Missionary, under that date, "but we still, of necessity, live and sleep in our calico tent, of course without a fire in it. I could not believe it possible to live in such cold comfort. During the night the tent, and even the upper blankets, become stiff with frozen vapour. Our family servants are exposed in their tents in a like way." On the 21st of that month they moved into the enclosed space, which was called a room, but having no ceiling, and one of its walls a blanket. There is, therefore, frequent mention of indisposition—in his own case at one time of considerable severity—on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt. It is with much thankfulness, however, that the Committee record that both have been brought through so trying a winter without any permanent injury to their health.

To insufficient protection against the winter's cold is to be added insufficiency of food. The fur-trading posts and Mission stations throughout Rupert's Land are mainly dependent, during the winter season, on the supplies yielded by the fisheries, more especially at a new station, where no time has yet been afforded to bring the land under cultivation.

In the midst of these difficulties Mr. Hunt has had the satisfaction of tracing a gradual improvement in character of the poor Indians under his care. So deep is the degradation to which they have sunk, that to raise them out of it is a work of great difficulty, and can be effected only through the instrumentality of that gospel which "is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Even then the improvement is slow, and discouraging circumstances, such as the breaking out of old habits, not unfrequently occur. But it is going forward. "They are much changed," says Mr. Hunt, "in some respects for the better; and I sometimes believe they are certainly thankful to God 'for His unspeakable gift:' and thus they appear to have the principle of amelioration within them, which will live and grow till it bring forth all the fruits of the Spirit. Meanwhile, may we be prayerful, patient, and persevering!" The circumstances under which their daily food is supplied to them through the long winter seems peculiarly fitted to convince our Missionary and his Christian partner how necessary are these three requisites—prayer, patience, perseverance. Mr. Hunt transfers the lesson which has been conveyed to him in temporal things to his spiritual work. He says—

Our removal to this side of Lac-la-Ronge is a providential one; and we hope and pray that, both with respect to the success of our efforts to draw both Crees and Chepewyans into the gospel net, and with respect to such a supply of fish as is necessary for our daily bread, He that once said to His discouraged disciples, "Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find," will vouchsafe to us such success, and by such means, as shall most magnify His holy name, so that all men may see and acknowledge that it is the Lord.

Visit of the Bishop.

The bishop makes this report of the station, after his visitation in August 1853—

With Mr. Hunt I saw the labours and toils of an infant station—that which Mr. Cockran endured at the Red River, and Mr. Hunter at this spot [Cumberland]. His labours, and those of his admirable wife, are beyond all praise. They are engaged in the work "in season, out of season." My chief fear is for their health, and lest they should overtax their strength. Mr. Settee has come in with me, with a view to some training at the Red River, as in the case of Mr. Budd. I was willing to have ordained him deacon above, and left him in deacons' orders for two years, labouring in the English River; but he felt that his mental powers required sharpening. Mrs. Hunt will now take the entire charge of the school. I thought it might be too much for her, but she says it is her delight, and quite a refreshment to her. I would only say that the school is in excellent order. The Sunday-school I saw, with forty-two children. It had quite an English aspect. The seventeen senior pupils repeated the first chapter of St. John in English almost without missing a word, and then they commenced the same in Cree. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt can now speak the language with facility in their intercourse with the natives.*

* Further accounts of the English-River station are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for Feb. 1854, pp. 40—45; and the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for May 1854, pp. 50—52, and 56—58.

MOOSE FORT, JAMES' BAY.

Encouraging Progress.

The last Report recorded the first year's labours of the Rev. J. Horden at this station, and his admission to holy orders by the bishop upon his visit to the place. A second year has exhibited a most encouraging progress of the work. In his report, Aug. 31, 1853, Mr. Horden thus describes the nature and extent of his employments—

Moose engages my chief attention. Here two congregations are under my care, an English and a native. My European charge consists of the gentlemen connected with the Hudson's-Bay Company, and several European servants. But the Indian is my principal charge, and here I find the greatest degree of encouragement. During the summer months, every Sunday morning at seven o'clock our little church is well filled with attentive worshippers, who appear deeply impressed with the words of our beautiful liturgy, but I think most particularly the Litany: every response is uttered in a solemn manner, and the general appearance conveys to the beholder the idea of a serious, praying people. . . . Besides this, they assemble in the church on every day of the week except Saturday. Wednesday evening is devoted to a prayer-meeting, at which several of the men offer up prayers according to their capacities. Some of them express themselves well, and in a very comprehensive manner. I enjoy these meetings very much, being then able to learn the bent of their minds, and to notice well the meaning of the terms employed. The other evenings are devoted to scriptural instruction. School is held in the church every Sunday afternoon, directly after dinner.

Our communions are times of the deepest pleasure, and in preparing for them I feel assured that a conflict is carried on within the hearts of many of the recipients, and that their eternal welfare is most deeply considered. I always devote the week previous to the celebration to the full instruction of them in their duties, consequent on their thus acknowledging before their brethren their firm allegiance to the crucified Saviour. The number of communicants is now sixty-four, all natives, with the exception of five.

Power of God's word.

One striking incident may be selected of the power of God's word over the hearts of the people.

April 7—I visited Wemistakos and his wife, when I asked them whether they frequently thought of Christ's great love in dying for His people. To this they replied, "Certainly we do: it is what we are frequently thinking of and talking about." While sitting in their tent, I heard Mark, who was in another tent, reading aloud a part of the gospel by St. Matthew. He had been at my house writing during the greater part of the day, and had requested permission to take home the first five chapters, which I had written in the syllabic characters. He was now reading them to his wife and two or three other women in the tent, who were listening most attentively. Having left Wemistakos's tent, I went and sat with them, and explained to them those parts they were unable to understand. "When Thy word goeth forth, it giveth light and understanding unto the simple." Ps. cxix. 130. Such was evidently the case in this instance: this was the first time Mark had had the word of God to read to his family; the true and heavenly wisdom was filling his soul; and I believe that he and those who were sitting with him might use the words of the Psalmist, and say, Thy word "is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver." Happy am I at present to see the pleasure with which the word of God is received: how much happier shall I be, should I be spared to see all my people in possession of the whole of the revealed will of our heavenly Father!

The Syllabic system of Writing.

On this subject Mr. Horden writes—

Having now had a good trial of the syllabic system, I cannot but consider it as one of the most effective means ever adopted to instruct these children of the forest.* Their time at the several posts throughout the country is very short, and little could be done if the old way of spelling were adopted; but with this the Indian, if there be much intelligence in him, may become acquainted in a few days. He is raised more than a single step; he rejoices in his new acquirement; after a few attempts he finds himself able to communicate with his friends at a distance by letter, if they, too, have been favoured in a similar manner; on joining his companions in the forest or the plain, he commences to instruct them; but what is better than all, he can take from his bosom his little book, and, while they gaze with wonder, can read, so as they are able to understand, of the unspeakable riches of redeeming love.

The translations comprise the Morning and Evening Prayer, the Litany, the first ten chapters of St. Matthew's Gospel, some hymns, a small catechism, and some of the gospels attached to the Collects. Before printing, I shall carefully examine the Morning and Evening Prayer, but think that very few words will be altered.

Out-stations.

There are four out-stations at which native teachers are placed, under the superintendence of Mr. Horden, who visits them occasionally himself. Their distances from Moose Fort will give some idea of the vast extent of the field, though the inhabitants are sparingly scattered over it. 1. Hannah Bay, 50 miles east; 2. Rupert's House, 100 miles east; 3. Albany, 100 miles north; 4. Kinoogoomisse, 250 miles south.

---

* On this subject see "American Languages," in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for March 1854, pp. 67—72.

In April 1853 Mr. Horden visited Hannah Bay and Rupert's House, at which latter place he was detained by the weather till the 6th of June. The following are extracts from his journal while at that post—

April 15—I have found a tolerably large number of Indians desirous of being instructed, and who would have departed on the morrow had I not arrived, but now intend to remain two or three days, that they may be instructed in the knowledge of God. This commencement is certainly encouraging.

April 21—I find that great patience is required in teaching some of the Indians to read; for, while a few have nearly acquired the characters, several of them, though practised in it for several hours a day, make but little progress. But their patience is quite equal to mine, for they employ themselves in endeavouring to read, even when I am not with them.

May 8: Lord's-day—I was much gratified this evening, on leaving the house for a short time. The wind was blowing coldly from the north, the twilight had scarcely given way to night, when the noise of singing attracted my attention. It proceeded from a tent not far distant, in which were a widow, with her son and daughter. They were singing, in their own tongue, "Lo, He comes," &c. I listened until they had finished, and then heard the language of prayer proceeding from the lips of the son, who appeared to be the leader of the family devotions.

May 14—During the week several Indians have come in, with whom I have been exceedingly well pleased. I had seen the whole of them before, and given them reading books; but I expected that, as they could read but very imperfectly, they would forget a great part of what they had learnt. I was, however, agreeably deceived, as, by the system of mutual instruction, several of them had much improved. Their stay was short, but well improved.

Of the other two out-stations Mr. Horden reports—

Albany, 100 miles north of Moose, is, as is known, the stronghold of Romanism; but my flock numbers nearly a hundred, many of whom are very intelligent. Isaac Hardisty, who was appointed by our beloved bishop to instruct his brethren as far as possible, has performed his duty admirably, much better than I could have expected. His conduct while the priest was there, before my arrival, was firm and Christian-like. He assembled the Indians morning and evening for prayer and praise, and then read to them such portions of Scripture as I had transmitted to him. When spoken to by the priest, his manner was respectful but determined, the first words spoken by him being, "As we are going to speak together, let it be done quietly: you shall say what you think proper, and I will do the same." I have cause for great thankfulness that God has given me such an assistant. Communicants ten, one of whom is an European.

Kinoogoomisse is 250 miles south of Moose. I have never visited this post, but hope to do so next summer. The Indians, on their arrival at Moose this summer, earnestly desired me to accompany them back. They would scarcely take "No" for an answer, saying, "What are our wives and children to do?" But I may say, "What can I do?" May God enable me to fulfil my intention, that I may be enabled to instruct all in the truths of Christianity. Some of these Indians are really good characters, eager to be instructed, and are highly spoken of by the person in charge of the post. I cannot, however, say this of all.*

FORT GEORGE, BIG RIVER, JAMES' BAY.

Difficulties of this Station—Visit to Moose Fort.

The last Report stated the appointment of the Rev. E. A. Watkins to commence a Mission at Fort George, which is situated on the east coast of James' Bay. The station was selected by the bishop as the most advanced post towards the Eskimos, and as one frequently visited by those tribes. The Indians and Eskimos are, however, so few, and the means of livelihood so scanty, that it is doubtful whether our Mission here can be maintained. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins suffered many severe privations during the winter, and their circumstances present a strong claim upon the prayers and sympathy of Christians at home. The chief encouragement arises from the eagerness of the poor Indians to profit by the instruction afforded to them, and the readiness with which they communicate the little knowledge which they have attained to those of their countrymen who are in a still more destitute condition than themselves.

Mr. Watkins was able to visit Moose Fort in the summer, but as the journey occupied sixteen days each way, the time of his stay at the Fort was necessarily limited to a few days. The Sunday spent with his fellow-labourer is thus noticed in Mr. Horden's journal—

Aug. 28: Lord's-day—This has been a day of great spiritual joy. I took the early Indian service: Mr. Watkins preached an excellent sermon on electing grace at the English service, assisted me in the school, and preached an appropriate sermon to the Indians in the afternoon. What gave me the greatest pleasure was the sight of so many Indians congregated together from so many different parts. We had some from Albany, Rupert's House, Hannah Bay, Big River, and one Eskimo from Whale River. What a delightful sight! What pleasing emotions filled the mind at the prospect! "All nations shall do Him service." Although not altogether different nations, speaking as they did, with the exception of the Eskimo, dialects of the same language, yet their intercourse with each other is very limited, seldom even seeing each other; and now to behold them kneeling together, to hear them praise God together, and to observe the interest evinced by all at the hearing of the word, was sufficient to cheer the hearts of their pastors, and to excite them to pursue their labours with redoubled activity.

In a letter at the close of the year—Dec. 19, 1853—Mr. Watkins still complains of the difficulty in maintaining the station, arising from the very scanty supply of provisions, either in fish or game. Hence he has been prevented from collecting together a school; whilst two or three adults employed by him as interpreters, or receiving Christian instruction, have been obliged to devote the greater part of their time to hunting and fishing.

The Eskimos.

A few of the Eskimos have visited the station, among whom Mr. Watkins has distributed portions of the Scripture; and one Eskimo youth, named Peter, who has resided under his care, has learned English, and appears to be daily improving in point of disposition and religious feeling.

Study of the Vernacular.

With respect to the study of the languages Mr. Watkins writes—

I have continued my daily study of the Cree and Eskimo languages as far as other engagements would permit; and, though my advance is not so rapid as I wish, yet I feel that I am decidedly gaining ground. I can now hold a little intercourse with the Indians without an interpreter, though at present it is with a stammering tongue. I compose short sermons in Cree with the help of the interpreter, and afterwards read them to my small flock. The first was just within the twelve months after my arrival here. I have adopted the plan of having evening family prayers here three times a-week, on which occasions all the Indians attend who happen to be at the Fort. This plan is very valuable, not only as affording an opportunity of instructing these poor creatures, but also as tending to facilitate my knowledge of their language, as I give a little exposition of the passage of Scripture which is read.*

CONCLUSION.

The one concluding topic on which the Committee will dwell, is the urgency of the present opportunity, whether we look at home or abroad.

At home, we are entering upon a war in which elements of destruction are mustering by sea and land, in fearful array; and in which tremendous risks hang over us, not depending upon ourselves, but upon other kingdoms, and apparently upon single lives in those kingdoms. It is an occurrence to be marked, that, in the week preceding these great Annual Festivals, a day should have been appointed by proclamation "for General Humiliation and Prayer before Almighty God." We meet under the solemn impressions of that day. Our most sanguine hopes of success must not blind us to the duty of humbling ourselves before God, and seizing the present opportunity.

If we look abroad, the prospect on every side prompts us to immediate action.

In Western Africa, the strong arm of naval power keeps in check the bloodhounds, but they are still baying at their victims. The late Commander-in-Chief, in one of his published despatches, declares that the slave-trade may be suppressed by the naval force for a century, but that it will break out again in a week, if no effectual remedy be applied to the root of the evil.

In Turkey, though the time of public commotions appears unsuitable to the quiet preaching of the gospel, yet it is written, "When Thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." It was proved in Italy, that even in such times the Bible is received where the preacher's voice cannot reach. So that there is work to be done even "in troublous times:" let us therefore work while the land is open to us. And if, as we devoutly hope, the lawful course of government be restored, to whom will the subjects of Turkey look for guidance, so surely as to those who have stood by them as their friends in the hour of struggling and suffering? If a man should fall among thieves, and be robbed and wounded by them, to whom would he listen after his recovery? To the Priest and Levite, who passed by on the other side? or to the good Samaritan, who bound up his wounds, and poured in wine and oil?

In China, the opportunity speaks for itself: the Committee will add nothing to what has been already said.

In the Punjab, the opportunity is no less urgent. The Sikh religion is crumbling away—men's minds are released from its spell—some pass over to Hinduism, and some to Mahommedanism, and some, as the Report testifies, to Christianity, wherever the Christian Missionary is at hand.

But to take advantage of these opportunities MEN are wanted. They have been appealed for this day in the fervid language of Missionary Bishops, of toiling Missionaries, of the civil functionaries of India, and of the soldiers who have won provinces by the sword of war, and now plead with the church of Christ to unsheath the sword of the Spirit, and to achieve a second, a holier, and a surer conquest. And the supply adequate to the crisis must be looked for from the Universities and from the Clergy. The Society's Institution at Islington can train men. But while our Candidates are training, the golden opportunity may slip away. If this year is to see twenty men sent to China, and ten to the Punjab, men ready-prepared are needed. The Committee entertain good hope that such a supply might be obtained. They thankfully record the fact, that the number of Candidates from our Universities has very largely increased. From twenty to twenty-five years ago, only one out of 25 of the English Missionaries sent out during that period was from our Universities; the rest were trained at Islington: from fifteen to twenty years ago, the proportion had risen to one-fourth of the whole number sent out: from ten to fifteen years ago, it was one-third: from five to ten years ago, it was one-half: and during the last five years, the number of men from the Universities has greatly exceeded the number which our Islington Institution has supplied.

The circumstances of the times also encourage the hope that the men will be found. Military ardour is working in the breasts of thousands. How light the dangers of the sea and the battle appear! How willingly parents part with their sons to join the expeditionary force! Men who cannot obtain the Queen's commission still resort to the scene of action as volunteers, in hope of employment. "Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown:" shall the children of light hesitate and shrink back, and yield to the soft remonstrances of friends, when the commission of the King of kings is in their hands—"Go ye unto all nations, and preach the gospel?"

But though the vast majority of this meeting are not able to go forth to the work, yet are they not without responsibility before God, in respect of the deficient supply of Missionaries. The Committee are deeply convinced that the fault lies in the bosom of the Church. Missionary zeal will never rise above the level of spiritual religion in the congregation. A few noble spirits, like Joshua and Caleb, may be in advance of their day and generation; but unless the Missionary zeal be spread more widely, the promised land cannot be possessed. There will be no such large efforts as the times require, and no such large success upon Missionary labours as the Lord waits to bestow, till the standard of spirituality is raised at home. All are therefore involved in the guilt of leaving the heathen world to perish for lack of preachers. If all of us now assembled in this great meeting—clergy and laity, male and female, young and old—were to return to our respective spheres, with our spirits stirred within us to more of self-denial and love to the Saviour, which are the germ of the Missionary character, and to increased prayer and effort for a supply of Missionary labourers, the result would be soon apparent; and as the opportunity is urgent, and as with the Lord there is no limitation of time, even in a few months an army of Missionaries might be ready to embark. He still lives and is amongst us, who, in answer to the prayers of His Church, sent out through Judea the first twelve Missionaries; and within a year sent out seventy others through Judea, Samaria, and Galilee; and then within two years more sent out a vast multitude, who "went everywhere preaching the word." "Ye that are the Lord's remembrancers, keep not silence, and give Him no rest, till He establish, and till He make Jerusalem a praise in the earth." (Isaiah lxii. 6, 7. Marginal Reading.)

APPENDIX.

WHEREAS certain clergymen have addressed a Memorial to the Oriental Patriarchs and Synods, in which the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem is accused of having exceeded the proper objects of his mission, and of introducing schism into the Eastern Churches:

And whereas some of the names affixed to the said document are the names of persons who hold official stations in the United Church of England and Ireland, and it might be supposed, at least in foreign parts, that a censure of the Bishop, as having acted without due authority from his Church, would not be made by persons who were themselves acting without such authority:

Therefore we, the Metropolitans of the United Church of England and Ireland, deem it expedient to make this public declaration that the said Memorial does not in any manner emanate from the said Church, or from persons authorised by that Church to pronounce decisions.

We are induced to take this step, first, in order to guard against the danger which might arise to our own Church from the example of the irregular and unauthorised proceedings of the Memorialists; and further, because we sympathise with our brother, the Anglican Bishop in Jerusalem, in his arduous position, and feel assured that his conduct, under the circumstances in which he is placed, will be guided by sound judgment and discretion.
